R-100 DEPARTS FOR BRITAIN ON RETURN FLIGHT

Hopes to Reach Goal 48 Hours After Take-Off From Montreal.

ONE MOTOR INACTIVE AS SEA TRIP STARTS

Throngs Bid Bon Voyage to Air Giant; Good Weather Seen.

13TH IS DATE, WHILE 13 ARE PASSENGERS

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Great Britain's monarch of the airways, the dirigible R-100, soared away from her mooring mast at 8:38 tonight (Eastern standard time), bound for England on her return crossing of the Atlantic.

Squadron Leader Booth was in command and a party of fifteen newspapermen and Canadian technical officers were aboard, in addition to the ship's complement of 44 officers and men. Peering downward, the passengers saw in huge letters of gold illumined by floodlights, the words, "Bon Voyage, R-100—Canada."

In spite of the fact that only five of the six motors were in action, the officers expected favorable tail winds to aid them in achieving their second record for the ocean flight. They expected to make the return trip in 48 hours, tying up at the Cardington mooring mast Saturday morning.

Throngs Bid Farewell.

The huge airship pointed her nose down the St. Lawrence River and was scheduled to branch off over Gaspe, cruise across the Gulf of St. Lawrence and leave the North American coast at Cape Race.

Government meteorological experts predicted excellent weather for the flight. They pointed to clouds along the St. Lawrence tonight, but promised good visibility. Atmospheric conditions were generally favorable over the gulf and halfway across the Atlantic, they said.

The airport was thronged with those who came by train, automobile and on foot to bid the R-100 farewell. A dense crowd stood at the foot of the mooring mast and lifted their cheers as the ship departed. Engineers made their final check of the motors, white-coated stewards ministered to the needs of the passengers, and Skipper Booth, satisfied that the ship was in order, gave the signal to cast off.

One Motor Ailing.

The aircraft sailed on the 13th with thirteen passengers aboard.

Officers decided not to attempt further repairs on the starboard forward motor, which developed a defect on the 24-hour trip over Ontario and Niagara Falls this week. Some work was done on the motor today, but was stopped when it became apparent that complete repairs would delay the start.

The dirigible's gas bags bulged with a new supply of hydrogen, and her gasoline tanks were full. The larder had been replenished, and the decks made smart for active service.

The passenger list was not announced. Jacques N. Cartier, a descendant of Canada's pioneer navigator, was one of the passengers, it was learned today.

Girl Sets Record For Barrel Rolls

Jackson Loses Air Stunting Mark to Laura Ingalls as He Breaks Hunters' Time.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Miss Laura Ingalls, holder of the women's record for consecutive loops, broke both the men's and women's records for barrel rolls here today. She landed at Lambert-St. Louis Field tonight after completing 714 rolls, 397 more than made by Dale Jackson, who previously held the men's record, and 644 more than Mrs. Betty Lund, who formerly held the record for women.

Miss Ingalls, a New York girl who is one of the country's fourteen women transport pilots, took the air at 3:30 p. m. (E. S. T.), and landed at approximately 7:30. Miss Ingalls, who is 25, flew over Lambert-St. Louis Field, the same field over which Jackson and Forest O'Brine are piloting their endurance plane, Greater St. Louis.

Miss Ingall's feat left Jackson all even for the day in the matter of records, for he and O'Brine this morning recaptured the endurance championship from the Hunter brothers.

Says: The peace time services of the Navy are very important. In exploration Admiral Peary was the first to reach the North Pole while Admiral Byrd was the first to fly over both the North and South Poles. They increased the sum of human knowledge.

In civil affairs, Admiral Bristol for years after the war was our high commissioner at Constantinople, winning great diplomatic distinction. The Marine Corps supplied Gen. Russell to serve long in Haiti, and Gen. Butler to go at a critical time to head the police at Philadelphia. The administration of certain insular possessions has been creditably discharged by the Navy Department. The Naval Observatory at Washington makes valuable contribution to pure and applied science.

But it is in time of great disaster, like the Japanese earthquake or the San Francisco fire, that the ships, supplies and medical staff of the Navy make most conspicuous contributions. Such a service is never forgotten. Only recently it was the basis of a good-will visit here of a Japanese delegation.

The organized talent and scientific skill of our Navy is a great reserve power for good.

GAMING TOLERATION CHARGED TO POLICE

Prince Georges Jury to Get Complaint Citing Resort on Bladensburg Road.

LAWYER PUSHES CHARGE

The October grand jury in Prince Georges County, Md., will be shown a written complaint that the operation of a notorious gambling establishment on the Bladensburg road has been made possible during the last ten years "through the general corruption of police officers and others charged with law enforcement."

This announcement was made by State's Attorney J. Frank Parran yesterday at Upper Marlboro to the Prince Georges County commissioners after he and Sheriff Charles S. Early had been questioned concerning the accusation made by Charles R. Calvert, Mount Rainier attorney.

The State's attorney said that every effort made to prosecute the operators of the alleged gambling place had been frustrated either by tipoffs before raids or because sufficient evidence could not be obtained to secure conviction.

Mr. Calvert, in his letter, stated that he had made specific complaint about the gambling establishment to the sheriff, State's attorney, and several policemen without result. The place to which he referred, he said, operates under the guise of an athletic club.

The attorney said he was speaking in behalf of law-abiding citizens of the county and that unless something was done to rid the community of the house specified and other roadhouses that the officers would be called to account at the next election.

Heart Attack Kills One As Fire Razes Buildings

Masson, Quebec, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Fire destroyed 50 buildings, comprising one-half of the village of Masson, before it was brought under control late this afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph La Flamme, an elderly widow, died of a heart attack induced by hurrying from her home as the flames approached. Two children were missing.

Girl, 13, Tries to Save Sister; Both Drowned

Camden, S. C., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Two sisters, Mary Brown, 13, and Elizabeth Brown, 19, were drowned near here this afternoon while swimming below the Hermitage Mill dam, when the younger girl went to the aid of her sister although she was unable to swim.

FIRES IN MARYLAND PERIL THREE TOWNS

Forest Blazes in Virginia Are Worst in History, Says State Official.

FLAMES SET, IS CHARGE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—A forest and field fire that threatened homes and a school in western Maryland, others out of control on the Eastern Shore, and scores of sporadic blazes spread destruction today as Maryland farmers and county agricultural agents canvassed the crop damage from the 47-day drought.

The worst fire, in Washington County, was fought by more than 300 volunteers. It has already burned over an area of about three by two miles, and is fanned by a brisk west wind.

A dozen homes were saved, but fears were felt for the villages of Chestnut Grove, Trego, and Gapland should the wind continue.

Measures to lift the threat of a water famine at Annapolis were taken by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and railroad officials, who announced that if no relief appears the Baltimore & Ohio will haul water to the State capitol aboard car floats from Baltimore to Annapolis at nominal cost. The mayor, however, said he did not consider the situaton critical as yet.

At College Park the farm conference was told by Dr. T. B. Symons, of the University of Maryland, that the State's farmers are facing the heaviest loss in their experience from the drought. He said reports from county agents estimated crop losses in some instances at 80 and 90 per cent.

An emergency fund of $10,000 was made available today to the State department of forestry as hundreds of volunteer fighters and forest wardens fought scattered woods and field fires feeding on drought-dried vegetation.

The drought was in its forty-eighth day, and the deficiency in rainfall was nearly 11 inches, with signs of a break absent.

Thirteen hundred forest and field fires have been reported since January 1. Severe fires raged today in Somerset and Worcester Counties on the Eastern Shore.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Chapin Jones, State forester, tonight said that forest fires now raging in the State are the worst in the history of the Virginia Forest Service. Jones left tonight for the scene of a blaze several miles north of the Hoover camp in Madison County.

He was accompanied by Thomas L. Farmer, forestry chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission, who will assist the State forester in

NORRIS TO LACK AID OF HOOVER AT FALL POLLS

President Thinks He Is Party Foe and Treats Him Accordingly.

WOULD RATHER SEE DEMOCRAT WINNER

HITCHCOCK APPEARS TO BE STRONG RIVAL

Subnormal Alabama Vote May Indicate Heflin's Plea Was Answered.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Although Senator George W. Norris was nominated easily in Nebraska's Republican primary Tuesday, the administration does not yet look upon him as a Republican and intends to treat him accordingly.

Without the President making any public comment on the outcome of the Nebraska vote, there is no doubt among observers that he would prefer to have the Democratic nominee, former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, win this November.

Now whether the President will make any public move to bring this about is problematical. His associates such as former Gov. McKelvie, now the wheat member of the Farm Board, will. There is even reason to believe that Mr. Hitchcock had some assurances, or at least indications of such support when he came out of political retirement and entered the Democratic primary some time ago.

Fess Statement Modified.

The White House feeling against Senator Norris was strikingly illustrated by an incident two days ago. Senator Fess, the new chairman of the Republican national committee, talking to newspapermen after a conference with the President and Walter Newton, political secretary, said that in his opinion the committee should support Senator Norris if the Nebraska Republicans nominated him.

The statement was brought shortly afterward to the attention of the President and considerable activity ensued. Senator Fess was subsequently communicated with and prevailed upon to modify his statement, something to the effect about its being a matter for the senatorial committee.

So, Senator Fess being this pliable, as is the committee, it may be stated quite positively that Senator Norris will get no assistance from the committee after all. As to whether he will get any from the senatorial committee remains to be seen. It is not as amenable to the President as is the national committee and there is, furthermore, a quite friendly attitude toward Senator Norris on the part of several members of it.

1928 Bolt Recalled.

The White House attitude is not based wholly upon Norris' opposition to President Hoover. By the friends

PRODUCE PRICE PROTEST MADE TO PRESIDENT

Drought Causing Unfair Practices, New York Legislator Says.

GOVERNORS ARRIVE FOR PARLEY TODAY

Red Cross Head Reveals $5,000,000 Is Ready for Instant Use.

RELIEF COMMISSION IS PLAN OF HOOVER

Gov. Emmerson of Illinois Asserts Loans Must Be Without Strings.

(Associated Press.)

The first protests of increased food prices since the drought set in were made to President Hoover yesterday as governors began arriving for the White House conference today to discuss widespread relief organization.

Representative LaGuardia, of New York, carried a complaint to the White House that either wholesalers or commission merchants were taking "undue advantage" of the protracted dry spell by selling fresh vegetables in New York City at an increase of from 25 to 30 per cent in prices.

At the suggestion of the President, Mr. LaGuardia took his case to the Agriculture Department, where he asked Secretary Hyde to publish a daily bulletin on the amount of vegetables arriving in New York and wholesale prices paid the farmers to determine "at least whether the farmer is being held up."

Drastic Action Predicted.

Mr. LaGuardia, who led a buyers' strike movement in New York City a decade ago, warned that unless "profiteering" stopped "drastic action will be taken by consumers."

Secretary Hyde promised the New Yorker that his department will cooperate to the fullest degree in preventing any unnecessary rise in the price of food stuffs. Earlier in the day, after a call on President Hoover, the Agriculture Secretary said there is no reason for any jump in food costs, as a bountiful supply is on hand. He reiterated the only crop shortage is in cattle feed and said housewives should not encourage higher prices by hoarding.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, another White House caller, informed Mr. Hoover his organization has $5,000,000 available for instant use if needed. Even under existing conditions, he said there are indications Red Cross aid will be needed in the fall and winter. He added chapter chairmen throughout the stricken territory are following the situation closely.

Some Showers Fall.

Meanwhile, as the governors of States most severely affected by the drought journeyed here for their conference with President Hoover, the weather began to show signs of CAPT. FRANK M. HAWKS.

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A. P.).—Beating by more than two hours the transcontinental air record which Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took from him last April, Capt. Frank M. Hawks flew from Glendale, Calif., to Curtiss Field today in 12 hours 25 minutes and 3 seconds.

By bettering the Lindbergh time of 14 hours 45 minutes, Capt. Hawks became holder of the speed records for crossing the country in both directions, for just a week ago today he flew the East-West course in 14 hours 50 minutes 43 seconds, beating the record for the westward flight by Roscoe Turner by more than four hours.

In a year and a half Hawks has practically cut in half the time needed to fly between the Atlantic and Pacific when he began his series of transcontinental flights in February of last year, the fastest time had been made by the late C. B. D. Collyer, who flew from East to West in 24 hours and 15 minutes.

Held Record Twice Before.

Capt. Hawks twice before has held the West-East record, once beating his own time and losing his second record to the Lindbergh's. On today's flight he stayed at about 6,000-feet altitude, considerably lower than the Lindberghs. He averaged about 200 miles an hour, but at one time, east of Wichita, he made 250.

Leaving the West Coast at 5:16.27 (E. S. T.) this morning, he touched ground here at 5:41:30, shooting to earth like a red and white meteor flung from the red glare of the setting sun. He made refueling stops on the way at Albuquerque, Wichita and Indianapolis.

As soon as he had taxied up to the cheering crowd of several hundred, he cut his engine and pulled out a paper bag containing chicken sandwiches and was munching one when his wife and son reached him. He was so deafened by the roar of his engine that at first he could not hear any of the question shouted to him by reporters.

Tells Story of Trip.

Slipping off his parachute, flying suit and helmet, he jumped from the cockpit of the little low-wing monoplane and apparently untired by his race against the clock walked into the field office, where he told of his flight, of perfect plane and engine performance, of haze that almost hid the earth from him all the way, and of winds that prevented him by a narrow margin from realizing his ambition to cross the country in twelve hours.

There was some confusion a few minutes before Hawks came in, occasioned by appearance over the field of another red and white low-wing monoplane. The crowd cheered and rushed on the field, as the plane landed. And so when Hawks did come the welcomers, not wishing to fool themselves a second time, withheld their enthusiasm until they could make out the inscription painted on the side of the fuselage. Then they knew it was Hawks and ran to meet him.

Triple 13 Hoodoo.

ENDURANCE RECORD REGAINED BY FLIERS

St. Louis Aviators Keep On for Goal of 1,000 Hours Refuel Flight.

WILD DIN HAILS FEAT

St. Louis, Aug. 13 (A.P.). — The world's premier sustained flight pilots, Dale ("Red") Jackson and Forest O'Brine, tonight rode the air above Lambert-St. Louis Field in their trim cabin monoplane, Greater St. Louis, as champions once more.

After breaking the world's refueling endurance flight record at 9:52 a. m., these two veteran sky dwellers nosed their craft toward a goal of 1,000 hours in the air.

At 7:11 p. m. Jackson and O'Brine had been aloft 564 hours and had surpassed by almost 11 hours the record of 553 hours 40 minutes set in Chicago last month by the flying Hunter brothers, of Sparta, Ill.

Soon after word had been spread that "Red" and "Obie" had recaptured the record, congratulatory telegrams began to pour in.

A small crowd at the airport cheered lustily, standing in driving rain to watch the Greater St. Louis sweep gracefully over the field just above their heads. The downpour recalled the evening of July 31 last year when Jackson and O'Brine landed at the same field after 420 hours in the air.

The celebration in St. Louis consisted chiefly of noise. Fire department sirens sounded, factory whistles were blown and impromptu noise-making devices added to the din. At the airport aerial bombs heralded the new record, while employes of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Co. paraded about the field. The refueling crew, William Brewster and P. V. (Shorty) Chaffee, and the wives of the two endurance pilots made short radio talks.

The 126th contact with the refueling plane was made this afternoon.

OFFICERS SAY FLIER ADMITS BOMB RAID

EXTRADITION IS PLANNED

Murphyaboro, Ill., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—A confession by Paul Montgomery, 25, local aviator, that he was hired by two or three men to pilot his airplane in a bombing raid over the Providence, Ky., coal fields early Monday, and that one of the men accompanied him on the trip, was in the hands of Department of Justice and county authorities tonight.

State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis said Montgomery had named two men, but withheld their names pending their arrest, expected shortly. Reports from some other official sources were that three men had been implicated.

Earlier in the day officials had denied that Montgomery had named any accomplices.

Montgomery's story, according to Lewis, was that after he was hired to go on the bombing raid he was told he and members of his family would be killed if he did not carry it out. He said he received no money, but was promised financial reward, the amount not being specified.

The State's attorney said Montgomery confessed that the dynamite bombs dropped on the mining community, but without loss of life or property, were made at the local airport by two men, one of whom took them in a sack and accompanied him when he took off for the 90-mile flight to the mining district before dawn Monday.

Montgomery was quoted as saying that he maneuvered his plane so that none of the bombs would land on any homes or mining properties where any damage would be done or persons injured. He then returned his passenger to the field here.

Authorities would not say whether those named by Montgomery were

Police Drag Potomac For Real Estate Man

Abandoned Car Spurs Hunt for J. Benson Thomas, Missing.

The Potomac River near Chain Bridge was being dragged last night for J. Benson Thomas, 42 years old, real estate operator, of 3710 Military road northwest, after his abandoned auto was found nearby. Strong searchlights were being played on the river by the Fire Rescue Squad as the Harbor police conducted the search.

A crowd of approximately 500 spectators gathered along the banks of the river and on the bridge, most of them attracted by the glare of the lights. Seventh Precinct police scoured the nearby wooded land for a trace of the man.

Mr. Thomas has been missing since about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he left his office at 1 Thomas Circle in his car, police were told. The family did not enlist the aid of the police until late Tuesday, however, and then they were merely asked to be on the lookout for the car.

The sedan was discovered about 6:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a brother, Donn Thomas, of 129 Kentucky avenue southeast, who is associated with J. Benson Thomas in business. Mrs. Clarabel Thomas, wife of the missing man, was in a highly nervous condition at her home.

Because of financial reverses and a weakened condition from overwork, which Mr. Thomas has undergone recently, his brother told police that he feared for his safety. For the last several months Mr. Thomas has been working from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night almost daily, the brother declared.

On May 2, Mr. Thomas was found face downward in a stream in Rock Creek Park by M. E. Hyman, an advertising man of The Washington Post. His automobile had overturned after striking a bump in Daniel road.

He was believed at the time to have fallen asleep at the steering wheel because of exhaustion from overwork. Unconscious when found, Mr. Thomas was treated at Walter Reed Hospital for lacerations on his face, body bruises and shock.

Red Raids Menace Nanking, Capital Shorn of Defense

Chinese Rebels Drive From North as Communists Ravage South; Government Troops Attack Nanking, Where Bombs Destroy Cathedral.

Nanking, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Communist marauders approached this virtually defenseless capital of the Nationalist government tonight while Red armies continued devastating in the south and rebels drove down from the north.

Weakened by removal of troops to areas menaced by Reds and rebels, Nanking seemed an easy prey should the Communists attack the walled city. An air of uneasiness prevailed among the populace of 400,000 as peasantry turned Red and appeared armed in nearby towns.

Nationalist air forces were reported in action at Tsinanfu, Shantung capital, where bombs were dropped, as the city recently captured by the insurgents, and at Nanking, capital of Kwangsi, in south China. At Nanking government infantry, supported by a squadron of bombers, assaulted the rebel-held city. The French Catholic Cathedral and mission were destroyed by bombs intended to drive out the rebels.

Messages from Nanking said two French priests and four Canadian nuns in the cathedral were safe. The aerial raid resulted in heavy casualties among Chinese. The rebels were reported preparing to evacuate the city. This caused the missionaries much concern as they expected

Capital Attorney Engages In Gun Fight With Bandits

Major in Reserves at Hampton Wrests Revolver From Holdup Man and Returns Fire as Auto Speeds Away Into Darkness.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hampton, Va., Aug. 13.—Wresting a revolver from one of three highwaymen who held him up within a stone's throw of the Fort Monroe Guard House early this morning, Maj. Edward L. Potter, of Washington, attorney on duty with the 503d Organized Reserves here, engaged in a battle with the three bandits. Thirty-odd shots were fired, but none discharged by the highwaymen found their mark.

Firing through the left window of their roadster, the highwaymen ordered Maj. Potter to stop. They shoved the barrel of a gun in his stomach as he stepped out of his car. Glass from the shattered windshield inflicted minor cuts on Maj. Potter's face. Grabbing the long-barreled gun, he wrested it from his assailant after a scuffle.

Driving on to the reservation, the bandits returned and fired again as they sped toward Phoebus.

Standing under the glare of a street lamp, Maj. Potter returned the fire from the bandits' car with the revolver wrested from his assailant. Bullets thudded on the paved roadway beside him and whistled overhead, but neither he nor Private H. T. Powers, Fort Monroe sentry who came to his aid, was hit.

The highwaymen were still at large tonight. Robbery was believed their motive.

is his ship numbered T-13 but the day he chose for the flight was the 13th and his Department of Commerce license number is 13-13.

Shortly after his arrival Hawks left for New York under police escort with a party of official welcomers representing Mayor James J. Walker.

Lindbergh Expresses Pleasure.

Englewood, N. J., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh expressed delight tonight when informed by the Associated Press that Capt. Frank M. Hawks had broken his record for West-East flight across the continent.

"I am certainly glad to hear it," said the flying colonel. "I think it is a fine thing that he brought the record down. I'll offer my congratulations to Capt. Hawks at the very first opportunity."

Cites Value of Venture.

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, speed flyer, made a radio speech tonight in which he pointed to today's record-breaking West-East flight as illustrating the value of a pony express for the transportation of securities and other valuables from coast to coast. His talk was sent out over a hookup of the National roadcasting Co.

"I have always dreamed of crossing the continent in twelve hours," Capt. Hawks said, "and although I missed it today, it is quite possible to do it with favorable winds."

He said his flying time from Glendale, Calif., to Valley Stream, N. Y., was 11 hours and 36 minutes, figuring 46 minutes out on three refueling stops. This time represented an approximate average speed of 230 miles an hour, he said, effected by speeding as fast as 260 miles an hour and never below 200 miles.

Would Stimulate Interest.

"My purpose was to stimulate interest in continental flying," he continued, "as opposed to ocean flying. I am against transatlantic flights unless they are undertaken in flying boats, for I consider it just as preposterous to attempt to fly to Europe in a land plane as it is to take off from Los Angeles for New York in an amphibian."

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, who broke the transcontinental airplane record today, has entered the Thompson Trophy speed race at the National Air Races here beginning August 23, race officials announced today.

Capt. Hawks will fly the same low-wing monoplane in which he flew from Los Angeles to New York in twelve hours.

The race will be a free-for-all speed test, without restriction as to plane size or horsepower. In addition to the Hawks entry a reservation was also announced for Capt. Arthur H. Page, jr., United States Marine Corps, winner of the Courtlss Trophy for hydroplanes last May.

The smallest entry so far received was that of Danny Flowile, of Marshall, Mo., who will fly a monoplane of 20-foot wingspread and a 74-horsepower motor, for which a speed of 200 miles an hour in test flights is claimed.

Lina Basquette Tries to End Life; Grieved Loss of Child

former actress and widow of Sam Warner, motion picture producer, is recovering from poison taken in an alleged suicide attempt following a party in her Hollywood apartment.

Girl Held Apart, Former Actress Takes Poison as Guests Leave.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 13 (A.P.). Grief-stricken over failure to obtain custody of her 4-year-old daughter, Lina Basquette, former stage and film actress, attempted today to end her life by taking poison just as the last of her guests of the night was leaving. She was not seriously poisoned and is recovering.

Miss Basquette, widow of Sam Warner, film executive, fled to the bathroom of her apartment as the party of film guests broke up. A scream attracted her maid and E. H. Sears, jr., the last guest to leave.

Taken to Police Receiving Hospital, Miss Basquette said grief and worry over her little daughter Lina prompted her act.

"I can't live without my baby," she moaned, "I'm longing for her."

Miss Basquette lost custody of her daughter when the courts appointed Harry Warner guardian of the child. She said she had left her present husband, Peverell Marley, film cameraman, whom she married last January upon assurance of "high studio officials" that her daughter would be returned.

Since returning from a dancing tour last spring Miss Basquette has operated a gown shop in a fashionable residential section. The venture apparently had not been successful, and police said they learned it may have been partly the cause of the actress' despondency.

CHARGES ARE DENIED BY FAIRFAX CAPTAIN

PRAISED BY WITNESSES

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Capt. Archibald H. Brooks, in command of the steamer Fairfax when she rammed and sank the oil tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts Bay on June 10, today took the witness stand at his trial before two United States steamboat inspectors and denied in detail charges against him growing out of the disaster which cost the lives of 50 persons.

Brooks' testimony brought the trial to and end, but the decision of Inspectors J. E. Tarkenton and T. J. Hanlon, who heard the case, will not be given for several days, probably not before two or three weeks.

A transcript of the record must be made and studied by the inspectors, and this record, with their decision, will be forwarded to United States Supervising Inspector General Hoover at Washington, it was announced after the trial.

The charges against Capt. Brooks are that he was guilty of reckless navigation, operating the Fairfax at an excessive rate of speed in a fog, failure to make a proper search for persons who had leaped from the Fairfax into the water when she rammed the tanker and caught fire from an explosion of gasoline from the Pinthis. The charges were taken up one by one by the inspectors in an examination of Capt. Brooks, and he denied each one in detail in answer to their questions and questions from F. M. Murphy, Boston attorney, representing the Fairfax skipper.

Twenty-two Witnesses Heard.

Sixteen witnesses were heard at the trial yesterday and six today, including Capt. Brooks. All the witnesses were high in their praise of the Fairfax skipper for the manner in which he handled his ship, and the situation after the crash of the two vessels.

Capt. Brooks said that the Fairfax was not making more than about 3 knots an hour when she struck the Pinthis, and that if the tanker had been sounding her fog whistle prior to the time she was sighted that no wreck would have occurred and that no lives would have been lost. He was absolutely sure, he said, that the Pinthis had sounded no fog warning up until the time she was sighted, some 150 or 200 feet ahead of the Fairfax, too late to prevent the collision.

"And," Capt. Brooks added, "had the Pinthis been loaded with anything other than her cargo of gasoline, no lives would have been lost. As it was, when I saw the tanker, I ordered full speed astern and my wheel hard aport. No other order was advisable under the circumstances. When we crashed and the explosion of the tanker set both ships afire, I had my engines left in reverse to back away from the fire on the Pinthis.

Says Ship Backed Away.

"Had the fire not started, I would have ordered full speed ahead after we hit, so as to keep the Fairfax's bow in the hull of the tanker and keep her afloat. In this way we could have saved the men on the tanker. As it was, the fire made me have to back away from the fire, and as soon as I got clear, I ordered full speed ahead and to the windward so that we would have the wind blowing the fire away from the Fairfax and not back on it."

In approximating the speed at which the Fairfax was traveling when the crash took place, Capt. Brooks said that his ship had been proceeding under half speed for some time and that at 6:57 o'clock, just six minutes before the vessels struck, the engines had been stopped completely.

At 6:58 o'clock they had been ordered forward at half speed, and he said he was sure the Fairfax had not picked up much speed when the Pinthis was sighted and that with the engines reversed she could not have been making more than about 3 knots an hour when she drove into the tanker. He said that the Fairfax, if going at full speed, would have cut the Pinthis in two. The bow of the Fairfax penetrated the hull of the Pinthis about 4 or 5 feet, he said.

New Outbreak of Taxi Robberies Here Feared

Washington's recent series of taxi robberies broke out afresh yesterday with the holdup of Ben Picano, of 1111 Thirteenth street northwest. Picano was hired by two men, one colored, at Rock Creek Church road and Georgia avenue northwest. They told him to drive into the Soldiers' Home Grounds, and near the First street gate they drew a gun on him and took $8.

Yesterday's crime was the first of this type in about ten days. Earlier, however, there had been an average of one a day over a period of several weeks.

New York Buyers Deny Prices Should Increase

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Commission merchants and produce buyers at the auction sales of the wholesale vegetable markets said today that there was no reason why high prices should prevail here because of the drought.

They said that blame for high prices would have to be taken by the retailers, some of whom they asserted were taking advantage of reports of crop shortages to boost their prices.

Pennsylvania Frost Succeeds Heat Wave

Franklin, Pa., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Franklin County, which only a week ago suffered from the unseasonable heat, today reported considerable damage to produce from a heavy frost.

Temperatures as low as 29 were reported from Polk, Springville, Cooperstown and other communities, the lowest August 13 readings in more than 50 years.

TWO IMPEACH STORY TOLD IN BOMB CASE

ONE DENIES SEEING MAN

San Francisco, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Stories of Estelle Smith and John Crowley, prosecution witnesses in the Preparedness day bombing case here were branded as perjuries today by new witnesses, unexpectedly introduced at the supreme court hearing on the pardon application of Warren K. Billings.

Billings was convicted with Thomas J. Mooney of the July 22, 1916, bombing, largely on the testimony of Miss Smith and Crowley.

Crowley, since dead, identified Billings as one of two men he saw at Steuart and Mission streets at 1:46 p. m. the day of the bombing, which occurred less than a block away a few minutes later.

Dentist Gives Testimony.

Miss Smith, former dental nurse, testified Billings visited her office with a suit case before the parade began; went to the roof and on the way out of the building shook hands with Dr. Joseph Shane, her employer.

The surprise witnesses, summoned by the defense, were Dr. Shane and W. L. Claybourne, Oakland attorney and former Steuart street garage owner, in whose establishment Crowley was employed on the day of the explosion.

Dr. Shane denied having seen Billings or any other man with a suit case in his office that day. He said Miss Smith never discussed such a visit with him as she had previously testified.

Claybourne told the court it would have been physically impossible for Crowley to see any one at Steuart and Mission streets for at least 45 minutes previous to and 10 minutes after the bombing. The attorney said Crowley had been working under his car continuously during that period.

Spraying Cars With Acid.

Crowley was quoted by his former employer as saying detectives visited him after the explosion to get him to testify and he "was only stringing them along to get some money."

Testimony of Maxwell McNutt, who defended Billings in his original trial, supported Billings' alibi that he was spraying automobiles with acid the day of the explosion and at no time was in the vicinity of Steuart and Market streets or Dr. Shane's office.

The attorney said Billings confessed he had sprayed acid on the machines in the hire of a local painters' union then on strike.

"In checking this story," McNutt said, "I found it to be true. One of the cars mentioned by Billings belonged to a friend of Judge Dunne, who presided at the Billings trial."

Flier Burned to Death in Crash.

Boonville, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Richard Yule, 28 years old, of New Hartford, burned to death in the crash of the airplane he was piloting at the Boonville Airport here today. Yule had been a pilot for about three years and was rated as one of the best connected with the Marcy Airport at Utica.

JURIST'S AID SEEN IN BANDIT CLEANUP

Judge Says He Will Assume Responsibility in Jailing of Chicago Thugs.

M'GURN OUT ON BOND

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Judge John H. Lyle took a hand in the gang cleanup today, pledging the backing of his municipal court in ridding the streets of hoodlums.

While he was in conference with a group of police captains, one of the most notorious of gangsters, Jack McGurn, was granted liberty under $10,000 bail and a review by the State Supreme Court of his conviction for carrying a pistol.

McGurn, once indicted for the Moran gang massacre of 1929, was sentenced to a year in prison for carrying concealed weapons after being convicted by a criminal court jury.

Judge Lyle was censured by some jurists last week after he sentenced two gunmen to jail for carrying concealed weapons without giving jury trials. He said today he was ready to assume the responsibility for jailing gangsters and let the higher courts review his rulings.

"You men need not be afraid of being bawled out for picking up known hoodlums on suspicion," the judge told the police officers he had called into conference. "Our object is to drive them out of this district. I suppose as soon as this drive gets under way we will be annoyed by these gansters' attorneys. Well, if they become too annoying we'll see if we can not toss them into cells also."

He warned the captains not to bring in "small fry" to make a showing, but to round up the "big fellows" in their districts. He gave them a revised list of the 28 "public enemies" nominated by the Chicago crime commission for elimination—26 since the extradition of Willie Niemoth to Baltimore and the killing of Jack Zuta. The captains agreed to the program and promised to report progress by Saturday. McGurn was also on the "Who's Hoodlum" list as a public enemy.

PAYMENT OF $12,000 BY EWALD SCOUTED

Mayor Walker, Former City Magistrate and Healy Before Grand Jury.

JOINT ACCOUNT IS BARED

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Mayor Walker, former City Magistrate George P. Ewald and Martin J. Healy, suspended deputy commissioner of plant and structures, today told the New York County grand jury the circumstances surrounding Ewald's elevation to the bench two years ago.

The grand jury is investigating to determine whether Ewald gave Healy $10,000 and Dr. Francis Schirp, one of his business partners and a codefendant in a mail fraud case, $2,000 to help obtain his appointment. Emmerich Bocsor, Ewald's self-styled former private secretary, has said Ewald told him he paid the two men that sum.

If Ewald did pay Healy and Dr. Schirp he threw the money away, Mayor Walker told District Attorney Crain yesterday. Ewald and Dr. Schirp both denied publicly today that they had made remarks, credited to them by Bocsor, concerning the appointment. They described Bocsor as a "shellshocked war veteran" who didn't know what he was talking about. Ewald said he got Bocsor, who used to run errands for him, a $70-a-week job in a company in which Ewald was interested, but said Bocsor was never his private secretary.

Continuing his investigation independently of the grand jury, Mr. Crain discovered today that a $5,000 check Mrs. Ewald gave Healy as part of a $10,000 "loan" was drawn on a joint account she held with her husband and that, therefore, he must have known of it. Ewald heretofore is alleged to have professed ignorance of his wife's transactions.

NANKING, CHINESE CAITAL, IN DANGER

wholesale looting by the fleeting troops.

The threat against the upper Yangtse River cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang continued. Execution of alleged reds was carried on at Hankow, where thousands of terrified Chinese continued to mass.

A dozen foreign warships anchored off the city gave a feeling of security to foreigners, who could board them or the scores of commercial vessels in emergency.

Changsha, it was reported, had been reoccupied by Communist bands that recently looted and burned the Honan capital, with slaughter estimated at 1,500 persons. Foreigners who lost much property in antiforeign depredations were believed safe aboard warships at Changsha or evacuated to other areas.

Harassed also by civil war, China's government strove to hold back drives of northern alliance armies in Shantung and Honan provinces, but was pounded severely.

Gen. Feng YuHsiang's troops, considerred the best in China, were reported to have hurled back nationalists in northern Honan, seizing enormous supplies of munitions. Government officails admitted the situation was grave, necessitating reinforcement of division from Shantung.

SPEAKER STRESSES JAPANESE PROBLEM

IS HEARD BY INSTITUTE

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Immigration is the issue which "stands in the way of a full and complete understanding" between Japan and the United States, Prof. George H. H. Blakeslee, of Clark University, said today at the Institute of Politics.

Prof. Blakeslee told the round table conference on the Far Eastern situation that it was difficult to "overemphasize the importance of this issue in the minds of the Japanese." He said sentiment on the Pacific Coast "has greatly changed since 1924 and that many who then favored the 'exclusion provision' are now convinced it would be to the interests both of the Pacific Coast and to Japan to place the Japanese on a quota basis." He pointed out that "Representative Johnson, of Seattle, stated that he intended to introduce a bill nito the next Congress placing the Japanese upon the quota basis."

"Due to the political situation in this country, however, the initiative in any movement to change the present immigration laws regarding the Japanese must come from the people of the Pacific Coast themselves," Prof. Blakeslee said. "Any attempt to influence the situation by resolutions or propaganda in this part of the country would noly be resented by the people of California, Washington and Oregon."

Disarmament Is Topic.

Dr. Roy H. Akagi, of Oakland, Calif., general secretary of the Japanese Students' Christian Association of North America, said the assimilation of American citizens of Japanese ancestry was handicapped because "they are not readily taken into the fold of American life, due largely to race prejudice on the part of Americans."

Dr. Paul Mantoux, director of the School of Higher International Studies at Geneva, gave his second address on "The Disarmament Problem at the Peace Conference" at the institute tonight. The French problem, he said, is that armament is a consequence as well as a cause of distress among the nations."

He asked if, as long as "international anarchy" prevails, disarmament may "be safely accepted and sincerely executed."

Gives French Viewpoint.

Dr. Mantoux recalled that during the peace conference small nations, together with France and Italy, opposed the proposal to reduce their forces to what was necessary for "domestic safety."

Concerning that proposal, he said France was entirely willing to submit to international supervision of national armaments and this view had "remained unaltered to this day." He asked whether from the disarmament of Germany the conclusion should be reached "that the clauses obliging Germany to disarm can not bec onsidered as permanently binding, unless followed by disarmament all around."

Four Killed When Autos Collide Head-On in Fog

Cranbury Lake, N. J., Aug. 13 (A.P.). Four men, residents of Passaic, were killed and five other persons were injured today in a head-on collision between a milk truck and an automobile in thick fog. Three of the injured were believed to have been fatally hurt.

Eight highway workers were in the automobile on their way to their place of employment. The driver of the truck was among the less seriously injured.

MANN PLANS ACTIVE DRIVE IN SOUTHLAND

Colonel Says G. O. P. to Use Atlanta as Center of Dixie Activities.

'PRINCIPLE' BASIS URGED

(Associated Press.)

Plans for an aggressive campaign to perpetuate in the South a Republican organization "based on principle rather than patronage" were outlined last night by Col. Horace A. Mann, Southern campaign manager for President Hoover in 1928.

Col. Mann said in a statement that the Southern Republican organization would establish headquarters in Atlanta, would conduct an extensive educational campaign, including radio addresses and a wide distribution of literature, and would acquire or establish newspapers at a number of strategic places in the South.

The statement was issued after a two-day meeting here of the organization's executive committee and was the first formal conference since the gathering at Savannah, Ga., three weeks ago. Col. Mann and his followers have rebelled against the handling of Southern patronage by the administration factions of Postmaster General Brown.

Col. Mann, who presided at the meeting here, said application for a charter would be filed at Atlanta and then the list of permanent officers would be announced.

"This movement for the perpetuation in the South of a Republican organization based on principle rather than patronage," he added, "is not for or against any candidate for office of any faction.

"Under present circumstances the popular political thought of the South has no means of expression.

"For the first half century of the the Nation's existence Southern statesmen were out most influential national leaders. During the last half century Southern sentiment has played a small and declining part in national affairs.

"The Democratic party, to which the South naturally became attached due to issues arising out of the Civil War and the reconstruction period, has fallen into the hands of a group of Northern city political machines, corrupt organizations interested only in jobs, contracts and licensed lawlessness.

"This leadership is alien in spirit to the South. It has taken the solid South for granted politically and treated it accordingly."

Col. Mann said the Republican party nationally had treated the South as an "enemy's country," important only as a means of collecting delegates to national conventions. He said no serious attempt was made until 1928 to carry on any campaign of education and organization with a view to building up the party cause in the South.

"In 1928 for the first time," Col. Mann asserted "such an organization was effected. An effort has been made to destroy it. We dissent from this policy. We believe the time has come to promote Republicanism in the South on the basis of principle. We undertake such an effort."

The statement invited the cooperation of Republican and Independent Southern votes "to the end that we may raise up an irresistible force in behalf of the true principles of nationalism, once fundamental with all American political parties, and which alone can save this country from the most serious consequences."

Two Apartment Thefts Are Reported to Police

Two apartments on Connecticut avenue were reported to the Fourteenth Precinct police station yesterday as having been ransacked. In both cases doors were jimmied, but apparently nothing was taken.

Thomas Waggaman, of 5420 Connecticut avenue, one of the victims, reported that a suspicious looking man had been noticed near his residence. The resident manager at 2700 Connecticut avenue reported that the apartment of Mrs. C. Flemmings had been forcibly entered, but that the tenant is out of town.

Missing Baby Found Safe In Car Stolen From Father

Bath, N. Y., Police Advised by Buffalo That Child Is Recovered, While State Mounted Force Is Engaged in Country-Wide Search.

Bath, N. Y., Aug. 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—E. J. Wheeler, commissioner of Bath police, was advised by the police of Buffalo this afternoon that the car of Charles Stanton, of Nelson, Pa., stolen in Bath Tuesday night, had been recovered in Buffalo. Abandoned in the car compartment was the 2-year-old son, Edmund, of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, missing since the theft of the car.

The father of the missing child was located by telephone near Hornell, where he was with Sergt. Burnett and others of the State police, engaged in a search for the baby. The father, with representatives of Bath police and Sheriff Frank Bartlett, will proceed immediately to Buffalo to reclaim car and child.

The Buffalo police state there are no clews as to the identity of the persons who stole the car from its parked position in front of the Bath Hospital last night.

Work of local police developed that three strangers were seen to enter the car and drive it away from in front of the hospital. At the time it was supposed the men were owners of the machine.

G.O.P. TAKEN ABACK BY NORRIS' VICTORY

NOMINEE IS JUBILANT

Lincoln, Nebr., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—With defeat of the administration candidate assured, Nebraska's tempestuous senatorial primary had an echo tonight in the threat of a widened breach in the Republican State ranks.

Soon after his opponents conceded the nomination of Senator George W. Norris, who amassed a plurality of nearly 25,000 votes, announcement was made that Beatrice Fenton Craig, a Lincoln schoolteacher, would oppose him in the election as an Independent Republican, "by petition."

Leaders interpreted the move as a bid by the schoolteacher for support of the "Regular" wing of the party, which vigorously fought Norris in the primary. Earlier in the day Walter Kiechel, manager of Willis M. Stebbens, Norris' leading opponent, had described the insurgent leader's victory as "non-Republican," and due to wholesale Democratic support.

Senator Norris, elated over the big plurality he piled up, apparently was little concerned about postelection developments. With only a few precincts to be heard from he had 87,176 votes to 62,659 for Stebbins, while Aaron Reed, 84-year-old wet, polled only 5,632.

Senator Norris, who denounced the tariff and criticized other Hoover administration measures, said he regarded his victory as "vindication in my fight for the principles I have supported."

"I feel greatly encouraged and am positive the effects will be far-reaching," he said.

Inferences by Kiechel that bolting Democrats had assured Norris' victory were scoffed at by the senator.

"There was just as much foundation for that insinuation as there was for the forecast that I would be defeated by 50,000 votes," he said.

The margin piled up by former Senator G. M. Hitchcock over his dry opponent, Dr. Jennie M. Callfas, for the Democratic senatorial nomination continued to mount on belated returns. With only a few precincts missing, Hitchcock had 49,782 votes, to 13,484 for his opponent.

Charles W. Bryan, brother of the late William Jennings Byan, won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by an overwhelming majority over Anton Jensen, and Gov. Arthur J. Weaver defeated Harry O. Palmer for the Republican nomination.

Dry Leader Suddenly Expires at Age of 91

Harirsburg, Pa., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Dr. Silas C. Swallow, whose work as a prohibitionist gained Nation-wide attention, died suddenly at his home here today. He was 91 years old.

In 1904, Dr. Swallow was the Prohibition party candidate for President. He retired from the Methodist ministry a number of years ago.

Jobs Grow Fewer On Railway Lines

Interstate CommerceGroup Finds Employment Cut for Season.

(Associated Press.)

Fewer workers are employed on American railroads this summer than at the corresponding season in many years. The Interstate Commerce Commission estimated yesterday the average number of railroad workers employed during June was 1,564,269, a decrease of 9.9 per cent from the number employed during the corresponding month last year.

It compared unfavorably also with the 1,572,567 employed in railroad operations during April, one month before.

The June total represents a minimum of employment in railroad service, brought about by the steady recession in traffic which has taken place this year.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THERE is not a more romantic episode in this country's annals than the appointment of Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost as director of women's activities for the Republicans.

For years Mrs. Yost has kept the little W. C. T. U. shop down in the Normandy section of the town near the Capitol. It was a treat for book-lovers and the collectors of those now rare and quaint volumes such as "What Prohibition Has Done for America" and "How to Make the Country Dry."

The shop rests off the beaten path and there is a suggestion of cobble-stones in the pavement of the street with the occasional passing of an ox-drawn cart. It is, indeed, a touch of old France.

* * * *

IN the olden days when the clerics controlled the Government they used to come out of late afternoons and in their ecclesiastical robes stroll up and down the street, and of mornings they would stroll over to the Capitol to give the legislative servants their orders for the day.

Gradually this old order has ceased until today the section is hardly more than a memory of the past.

Bishop Cannon ventured too far away one day, it seems, and became interested in such mundane matters as love and bucketshops, and before him Wayne B. Wheeler was called to his reward.

IN recent times the spot has attracted only visitors, those tourists who by the thousands pass through Washington every year.

And on the corner there was the quaint little W. C. T. U. shop, Mrs. Yost and her rare literature. It was all of the period when this country's sense of humor was at its greatest height.

Somehow, one got the impression, too, that Mrs. Yost, sitting there quietly contemplating the passing events, had just as much a sense of humor as any of the volumes of which she had charge.

* * * *

SEEING her thus, attractive and with a fascinating twinkle in her eyes, one instinctively felt that some day, too, she would leave the place and get out into the center of controversy. That's where she is today.

The professorial Senator Fess, searching studiously through the old by-ways and antiques of the town found her, a rare political jewel, and placed her on the throne. The public prints will be filled for days with stories of how the Republicans placed a dry lobbyist as head of their women's division and of the dissatisfaction of some of the women that they could not name their own head just as the men name their national chairman.

But Mrs. Yost will like it and despite the quietness and medieval nature of her previous environment she has a lot of sense.

MRS. DODSON'S POST GOES TO DRY CHIEF

Mrs. Lenna L. Yost, Leader in W.C.T.U., Named Director of G.O.P. Women.

WAS PUPIL UNDER FESS

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, Republican national committee woman for West Virginia and prominent Woman's Christian Temperance Union leader, has been named to succeed Mrs. Louise M. Dodson as director of women's activities for the Republican national committee.

Mrs. Yost, Washington representative of the W. C. T. U. will work closely with the new chairman, Senator Fess, of Ohio. She attended Antioch College in Ohio while he was a professor there, before either entered politics.

Mrs. Dodson assumed the post at the beginning of the Hoover administration. At that time Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of Kentucky, tendered her resignation as vice chairman. Later, however, she rescinded it, with the arrangement that Mrs. Dodson would take over the active duties of the office.

Mrs. Dodson said she would leave Washington for her home in Shickshinny, Pa., "as soon as Mrs. Yost comes in."

Her resignation followed a long career in party and political activities. She was State campaign manager for the suffrage referendum in Iowa in 1916 and later helped create an organization of Republican women in the State. She was the first woman to sit as an officer on a national convention committee and was secretary of the committee on permanent organization.

SIZE OF VOTE STIRS ALABAMA INTEREST

Ballot in Senate Race eHld Indication of Power of Heflin.

THOMPSON ADMITS LOSS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—With the nomination of John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, as United States senator conceded, interest tonight centered on the race for the gubernatorial nomination and the size of the vote cast in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, today sent Bankhead a message of congratulations and assured him of his support for a united front of the Democratic party in the general election in November, which will find Senator J. Thomas Heflin running as an independent to succeed himself.

Senator Heflin, excluded from the primary because of failure to support the Democratic presidential ticket in 1928, waged an active campaign throughout the State urging voters not to vote yesterday and called the primary "illegal.

Miller Increases Lead.

With first estimates of a normal vote, or one approximating 200,000 being scaled downward, partisans of Judge B. M. Miller, of Camden, and W. C. Davis, of Jasper, lieutenant governor, watched eagerly as returns dribbled in.

Miller, with 1,206 precincts counted, had amassed 51,720 votes, putting him slightly further in front of Davis, who had 47,308. The other four candidates were far behind, Woolsey Finnell, of Tuscaloosa, having 13,577; Charlie C. McCall, ttorney general, 11,214; J. A. Carnley, of Enterprise, 3,729, and Watt T. Brown, of Birmingham, 1,577.

The vote for senator, 1,203 precincts counted, stood, Bankhead, 62,235, and Thompson, 33,633, or a total of 95,868 votes and an estimated one-fourth yet to report. Many observers believe the grand total will fall 75,000 or more below the 1926 vote for senator of 216,660.

Vote in Governor's Race Heavier.

Voting in the governor's race was heavier, more than 129,000 votes having been tabulated, and the final total is expected to exceed 160,000, but that will fall approximately 60,000 below the gubernatorial ballot in 1926.

Second-choice votes, most of which so far have not been counted, in all probability will play an important part in deciding the gubernatorial race and several minor State nominations.

Man Arraigned on Rum Charge.

Thomas Isaac Coplin, Negro, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a liquor charge, and was ordered held for action of the grand jury, Judge Ralph Given fixed bond at $1,500.

DEMOCRATS IN OHIO NOMINATE BULKLEY

George White, Dry, to Oppose Cooper, Republican, for Governor's Post.

ONE INCUMBENT BEATEN

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Complete tabulation of the unofficial vote in Tuesday's primary tonight showed that the Democrats selected former Representative Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland, an advocate of repeal of national prohibition, for United States senator, and former Representative George White, of Marietta, an avowed dry with Antisaloon League backing, as their gubernatorial candidate.

Bulkley had approximately 40,000 more votes than his closest opponent, W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, former State chairman, in a five-cornered race. Former Representative John McSweeney, of Wooster, was fourth, 5,000 behind Durbin. The vote was: Bulkley, 80,487; Durbin, 40,580; Charles V. Truax, 36,436; McSweeney, 35,063; George S. Myers, 19,225.

White defeated his wet opponent, Stephen M. Young, of Cleveland, by almost 60,000. The vote was: White, 136,428; Young, 77,964, with less than a half dozen precincts missing.

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper (Republican), unopposed for reelection, led his ticket with a total of 426,250 votes, while Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, also unopposed, received 345,699 votes.

Only one representative, W. W. Chalmers, Toledo, Ninth District, was defeated for renomination. Most of them had no opposition. Chalmers was swamped by Wilbur M. White, Toledo newspaper editor and a newcomer in politics, running on a platform advocating repeal of national prohibition. Chalmers is dry. White will be opposed in November by Scott Stahl, Toledo, a wet Democrat.

Representative Charles Brand, of Urbana, Seventh District, was in a close race with Judge Harry Gram, Springfield, but succeeded in warding off defeat by little more than 2,000 votes. Arthur P. Lamneck, a wet Democrat, will oppose Representative John C. Speaks, dry Republican, in the Twelfth (Columbus) District.

Heat Is Turned On In New York Cars

Commuters Shiver When Coldest August 13 Is Recorded.

New York, Aug. 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—After shivering commuters had complained about today's extraordinary cold weather, the heat was turned on in cars of the Harlem Division of the New York Central and on certain suburban lines of the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

The thermometer at the Weather Bureau at 6 a. m. showed 56, making today the coldest August 13 on record. The previous low for the day was set with a temperature of 57, on August 13, 28 years ago. In Westwood, N. J., at 8 a. m. today, the thermometer registered only 40.

Today's cold was accentuated by the quick change from the warm days of last week. A week ago today the mercury stood at 90. The sudden drop presented summer colds to many. Physicians advised plenty of clothing for the duration of the August cold wave.

Fair and continued cool weather was predicted for tomorrow. The Weather Bureau could predict no immediate rain to end the drought.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh Fly Back to New York

Hicksville, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the Aviation Country Club at noon today after a flight from North Adams, Mass.

Their ship, the new biplane which Col. Lindbergh recently purchased for his wife, was followed by another piloted by Maj. Thomas Lanphier and Col. Henry Breckenbridge. The four got into Col. Lindberg's automobile and drove to New York.

GORE AND MURRAY SEE LEADS MOUNT

Pine to Have Uphill Fight in Fall for Oklahoma Senate Seat.

STATE CONTESTS CLOSE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—As returns from the Oklahoma Democratic run-off primary made more emphatic the nominations of W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray for governor and Thomas P. Gore for senator, their respective opponents today offered congratulations and support.

Nearly complete returns from yesterday's voting found the lead of Murray over Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil man, swelled almost to the 90,000 mark. Buttram, who had carried on a sarcastic personal campaign against Murray, announced he would support the party ticket.

The lead of Gore, former blind senator, nominated to the Senate once more after ten years of political oblivion, grew to nearly 40,000. C. J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil operator, who was defeated, congratulated Gore and urged "united support" of the ticket in November.

Senator W. B. Pine, of Okmulgee, and Ira A. Hill, f Cherokee, will represent the Republicans in an uphill race against Gore and Murray. Pine was elected in 1924 over J. C. Walton, then freshly ejected from the governor's chair because of a Democratic party split over Walton's impeachment. Walton will be in the Senate race again this year as an Independent. Oklahoma has a 23-year record of never electing a Republican governor, and Hill, to break the precedent, would have to be the beneficiary of a bad Democratic party break.

Apparent defeat of several State officers and close races engaged in by others held attention tonight. Charles W. Mason, flying chief justice of the State supreme court, seeking Democratic renomination, was considerably behind J. Howard Langley, of Pryor, in a race confined to one of the nine nominatig nistricts in the State. Mason, who presided over the Senate impeachment trial which resulted in the ouster of Gov. Henry S. Johnston last year, himself was impeached but was acquitted in his later trial before the Senate court.

Justice Albert C. Hunt, of Tulsa, fell slightly behind tonight in a close run-off race with Edwin R. McNeill, of Pawnee, district judge. Justice Fletcher Riley, of Lawton, was renominated in the first primary of July 29. Only three of the nine justiceships will be voted upon this year, as the court is a continuous body.

Two Suspects Accused In McCrory Robbery

Two of the five suspects held in the McCrory holdup a week ago today were charged yesterday with the robbery. Two others who had been under suspicion were released yesterday, and the fifth suspect was released several days ago. Police, however, are still searching for two men supposed to be residents of Baltimore, who are thought to know something of the crime.

The two men charged yesterday are John Irving, owner of the alleged holdup car, and Elmer Bennett, both of Baltimore.

BIG BRITISH FORCES FIGHT INDIA TRIBES

War on Large Scale Begun at Peshawar; Airplanes Inflict Heavy Loss.

MANY NATIVES RETREAT

London, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—A Lahore dispatch to the Daily Herald today said there was every indication of operations on a big scale being put under way against the Afridi tribesmen who have been engaged in an attack upon Peshawar, northwest frontier province.

Large contingents of infantry, cavalry and armored cars entrained Wednesday for the north, presumably to stop the spread of the unrest to other tribes. Several more airplanes also have left Lahore for the airdrome at Risalpur, which is headquarters of the northwest frontier air force.

Afridi Forces Scatter.

Peshawar, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Authentic reports from the northwestern frontier indicate that the activities of British bombing planes and ground troops have cut great holes in the ranks of the hostile Afridi tribesmen who have menaced the area this week.

Many of the force, which at first was estimated at 10,000 and grew with the addition of other tribes, have withdrawn after heavy casualties had been inflicted.

Last night only about 1,200 Khilafatists were left in the Peshawar district, while in the caves of Khajuri Plain only some 3,000 of the original Afghan force remained. This last included 800 new arrivals, Rajgul Kuki Khels, who had joined the movement because they were unable to resist the pressure of their tribal neighbors.

Disaffection in other tribes was reported, but it was stated that no developments among the Mohmands had been learned.

Government reports said that active assistance of Peshawar natives to the Afridis was on the decrease, although sympathy with the movement continues strong in the city.

Meanwhile reports flow in constantly telling of casualties to the Afridis in their encounters with troops and the constabulary, while it is known that many have suffered from bombing.

Peshawar has been strengthened by reinforcements of troops and war materials, and no fear is felt for the city.

Peace Parley in Jail.

In another part of India occurred a meeting intended to bring peace in the Nationalist civil disobedience campaign. Mahatma Gandhi, in his quarters at Yeroda Prison, in Poona, conferred with four of his foremost assistants, who also are prisoners—the Pandits Motilal and Jawarhalal Nehru, Mrs. Sarojini Naidu and Vallabhai Patel.

With them sat Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, who as peace emissaries are seeking to have the Nationalist activities curtailed pending the round-table conference in London in October.

LEWIS E. WHITE DIES.

Septic Poisoning Proves Fatal to Seed Loan Director.

Lewis Emory White, director of seed loans for the Department of Agriculture, died yesterday at his home in the Cavalier Hotel, 3500 Fourteenth street. He had been ill for several months. Death was due to septic poisoning.

Mr. White's work kept him away from Washington most of the time. The work of the seed loan bureau covers 15 States, and much of his work was in connection with the offices at Colombia, S. C. and Grand Forks, N. Dak.

miners, but they did say the bombing was plotted because of the trouble among miners in the Kentucky field. Lewis declined to state whether he expected the additional arrests to be made here or in Kentucky.

Herman Goldman, a special agent for the Department of Justice, who was present when the confession was made, considered the investigation here about closed and prepared to leave tonight for St. Louis to report to his office.

Lewis said he was expecting officers here from Dixon, Ky., late tonight or early tomorrow with papers for extradition of Montgomery to Kentucky. The prisoner was being held in jail.

Identification of Montgomery's airplane as the bombing ship led to his arrest and his subsequent confession.

ROBINSON ROLLS UP 100,000 PLURALITY

Parnell Also Wins Sweeping Victory in Arkansas Governor's Race.

HOUSE SEAT DOUBTFUL

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Sweeping victories for United States Senator Joe T. Robinson and Gov. Harvey Parnell in their races for renomination were recorded in yesterday's Democratic primary, it was shown by returns tonight from all but approximately 300 scattered precincts.

Senator Robinson, the minority leader in the Senate, and 1928 vice presidential nominee, had rolled up a pluraliyt of nearly 100,000 over Tom W. Campbell, who waged a vigorous campaign as the veteran congressional leader's first primary opponent in twelve years.

Gov. Parnell, who had three opponents, had more than 100,000 votes out of approximately 195,000 accounted for tonight and was leading his nearest opponent, Brooks Hays, young lawyer of Little Rock, by more than 30,000. The two other gubernatorial candidates fell far behind the leaders.

With 1,681 precincts reported out of 2,066 in the State, Robinson had 133,536, had Campbell 41,694. In the gubernaotrial race, 1,761 precincts gave Parnell 103,511 and Hays 72,307

Parnell and Hays were the leaders in the 1928 primary and Parnell's plurality over Hays then was approximately 33,000 with seven in the race.

The two representatives seeking renomination who had opposition, Heartsill Ragon, of the Fifth District and D. D. Glover, of the Sixth, won byaubstantial margins, while the outcome of the six-cornered race in the second district for the seat now held by Mrs. Pearl Peden Oldfield was still in doubt tonight. Mrs. Oldfield was not a candidate.

HOOVER PREFERS DEMOCRAT AS SENATOR FROM NEBRASKA

of Mr. Hoover it is pointed out right feelingly that it can not be recalled when the Nebraska senator has supported any Republican President, and, of course, he outright bolted Mr. Hoover in the 1928 campaign.

As the situation unfolds in Nebraska one rather gets the impression that Mr. Norris will not be ungrateful for any assistance he may get this November. His victory in the primary over W. M. Stebbins, the regulars' candidate, was decisive and striking, because the regulars put everything they had into the campaign.

Now should this opposition go over to Hitchcock in November, which the leaders certainly intend to try to make it do, it would be idle to say that Senator Norris is out of the woods. Any number of Democrats will support him, of course, but Hitchcock is looked upon as the strongest candidate the Nebraska Democrats have had in years.

Norris Could Use Aid.

It will be in the matter of the Republicans going over to Hitchcock that Norris could make use of a few friendly utterances by some outstanding regulars. He could use them to show that regardless of how the White House felt toward him he was held in high regard by regulars in the Senate.

Of course, in view of the incident the other night, he will not get such an utterance from Senator Fess. As to how successful the President will be in preventing friendly statements by other senators remains to be seen.

It is not deemed likely that the President will make any open thrust at Norris, as it might cause quite a party squabble. Even such party leaders as Senator Watson are against any covert action against the Nebraskan. Of course, one might say that the Progressives whom Norris leads are off the reservation anyway, and nothing is to be gained by temporizing with them. But there are several senators sort of in-between the two camps, such, for example, as Senator Couzens. Any open move on the part of the President against Norris might precipitate these senators into the Progressive camp.

Some press reports interpreted the Norris-Stebbins fight as a test of the administration in the whole farm belt. That is covering a large territory, quite likely too much. The Nebraska outcome proves only that the administration can not defeat Norris in Nebraska. It is a question whether any one else can.

Aside from the Nebraska vote the Democrats might well study the Alabama race between John H. Bankhead and Frederick I. Thompson for the senatorial nomination. Bankhead won easily, but the vote fell far short of the normal Democratic vote. In its unfinished stage one should not jump at conclusions, but it certainly looks as if a considerable number remained out of the primary at the behest of Senator J. Thomas Heflin, who is to run as an independent in November. This view is given additional weight by the fact that the gubernatorial vote was much heavier. There will be more about this later on.

The Democrats nominated wet sentorial candidates in both Oklahoma and Ohio in the persons, respectively, of former Senator Gore and Robert J. Bulkley. Both States are looked upon as likely Democratic prospects in November, but the question to be determined is whether a wet can win in either. It will be a clear-cut wet and dry issue in both instances.

Incidentally, his dryness cost Representative Chalmers, of Ohio, his job. He was defeated in the Republican primary by Wilbur M. White, Toledo wet. The Democrats also nominated wets in the Ninth and Twelfth Districts, although their guberantorial nominee, George White, is a dry.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, easily rode through in Arkansas.

delivering oil and gasoline. Approximately 5,120 gallons of gasoline and 225 gallons of oil have been poured into the Greater St. Louis since the flight started.

Jackson and O'Brine, talking over a short wave transmitter in the plane, broadcast greetings to the crowd.

"Too bad the folks down there got wet. Tell them not to sit around in the rain till we get down. We appreciated the demonstration more than we can tell you. We are flying at 2,400 feet and the old engine wants to run away. I guess because it is on the home stretch."

The fliers said they did not know when they would come down, "maybe tomorrow, next month or next year," adding they thought they could "stay up until next August."

BUS PERMIT SOUGHT FOR LINE IN COUNTY

New Route Would Cross Memorial Bridge Into City Terminal.

WATER RATE CUT SEEN

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Appearing before the regional highway committee at its session in Col. U. S. Grant's office in the Navy Building yesterday afternoon, M. E. Church, of Falls Church, president of the Arlington & Fairfax Railway Co., announced to that body that his company had applied to the State Corporation Commission for a franchise to operate buses over the present right of way of the railroad as far as Clarendon and from the latter point to and across the Memorial Bridge into Washington. Mr. Church stated that in the event his company is given the franchise requested the right of way will be deeded to the State for the location of the Straight-to-the-bridge Boulevard, which is the Arlington County link of the John Marshall highway.

Mr. Church said he recognized that upon the opening of the Memorial Bridge the public interest would require bus service into Washington by that route, and since trolley car lines are barred from the bridge by act of Congress, his company could not serve the public needs in all respects unless buses are put on to supplement the rail car service. He also indicated the possibility of the ultimate abandonment of rail service over the Highway Bridge as a result of bus competition, and in that event, he said, the rails would be removed and the entire right of way made available for vehicular traffic. Until that time the trolley poles would be centered between the tracks, leaving room on each side for a 20-foot pavement.

He likened the proposed thoroughfare to Connecticut avenue beyond the Rock Creek Bridge.

Hugh E. Naylor, of Front Royal, Va., president of the John Marshall Highway Association, told the committee his organization is planning a memorial highway from the northern entrance of the Shenandoah National Park to the John Marshall statue at the Capital, passing the old home of the former Chief Justice at Marshall, Va., and crossing the new Memorial Bridge.

He said that the right of way across Arlington County should be of adequate width for an arterial thoroughfare and that the railway location which, he said, afforded a width of 80 feet to 90 feet through the thickly settled portion of Clarendon and Ballston had already been surveyed by the State. He supplied the committee with a copy of the State survey.

While in Clarendon, Mr. Naylor conferred with Arthur Orr and Lawrence Michael, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the John Marshall Highway Association, relative to the program for the annual meeting of that body which will be held at Thoroughfare Gap, Va., September 6. It is anticipated that a large delegation from Arlington County will attend the meeting.

Mr. Naylor was accompanied by former State Delegate to the General Assembly John T. Reamy, of Warrenton.

While the continued drought over the country is causing much alarm, it is not looked upon with such apprehension in Arlington County among the users of the county water system, as it promises a reduction in the near future as a result of the increased demand for water by those whose wells have gone dry.

Three years ago, when the system was installed, the users were very few and the rate was at that time set at $27 a year. About 18 months ago the rate was reduced to $24 due to the increased number of users. A few months ago County Engineer C. L. Kinnier informed the county board of supervisors that with an increase of 1,000 users the rate could be reduced to $22 a year with a rebate of 50 cents a quarter upon the prompt payment of bills, which would give to the water users a flat rate of $20 a year.

Engineer Kinnier announces that 60 days ago there was ordered 9,000 feet of 6-inch pipe and with the dry spell the demand for connections and extensions of lines has used that amount of pipe up and yesterday an order was placed for 8,000 additional feet of pipe.

With flames leaping high in the air from a burning garage on the property owned by A. L. Kelley, at Walnut street and Wilson boulevard, at Clarendon yesterday, engines from Clarendon and Balston responded and soon had the fire under control.

Mrs. Lula Taylor, of Clarendon, was reported last night as being seriously ill at her home.

The county clerk, William H. Duncan, yesterday reported the filing of 150 additional suits for the collection of delinquent real estate taxes by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth. The suits were drawn in the name of the Commonwealth. This makes a total of 520 suits filed.

Last night, the third night of the annual convention and jubilee of the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association, being held on the grounds adjoining the Woodrow Wilson School Building at Fort Myer Heights, saw a record crowd in attendance.

While the grounds are well supplied with attractive booths filled with useful articles, dancing appears to be the feature attraction.

Chairman John R. Mossbury announces that the program for Saturday, which will be the big day, has been completed. Gov. John Garland Pollard is announced as the honored guest. Promptly at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the parade, in which there will be in line more than 30 departments from nearby Maryland and Virginia, will start from the Jefferson District Firemen's Hall on Frazier avenue to Virginia Highlands. The line of march will be along Frazier avenue to Mount Vernon avenue, thence along Columbia pike to Arlington, thence along Bingham road to Shelly road to Clarendon avenue to Clarendon, thence by way of Wilson boulevard to Ballston to Memorial drive to East Falls Church, turning into the Lee highway to Cherrydale to Rucker avenue through Lyon Village to Wilson boulevard to the carnival grounds.

Prizes will be offered for the best equipped department, the department having the largest number of men in line, and for the best decorated equipment and for the best decorated private automobile.

The judges will be Capt. Chapman, Capt. Moxley and Private Eskridge, members of the District of Columbia Fire Department. The parade will be headed by the Boys Band from Washington.

Following the parade there will be a pumper hook-up contest. The prize cake contest entered into by the ladies from Clarendon, Arlington and Ballston was won by Mrs. Robert Hixson, of Ballston. Saturday night the ladies from Jefferson District, Cherrydale and Falls Church will enter the contest.

Chairman Mossburg announced last night that the carnival features will continue for another week.

The proceeds from the carnival go to the relief fund which the association raises for the aid of sick and disabled firemen and to the family in case of death.

The county board of supervisors will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the courthouse. Chairman Edward Duncan will preside.

MOTORIST ATTACKED WHILE DRIVING CAR

Men Leap on Running Board and Slash Him After Being Denied Money.

VICTIM IS IN HOSPITAL

Henry Barnes, 31 years old, of Ballston, Va., was treated at Emergency Hospital last night for severe cuts on his left arm, inflicted by one of two Negroes who leaped on the running board of his car as he was driving on T street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets.

Mr. Barnes told police that the Negroes on the left running board had slashed him with a razor when he refused demands for money. While the Negro was cutting him, Mr. Barnes was attempting to run up the window of his sedan. After he had driven several blocks, the men apparently became frightened and leaped apparently became frightened and leaped to the ground, making their escape up an alley.

Mr. Barnes drove to the hospital, where a number of stitches were placed in his arm. He was slashed twice on the shoulder and once on the wrist.

Police of the Eighth Precinct sent out patrols, but did not expect an arrest, as Mr. Barnes could give only a vague description of his assailant.

Mr. Barnes is employed as a mechanic at the Emerson & Orme automobile agency here. He had just completed a visit with a friend on Eleventh street when the attack occurred. His condition is not serious.

Garden Products Supply Is Ample

Advances in Prices Are Unwarranted, States U. S. Director.

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The housewife need take no alarm for the winter's supply of fruit and vegetables, or for their prices, the market news division of the United States Department of Agriculture indicated today.

Receipts of garden commodities are in normal quantity and W. H. Hall, director of the market news service, said there is no reason for believing there will be a scarcity.

"There has been no advance in the cost of production or shipment," he said. "Therefore advances in prices are unwarranted. The Government estimates that this is a normal year for these products."

The fruit and vegetable crops were largely made before the dry weather came on, Mr. Hall said.

Hoover Naffies Envoy For Ethopia Coronation

President Hoover has appointed H. Murray Jacoby, of New York, as special ambassador of the United States to attend the coronation of his Imperial Majesty Haile Selassie I, Emperor of Ethiopia. The ceremonies will be held at Addis Ababa November 2.

Brig. Gen. William W. Harts, military attache at the American Embassy in Paris, will accompany Mr. Jacoby as military aid. Charles L. Cooke, ceremonial officer of the State Department, will go along as secretary to the special mission.

Lucketts Youth Killed By Shotgun Discharge

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Aug. 13.—Beverly Fry, 19 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fry, who reside near Lucketts, was instantly killed yesterday at his home through the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

The boy was in a room alone when the accident occurred. It is said he went after the gun to shoot a hawk. His sister, who was on the porch, hearing the discharge, went into the room and found the boy dead in a chair. The shot had entered his forehead.

Walter E. Edge, United States Ambassador to France, is honorary president of the Paris chapter of the National Aeronautic Association.

Maryland Farmhouse Destroyed by Flames

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., Aug. 13.—Fire, said to have originated in the kitchen, totally destroyed the large residence on the Groolman farm, near Worton Point, tenanted by William Wheat, early this morning with an estimated loss of $5,000, partly covered by insurance.

Chestertown firemen, who were called, were handicapped by lack of water after a well had been pumped dry. Part of the furniture was saved and the tenant and his family escaped from the burning building shortly after the blaze was discovered. The estate was originally owned by the late State Senator William M. Slay, of this town, formerly of Wyoming, Del.

Speaker Against Milk Price Raise

Dairymen's Official Talks Before Conference at College Park.

Special to The Washington Post.

College Park, Md., August 14.—"It would be suicide to raise the price of milk in Maryland at the present time as such a step would only hurt the dairymen because it would break down the confidence the consumer has in him," it was stated by I. W. Heaps, secretary-treasurer of the Maryland State Dairymen's Association, here this morning in an address before approximately 150 farmers, agricultural agents and specialists who are attending the first annual Maryland farmers' marketing conference which is being held by the University of Maryland extension service, August 12-15.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, director of the University of Maryland Experiment Station, addressed the farmers on the place that research is taking in industry and agriculture, stating that it is now a part of the regular expenditures of many large concerns.

Another speaker on the morning's program was Dr. F. B. Bomberger, chief, Maryland State Department of Markets, and assistant chief of the division of cooperative marketing, Federal Farm Board. Dr. Bomberger pointed out to the visiting growers and specialists the importance of marketing farm products in an attractive and first-class manner.

J. R. Wells, of the division of cooperative marketing, Federal Farm Board, who was scheduled to speak this morning, was unable to attend, having been called away by urgent business in the South.

Student Saves Life By Parachute Jump

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Harry Ellis, 23, a transport student, became a member of the Caterpillar Club today when he leaped to safety from his wrecked plane over Curtiss Field.

Ellis was doing an outside loop when the wings came off. He "bailed out" and landed safely on the field. The plane crashed on the field runway and was demolished.

Memphis, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Harry B. Ellis, who jumped in a parachute from a falling plane at Curtiss Field, N. Y., lives at Cairo, Ill. He took a nine months' flying course here and went to New York to complete it.

G. O. P. WILL SELECT ROANOKE DELEGATES

Alexandria to Send 16 to Meeting to Pick Man to Oppose Glass.

PRAYERS FOR RAIN SAID

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

A meeting of the Republicans of Alexandria will be held within the next few days, following a call to be issued by John Barton Phillips, chairman of the city Republican committee, to elect sixteen delegates and as many alternates to the State convention in Roanoke, August 31, for the purpose of selecting a candidate to oppose Senator Carter Glass, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate to succeed himself, whose nomination was without opposition in the ranks of his own party.

Senator Glass is being opposed by the Republicans because he supported Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency. Prior to that time he was satisfactory to the Republicans as a dry, it was brought out at the convention held in Richmond.

Three candidates are expected to be in the field in the general election in November. The Prohibition party is expected to name James A. Edgerton, of Fort Lyon, near Alexandria, as its candidate, the question of selecting a candidate having been left by the convention to its executive committee. Mr. Edgerton was the Prohibition candidate for Vice President in the election of 1928, and it is understood he is willing to accept the nomination for the Senate if he is named.

A largely attended joint prayer service for rain was held last night in the Sunday school auditorium of the Southern Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Alexandria Ministerial Association. The Rev. Ernest M. Delaney, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, and president of the association, presided.

The funeral of Mrs. Samantha Robinson was held from Christ Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday afternoon. Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery. The deceased had for 30 years been a practical nurse, and was well known in the city. She is survived by two sons and five daughters: William and Reuben R. Robinson, Mrs. William Carr, Mrs. R. H. Pleasants, Mrs. Edward Robertson, Mrs. George Sampson and Miss Lucy Robertson.

Pallbearers were six grandsons of the deceased: Nelson Robinson, H. Robinson, W. Carr, F. Carr, R. Robinson and G. Sampson. Members of Mary Washington Council, Daughters of America, and of Friendship Council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, of which organizations she was a member, attended the funeral.

City Health Officer Dr. William Lewis Schafer has presented his report for the month of July, and in that period 17 cases of measles were reported, to lead the list on communicable diseases. Births totaled 55 while deaths were listed at 32. The baby clinic both at the health office and the Potomac welfare center examined 355 babies in the month.

Welburn Mills, aged 20, who gives his address as Hoadley, Va., and in the 1700 block Duke street, this city, was in police court yesterday on a charge of joyriding in an automobile belonging to Amos B. Cockrell, of 1011 King street, and was given 60 days in jail by Acting Police Justice John W. Brookfield.

Robert G. Carter, of the Carter Motor Co., had reported to the police that the car was taken from in front of his place on Saturday night or early Sunday morning, where it had been left for repairs, and later the machine was found in Clarke's garage, at Dumfries, where it had been taken after being partially wrecked on the Richmond Highway a few miles north of Dumfries. Cockrell swore out a warrant charging Mills with the theft of the car.

Acting Police Justice John W. Brookfield in police court yesterday morning dismissed a case against James Cole, aged 26, Negro, on a charge of possession of liquor, the man having a few teaspoonfuls of alleged liquor mixed with quinine and water. Cole, however, had in his possession "numbers game" slips, and was fined $25 and costs on that charge.

James Chester Wells, aged 30 years, of 1407 Prince street, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Wells, a son and daughter, George and Matilda Wells. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Edward McDonald, aged 35, died on Tuesday afternoon, at his home in Duke street extended, and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, with burial in Bethel Cemetery. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bessie Brandfield McDonald; four children, Edward, Robert Marshall and Kathleen McDonald, also his father, B. McDonald, and two brothers, Harvey and Randolph McDonald, all of this city.

Police Justice William S. Snow is absent from the city, as is also substitute Justice Harry F. Kennedy, and the session of Police Court yesterday was presided over by Attorney John W. Brookfield, who is the bailiff of the court. Police Sergt. Heber Thompson, who is acting police captain in the absence from the city of Capt. W. W. Campbell, acted as bailiff in expediting the wheels of justice, and these two officials disposed of seven cases.

Dry Agents Shoot Man in Still Raid

Madison County Prisoner in Hospital With Shotgun Charge in Back.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 13.—Suffering from the effects of a full charge of No. 6 shot in his back from a shotgun, fired by revenue officers as he was said to have been fleeing from the site of a still they had just raided, Jimmy Stringfellow, alleged moonshiner, of Madison County, was taken to the University Hospital today.

According to Sheriff John Hall, of Madison, Prohibition Inspectors Paul Nicholson and W. H. Fletcher went to the still about 4 o'clock this morning and laid in wait until Stringfellow and three companions came and started making whisky. When the officers closed in on them two of the men, Roy Knightson and Walter Ryder, were captured, but Stringfellow and Otis Ryder ran.

Several shots were fired by Nicholson with no apparent effect, and he chased Stringfellow about one-half mile before giving up the chase. The wounded man ran on some time, according to the story he is said to have told Hall, without realizing he was shot. He finally collapsed, but later recovered enough to get to a house and call for aid. Later he was taken to Madison and then on to the hospital.

Select Castle Elects Officers in Maryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Lonaconing, Md., Aug. 13.—The Select Castle, of Maryland, at its annual convocation here yesterday, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Samuel P. Eyler, Harney, select treasurer; Leonard Bankert, Silver Run, select marshal; James H. Sloan, Lonaconing, inside guard; Luther Bowman, Silver Run, outer guard; Edgar C. Yingling, Silver Run; Thomas B. Beall, Cumberland, and George McMurdo, Lonaconing, select trustees.

The local Castle gave a reception with program, following installation of officers.

FARMER'S SHOOTING IS DECLARED SUICIDE

Anne Arundel Man, Who Told Robbery Story, Killed Self, Says Jury.

WITNESSES ARE HEARD

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13.—That Clifton Borneman, 30-year-old farmer, of Arnolds, Anne Arundel County, whose body was found in a clump of woods near his home last Sunday, came to his death by a self-inflicted gunshot wound, was the conclusion reached by a jury of inquest of which Police Justice John W. Anderson, of Annapolis, was coroner, held here today.

Harry Hirsch, uncle of the dead man, with whom he lived, testified that Borneman told him he would rather be dead than living, and that he appeared to be mentally dejected the night before he was found dead.

Other witnesses examined were James Hill, Negro helper on the Hirsch farm; his 8-year-old nephew, Joseph H. Johnson, and Dr. Albert L. Anderson, who examined the body.

The Negro boy reported that Borneman borrowed the gun and two shells from him at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. It was 9 o'clock when the lad heard the shot. While but one report was heard both barrels of the gun had been discharged. Borneman, in the opinion of Coroner Anderson, leaned over the gun and pushed the trigger by means of a stick. However, he had but one wound in his body. No solution of the firing of other barrel of the gun has been advanced.

The shotgun belonged to Harry Hirsch and had been at Hill's home on the Magothy River for about a month. No mention of Borneman's story about an alleged attack on him by thugs several weeks ago was brought out at the inquest.

The State was represented by State's Attorney A. Theodore Brady, while George W. Russell was foreman of the inquest.

Sheriff at Blackstone Wounded by Prisoner

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 13.—Sheriff T. P. Jones, of Blackstone, was shot and wounded this morning by a Negro whom he was attempting to put under arrest for the alleged violation of the prohibition law. The man, who is said to have been identified as a man named Hawks, broke from the officer and ran into his home and procured a pistol with which he fired at the officer through a window, wounding him in the arm.

Sheriff Jones' wound is not regarded as serious and this afternoon he was reported to be resting comfortably. A large posse of men have been scouring the woods near Blackstone today in search of the fugitive and the police department here has been asked to keep a lookout for him.

STORED FOODSTUFFS APLENTY IN VIRGINIA

Quantity of Frozen Pork Is Greatest of Any Held in Reserve.

OFFSETS DROUGHT PERIL

Richmond, Va., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Cold storage supplies in Virginia tend to discourage any possibility of a food shortage in spite of the drouth's devastating effects.

The July cold storage report of F. C. Breazel, director of the dairy and food division of the department of agriculture and immigration, shows that the amounts of seventeen commodities in storage were greater on July 1 than on July 1, 1929, while only five showed a decrease for the year.

The greatest amount of any commodity on hand was that of frozen pork, 2,034,220 pounds, a gain of 624,165 pounds over the amount stored on July 1, 1929. Miscellaneous meats were slightly less than a year before with 1,180,800 pounds, a drop of 117,186 pounds since July 1, 1929.

Other commodities were reported in cold storage as follows:

Frozen beef, 809,468 pounds; last year, 829,034; loss, 19,566. Frozen lamb and mutton, 36,129 pounds; last year, 5,757; gain, 30,372. Fresh sausage, 66,560 pounds; last year, 5,787; gain, 60,773. Fish, 1,579,612 pounds; last year, 1,358,322; gain, 221,290. Chickens, 39,740 pounds; last year, 18,081; gain, 21,659.

Turkeys, 15,956 pounds; last year, 8,234; gain, 7,722. Miscellaneous poultry, 6,189 pounds; last year, 3,336; gain, 2,853. Eggs, 69,957 cases; last year, 44,579; gain, 25,378. Frozen eggs, 492,811 pounds; last year, 254,465; gain, 238,346.

Milk, 16,590 pounds; last year, 17,200; loss, 610. Creamery butter, 209,414 pounds; last year, 194,788; gain, 14,626. Packing stock butter, 8,542 pounds; last year, 660; gain, 7,882 pounds. American cheese, 725,507 pounds; last year, 1,409,743; loss, 684,236. All other cheese, 1,342 pounds; last year, 978; gain, 364. Edible fats, 1,450 pounds; last year, none; gain, 1,450 pounds.

Lards, 21,902 pounds; last year, 59,172; loss, 37,270. Miscellaneous, 14,880 pounds; last year, 1,170; gain, 13,680. Apples, 3,902 barrels; last year, 412; gain, 3,590. Apples, 1,314 boxes; last year, 75; gain, 1,239. Apples, 4,661 baskets; last year, 743; gain, 3,918.

Water Use Curb Voted in Culpeper

Restrictions Clamped On to Save Fast-Dwindling Supply for City.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 13.—Restrictions on the use of water in Culpeper, running from 10 per cent to 100 per cent of the amount used in July, were announced by Mayor S. R. Browning today. Until the last few days it was thought that the supply for the town would be adequate, but the rapid dwindling mountain run, the source of the supply, caused the council to meet in special session last night and make the new regulations.

Town Manager S. L. von Gemmingen said tonight that investigations are being made with the view of locating a supplementary supply of water. One possibility was an old well which was reputed to have a flow of nearly 500 gallons per minute and which would require only 3½ miles of pipe to connect it up with the town supply.

Under the new restrictions businesses must cut their consumption of water the following percentages: Ice cream plants and bottling works, 50 per cent; creameries, milling companies and produce houses, 25 per cent; laundries, 10 per cent; brick yards, 90 per cent, and railroads 100 per cent. The penalties for excessive use of water are fines, jail sentences, or loss of water service.

FLAMES BRING PERIL TO THREE VILLAGES

the battle against Madison County fires.

New fires broke out there yesterday, soon after one on Ragged Mountain, only a few miles south of the camp, was announced under control, by Forest Warden W. M. Utz, who moved his fire fighters to another near Criglersville.

Three bad fires were uncontrolled tonight in Paige County, despite more than 24 hours of concentrated fighting under the direction of Forest Warden W. H. Miller.

James P. Andrews, assistant forester, today issued a warning from the State headquarters, stating drought has made the situation unusually dangerous.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 13 (Special).—The Church of Christ at Bartonville, near here, was menaced today by fire, which swept over 15 acres of withered grass and shrubbery shortly after the passing of a railroad locomotive.

Workmen loading a car of flour gave an alarm, attracting others and their combined efforts saved the frame edifice. Sides of the building were being licked by flames from blazing shrubbery.

Residents of a suburban development here were alarmed today by a five-acre field ablaze and flames being carried toward their homes. Firemen, however, brought it under control.

Fire Fighters Excused.

Luray, Va., Aug. 13 (Special).—Torch bearers who during the day receive $3 and $4 from the State in fighting mountain fires in this county which have been raging for a week, at night when the main bodies of the fires have been stamped out, start new conflagrations in order to have employment on the following day, it is the assertion of county officials.

L. L. Good, living in the Stanley neighborhood of this county, last night said he saw half a dozen of the skulking forms of the torch bearers who had assisted officials during the day before in fighting the fires on Roundhead Mountain, Grindstone Mountain and Piney Mountains, spurs of the Blue Ridge in the Shenandoah National Park area, starting new fires throughout the territory. Today the county's official fire wardens are again fighting the flames started last night by the "fire stickers."

BATTLE TO SAVE APPLE CROP

An average of 28,000 gallons of water per day is being pumped from wells on the Robinson place near Winchester, Va., and rushed to the surrounding orchards in mule-drawn tanks in an almost frantic effort to save this year's apple crop. Many of the orchardists have given up hope of saving their 1930 apples and are concentrating their efforts toward saving the trees themselves. This is the first time in more than 60 years that orchards in the valley have needed water drawn up to the trees.

198 COUNTIES LISTED FOR DROUGHT RATES

I. C. C. Approves Freight Plans for Cattle in This Region.

REDUCTION 50 PER CENT

(Associated Press.)

A list of 198 counties in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Indiana to which the emergency freight rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission are applicable to relieve the drought situation was submitted yesterday to M. J. Gromley, of the American Railway Association by Secretary Hyde.

Mr. Hyde said the fifty per cent reduction in freight rates applies to live stock shipped out of the drought areas for feeding purposes but not to shipments of cattle to market. He said as other counties were reported as seriously affected by the drought they would be announced.

The Maryland counties included Allegany, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Washington.

Middleburg Horseman Badly Injured in Fall

Special to The Washington Post.

Middleburg, Va., Aug. 13.—Turner Wiltshire, horseman of Middleburg, was badly injured yesterday afternoon while schooling a horse on his estate near here.

The horse made a mistake in taking a jump and fell on Mr. Wiltshire, breaking both legs and fracturing his hip. He was taken to Fauquier Hospital, Warrenton, for treatment.

MAJ. GEN. MENOHER TO BE BURIED TODAY

Full Military Honors Will Mark Funeral Rites at Arlington.

CAVALRY TO TAKE PART

Maj. Gen. Charles T. Menoher, former chief of the Army Air Service and commander of the Rainbow Division during the World War, who died Monday, will be buried today in Arlington National Cemetery.

Chaplain Albert P. Vaughn, U. S. A., will conduct the services at the grave at 10:30 o'clock. Full military honors will mark the burial. The cortege will be met at the Fort Myer gate of the cemetery by the Third Cavalry Band and a squadron from the same regiment in command of Maj. John T. McLane.

Honorary pallbearers will be Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps; Maj. Gen. Ewing E. Booth, assistant chief of staff; Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, retired, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of the District; Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired, District Commissioner; Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, retired, and Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, assistant chief of the Air Corps.

Gen. Menoher was born in Philadelphia in 1862. He was graduated from the Military Academy in 1886. After his return from France he was placed in charge of the Army Air Corps.

He died in St. Elizabeths Hospital of pneumonia. He had been ill a short time.

Water From Tank Cars Used to Fight Mine Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Midland, Md., Aug. 13.—The fanhouse of Mine No. 17, Consolidation Coal Co. at Klondicke, near here, was consumed by fire yesterday afternoon with $5,000 loss.

The flames spread to the air shaft and the Midland, Lonaconing and Frostburg fire companies had considerable trouble in subduing the flames owing to water shortage. Two tank cars containing 20,000 gallons of water were brought from Mount Savage and the shaft was flooded. The woods was set on fire from burning embers and the men fought this for some time. Oxygen tanks were placed in the mine for the men after the air had been cut off from the burning of the fanhouse of mine No. 17.

FIRST FOOD PRICE PROTESTS IN DROUGHT GIVEN PRESIDENT

relenting in sections fringing their States.

Good rains fell in Missouri and showers were forecast for the farm belt last night and today. Other light rains fell in the northern Mississippi valley, but over most of the 12 States from which the governors are coming drought still held a firm hand.

Ten of the 12 governors either were here or on their way. The two other State heads will be reprsented by proxies. Gov. Flem D. Sampson, of Kentucky, will be represented by Senator Robsion, of that State, and Gov. Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas, will send Harvey T. Harrison, a Little Rock lawyer, and T. Roy Reid, assistant director of extension of the University of Arkansas, to represent him.

Governors Who Will Come.

The governors who will attend in person are: Henry S. Caulfield, Missouri; Louis L. Emmerson, Illinois; Harry S. Leslie, Indiana; Myers Y. Cooper, Ohio; William G. Conley, West Virginia; John G. Pollard, Virginia; John E. Erickson, Montana; Clyde M. Reed, Kansas; John Hammill, Iowa, and Arthur J. Weaver, Nebraska.

President Hoover will call the conference to order in the Cabinet room at 2:30 p. m., the late hour being selected to permit those coming long distances to arrive in time. The governors will remain for dinner at the White House, after which further details of the proposed relief will be discussed.

Following a policy similar to that accepted in the Mississippi flood, the President is expected to lay all the facts before the governors and then ask each to designate a relief commission to cooperate with Federal, State and local bodies in checking up the needs in each Commonwealth.

Legge, Bestor to Attend.

Chairmen Legge, of the Federal Farm Board, and Bestor, of the Federal Farm Loan Board, also will attend the conference. Tomorrow, the President will confer with representatives of three farm organizations and by the end of the week he hopes to have a relief machine well under way.

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, en route to attend the governors' drought relief conference in Washington called by President Hoover, today said the President's plan, as reported in the newspapers, did not seem to solve the problem.

"My understanding," the governor said, "is that the government plans to offer relief to any drought-stricken farmer, provided his community guarantees the loan. This method of financing does not seem to me to solve the problem.

Full Responsibility by U. S.

"If the men who have to guarantee this form of financing felt able to approve the loan, the farmer would not have to be sent to the Government for aid, but would be cared for in the region."

Gov. Emmerson said he believed this was a problem the Government would have to assume full responsibility for, risking the possibility of a loss if the farmer was unable later to meet his obligations.

The governor said conditions in northern Illinois are more or less satisfactory, but he deplored the drought damage in the southern section. He said there are three perils: The loss of crops, the loss of dairy herds and prairie fires. At Springfield, the governor said, there is danger of a water shortage.

FAIRFAX CONSIDERS FEDERAL LAND DEAL

Road Bureau and Supervisors Visit Area Near Mount Vernon Entrance.

PLAZA PLANS STUDIED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

W. F. P. Reid, chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, has called a special meeting of the board for 10 o'clock Monday morning to consider the question of relinquishing the land owned by the county at the entrance of Mount Vernon estate to the Federal Government. The land was viewed yesterday morning by the county supervisors and the representatives of the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. More than two hours were spent in going over the grounds and the Government's plans for a plaza development.

The Fairfax supervisors have on a previous occasion authorized the Bureau of Roads to develop this land for parking and road purposes as they saw best, but have refused to convey absolute title for the ground to them. They have granted a perpetual easement to the land. This was at first agreeable to the bureau officials until it was found that the county owned a small strip of land for a road right of way where it was planned to build a large convenience station and also a lunchroom. This can not be built on any land except that owned by the Federal Government, so the bureau officials are insisting that the county turn this land over to them.

A joint picnic meeting of the Woman's Missionary and the Ladies Aid Societies of the Presbyterian Church at Vienna will be held today at the Bannockburn Farms, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake at Oakton.

The Women's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal Chapel at Baileys Cross Roads this afternoon will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers in the parish hall.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce has taken official notice of the continued drought which is causing the business man and farmer alike a great loss. County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr asked the chamber to petition Gov. John G. Pollard for authorization to abolish the 5 per cent penalty for this year, which applies to all delinquent taxes, the nonpayment of the penalty to apply to the farmers alone. President Edmund Allen told the chamber that while the farmers are hard hit this year and needed assistance, the merchant who depends on the farmer is also suffering and should not be discriminated against. This brought the statement that an opinion had already been given in Richmond that such remission of taxes can only be granted by the action of the State Legislature.

It was also suggested that the chamber urge President Hoover to intervene to prevent the Federal Land Bank from foreclosing mortgages on farmers who will be unable to meet their notes as they become due this fall, and therefore would have to relinquish their lands unless some extension of time is given.

Acting upon the suggestion of Thomas R. Keith, the agricultural committee of the chamber was instructed to make a study of the act of Congress creating the Federal Farm Loan Board to determine what organization is necessary in Fairfax County to enable the local farmers to benefit by cooperative loans. All of the three resolutions were referred to the agriculture committee with instructions to call a special meeting to act on them some time in the near future.

Several persons spoke of the present school situation existing in Mount Vernon and Lee Districts. The residents of these communities stated that the county should improve conditions there within the next year, as many had already begun to send their children to schools in Washington and Alexandria to enjoy better educational facilities. The educational committee recommended that schools at Lorton and Franconia be built as soon as the funds are available, pointing out that from data available, $10,000 in taxes are collected, more each year than is spent, in the districts in question.

A resolution was passed by the chamber thanking Col. Schultz, commanding officer of Fort Humphreys; M. M. Barnard, superintendent of the District of Columbia Workhouse, and the Alexandria and Fairfax County fire departments for their excellent work in fighting the forest and field fires in Mount Vernon and Lee Districts last week.

Resolutions of regret at the death of Capt. George K. Pickett, of Groveton, a director of the chamber, were passed, and appropriate remarks to his memory were made by President Allen.

The road committee reported that the forces of the State Highway Commission were making rapid progress in the elimination of Snake Hill and Gum Springs curves on the Washington-Richmond highway. A petition was received from the citizens of Dranesville District asking the chamber's support in having the road from Floris to the Little River pike at Perkins and Dowdens Corners improved. This was referred to the highway committee for report at the next meeting.

A complimentary membership was presented Carl Allensworth, of Vienna, who has assisted the chamber in a number of radio broadcasts. Other persons admitted to membership were Miss Fannie Hill, of Newington; J. Walter Biggers, of Lincolnia, and Prof. W. R. Crabill, of Herndon. The next meeting of the chamber will be held at Andrew Chapel on the Alexandria-Leesburg pike.

John F. Bethune, who is beginning his last month as mayor of the town of Falls Church, reported to the town council that the finances of the town are in better shape than they have been in years. He states that there is money enough in the bank to take care of every outstanding indebtedness for the first time in the history of the town, and the council will close its year on August 31, with a small balance.

The report of the treasurer shows that $20,999.57 in taxes was collected during the current year and $1,406.79 was collected in back taxes. Other income during the year included $7,500 borrowed from the bank at the beginning of the year, a balance of $484 from the previous treasurer, $1,848 paid in for licenses, fines and fees and miscellaneous receipts amounting to $862.16.

The year's disbursements included $7,582.55, loans repaid with interest; $1,000 school bond retired; school bond interest, $3,407.50; $3,500 was spent for current school expenses; $1,039.50 for street lighting; $1,636.25 for salaries; miscellaneous expenses amounted to $3,497.48, and $8,080.85 was spent for the road ward expenses. The balance now on hand amounts to $3,356.84.

The road accounts show that of $3,969.35 allotted to the First Ward, $861.31 remains unexpended; Ward Two received $4,421.78 and has a balance of $760.70 on hand and the Third Ward got $2,988.05 and has left over $776.30. There is a cash balance in the ward account of $2,398.31, and in the general road fund $958.83. The sum of $500 of the $958.83 has since been allotted to the three road boards.

There will be a meeting of the Mount Vernon Grange tomorrow night in Sherwood Hall at Woodlawn.

The Woodridge Women's Missionary Union will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Cline at McLean.

President Edmund Allen of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce has called a special meeting of the board of directors of the chamber for tomorrow night in the chamber's offices at Fairfax. They will discuss plans for the chambers' participation in the annual Fairfax County Fair which begins on September 10. Chamber of Commerce Day of the fair will be celebrated on September 11, when the local chamber will be the hosts to the chambers of the surrounding counties and cities.

The Fairfax 4-H Club will meet this morning at the home of Mrs. James U. Kincheloe in Fairfax, where members will prepare and serve a dinner under the supervision of Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent. This afternoon Miss Thomas will address the members of the Burke Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Edna Daniel on, "Budgeting Time and the Income."

Tomorrow morning Miss Thomas will give a talk on the preparation of vegetables at the meeting of the 4-H Club at Navy, and that afternoon she will attend a meeting of the Floris Home Demonstration Club and give a demonstration on the use of a pressure cooker for preparing a meal and also its use in canning fruits and vegetables.

Drought Twice Delays Baptizing in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 13.—Because of the drought it was impossible to baptize a new church member at Lignum, 12 miles east of here, so the church authorities there called on the members of the Culpeper Baptist Church for permission to use their baptistry.

The permission was readily given, but the town authorities refused to sanction the use of the 3,000 gallons of water needed to fill the tank. They did, however, give their permission to use the pool below the dam which impounds the town water supply.

Quartet Will Run In Charles County

Two Announce Candidacy for Orphans' Court Judgeship.

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., Aug. 13.—Four candidates for county offices have filed papers with the Board of election supervisors of Charles County. Two of these are candidates for reelection to office of judges of the Orphans' Court. They are Ernest Henderson and John H. Rice. They are both subject to the Republican primary, which will be held on September 8.

Edward L. Sanders has filed for nomination to the office of county treasurer on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Sanders was formerly deputy treasurer for the county. The fourth candidate is Robert V. Cooksey. He has filed for nomination on the Republican ticket for sheriff. He is at present a deputy sheriff of the county.

W. Purcell Gardiner, Democrat, and Julian T. Simpson, Independent, have cards in the local papers announcing themselves candidates for sheriff, but neither has filed papers with the Board of Election Supervisors.

Annapolis Fears No Water Famine

Alarm Need Not Be Felt for Several Weeks, Say Officials.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13. — Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt today joined T. Roland Brown, president of the Annapolis Water Co., in reassuring citizens that there is no immediate danger of a water famine because of the shortage of the supply at the water works as a result of the prolonged drought. Meanwhile the two officials received with thanks the offer of Gov. Ritchie, acting in cooperation with officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the Washington, Annapolis & Baltimore Electric Railway, to have an ample supply transported from either Washington or Baltimore if an emergency arises.

Gov. Ritchie said the Baltimore & Ohio would be willing to transport the water in tanks of 20,000 gallons capacity if the need arose. Harry T. Conolly, general manager of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis line, assured the city officials that the company stood ready to lend cooperation in like manner. The cost of transportation would be meager, it was pointed out.

However, Mayor Quenstedt and Mr. Brown said there is no cause for alarm, at least for several weeks if at all.

PRIMARY RESULTS.

The primary votes in Alabama, Arkansas, Nebraska, Ohio and Oklahoma did not develop any landslides, tidal waves, or evidence of unprecedented drought. Politically the country seems to be in the horse latitudes, waiting for a breeze. Republicans of various stripes have been renominated for the Senate, ranging from Insurgent Norris in Nebraska to Old Guard McCulloch in Ohio. For the Senate Arkansas sticks to Joe Robinson, Alabama regular Democrats nominate John H. Bankhead, Oklahomans put former Senator Gore to the front and Ohio Democrats select former Representative Robert J. Bulkley, a wet, while preferring a dry for the gubernatorial nomination.

With some wind but no rain, the wet and dry "issue" was bandied back and forth in several States, but no one can tell whether the drift is wetward or dryward, if there is any drift. The party managers on both sides seem to have set their sails to catch both wet and dry breezes, with sublime impartiality. If the dry Republicans of Nebraska had been really dry they would have turned down George Norris, who deserted their cause in 1928 by supporting Al Smith; but evidently they admire a man who has the courage to betray a party and a cause after he has used them as aids to victory.

The light vote for senatorial candidates in Alabama is proof that Tom Heflin has a big following. He advised his friends to refrain from voting at the primary, and to concentrate upon him as an independent in November. Many thousands of them acted upon this advice.

Tom Gore will give Senator W. B. Pine a lively race in Oklahoma. Pine was unopposed for the nomination, while Gore easily won the Democratic run-off primary.

Of all the senatorial candidates selected on Tuesday only Joe Robinson, of Arkansas, is as good as elected. It is well that he should win by a heavy vote. His usefulness has been greatly enhanced by his ability to utilize the lessons of experience. He is a national figure, standing foremost among Democrats, capable of setting aside partisanship when national interests are at stake, and wise in counseling moderation to his party colleagues. Look out for Joe Robinson as the presidential nominee of the Democratic party in 1932.

The primaries, being party decisions, have given little or no further information upon which to forecast the November results. If there is a popular revolt against the Republican party the victory of Norris in Nebraska, Pine in Oklahoma and McCulloch in Ohio may mean nothing. Former Senator Hitchcock will beat Norris if there is a countrywide drift toward Democracy, and Gore will win in Oklahoma. McCulloch is a dry while his opponent, Bulkley, is a radical wet, and since Ohio is dry, McCulloch ought to win.

The renomination of Republican members of Congress, almost without exception, discourages the idea that there is to be a popular uprising against the Republican party in November. If Republicans were disgusted and ready to leave the party they would have slaughtered somebody in the primaries, on the way out. But in North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and other States where the Hoover administration and the tariff bill have been under criticism by aspiring rivals of incumbent national legislators the Republicans have renominated the men in office, or promoted them, as in the case of Representative Dickinson, of Iowa, nominated for senator.

The tariff controversy will be an old story by November. The country now sniffs at the bogey of a "billion dollar tariff." Foreign reprisals have evaporated into thin air. There is no juice left in the tariff as an issue. The Democratic party, if it could unite its divided parts long enough to voice a common desire, would cry out for an issue. But there is no issue. The old parties will fight in November from mere habit, without caring what they are fighting about. In the meantime the census shows that several normally Republican States are to have more members of Congress, and some normally Democratic States fewer members. The next Electoral College will show a proportionate gain in Republican votes.

NO FOOD SHORTAGE.

All cause for alarm over the food supply should have been dissipated when the Department of Agriculture estimated last week that an average yield of food crops would be harvested. The shortage in feed for live stock will have little effect upon the supply of human food. Certain localities are experiencing a shortage of green vegetables, but there is no occasion for either storing excessive amounts of food or boosting prices.

Some unscrupulous merchants are trying to scare the people into laying up food supplies before prices rise. But there is no occasion for inflated prices, and any attempt at monopoly or price fixing will be scrutinized by the Department of Justice. President Hoover is concerned over reports of profiteering, and every effort will be made by the Government to keep the laws of supply and demand in operation and free from the influence of price manipulators.

The chief danger lies in the development of a feeling of alarm among the people. It is well that the Department of Agriculture and the White House are keeping the country fully informed as to the damage caused by the drought. Propaganda by the alarmists can be discounted when there is accurate information at hand.

Inflated prices would work to the disadvantage of both the consumer and the producer. The consumer would have to pay more for his food, and therefore would buy less. Producers would have little chance of gaining extra profits and would suffer from curtailments of their markets. Inflated prices create a vicious circle, much like that caused by unemployment in times of depression. They can be avoided if dealers in foodstuffs will endeavor to maintain stability, and if the public will remain level-headed.

ECUADOR'S CENTENARY.

The Republic of Ecuador celebrates today the centenary of its independence. La Gran Colombia, comprising what are now the republics of Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador and Panama, did not fulfill the expectations of its founder, Bolivar, and upon his withdrawal from that government Ecuador began its movement for independence. The movement culminated in the constitutional assembly which met at Riobamba on August 14, 1830, and drafted a constitution. This constitution was adopted on September 11, 1830, and Gen. Juan Jose Flores was elected first president of the republic. He was potent in directing the affairs of his country for many years, but was forced to flee to Europe in 1845 in consequence of a revolutionary movement. Returning in 1860, he gave additional service to his country until his death in 1864.

Through many political and natural vicissitudes, Ecuador has progressed in spite of all drawbacks, and is now facing a bright future. Its territorial area is very large, and within its boundaries are all climates and a wonderful variety of products of the soil, waters, forests and mines. Its valleys are among the most fertile portions of the world. The country has a population of only 2,000,000, or thereabouts, but it could easily support 50,000,000. Hence the possibilities inherent in a fertile soil and varied resources indicate that the Ecuador of the next century, with peace and tranquillity, will take a high rank among the nations.

The accomplished Minister of Ecuador in Washington, Dr. Homero Viteri Lafronte, furnishes to the current number of the Pan-American Bulletin a most interesting survey of the characteristics and history of his country and its people. This review is well worth the study of Americans, who instinctively rejoice in the progress and prosperity of the republics that belong to the New World galaxy.

AIRPLANE MURDERERS.

The airplane bombing of Providence, Ky., was a fiendish act. Diabolical violence is not unusual in labor disputes in mining communities, but the Providence affair represented a deliberate attempt to wipe out a whole community. Nine bombs in all were dropped, four of which were "duds." No one was killed in the explosion of the five bombs, as the aim of the pilot was poor and his missiles were amateurishly made.

The authorities have in custody the pilot of the plane that carried the bombers and it is expected that they will soon be apprehended. The question arises as to what crime will be charged against them. Kentucky has no statute penalizing the dropping of bombs from airplanes. The Government can proceed against the pilot for transporting explosives without special license, for deliberately dropping dangerous objects from aircraft and, presumably, for altering the license label on the plane, but the penalties attending conviction on such petty charges as these are insufficient for the punishment of this atrocious crime. For want of a statute under which the bomber of Providence may be prosecuted, it may be that he will go free, or escape with a slight punishment.

There is needed a Federal statute under which any one who is so bold as to use an airplane for murderous assault can be brought to account in a Federal court. The States are laggards in dealing with crime. The airplane defies State boundaries; it may be taken off the ground in one State, make a raid in a second, and escape to a third. Congress has full authority to deal with crimes perpetrated from airplanes. Now that it has been demonstrated that there are fiends who will not hesitate to use airplanes for murderous purposes, steps should be taken to provide a Federal statute under which they can be punished.

EXIT FIVE COMMISSIONS.

The announcement that five commissions appointed by President Hoover have been disbanded can be welcomed with the same enthusiasm that hailed the appointment of these bodies. Much of the opposition to presidential commissions arises out of their reluctance to dissolve when their work has been completed. If the dead timber is to be cleared away as soon as its usefulness is at an end, there can be no objection to the President building temporary bridges to otherwise inaccessible stores of information.

Mr. Hoover has reason to be proud of the commissions he has dismissed from his service. One group that went to Haiti restored internal order in the island and prepared the way for a more satisfactory relationship between Haiti and the United States. Another commission untangled the controversy over bridging San Francisco Bay. A third was instrumental in the coordination of all veterans' affairs under a single agency. A fourth settled a railroad strike, and a fifth negotiated the naval limitations treaty that was recently approved by the Senate.

If the President's commissions still at work complete their respective tasks with the same dispatch that has been shown by these five, and give up the ghost with equal equanimity, there will be no public complaint. The President has announced his intention to appoint other commissions as the need arises. He has done well to establish precedents in that difficult art of erasing from the political spectrum those commissions that have completed their tasks.

AMERICAN TRAVELERS

From the Topeka Daily Capital.

Americans are the greatest travelers in the world. It is estimated by the Department of Commerce that during the year 1927 16,350,000 Americans crossed over into Canada, some for just a few hours, others for a few days or a few weeks and others for a few months. It is estimated that these tourists spent in Canada the sizable sum of $197,000,000 and that presumably does not include the drinks they paid for while there. Canada gets rather more than one-quarter of all the tourist money spent by our citizens traveling outside of our own country.

During the year 1927, touring Americans spent in foreign countries not less than $729,000,000. These gadabouts spent, according to estimates, $2,700,000 in Austria; $7,000,000 in Egypt looking at the Sphinx and the Pyramids; $190,000,000 in France, which is a good deal more than their payments due us on money borrowed and which they have been complaining about ever since the World War; $40,788,000 in England and Scotland; $15,000,000 in little Switzerland; $31,000,000 in Italy; $20,000,000 in Germany; $8,000,000 in the Irish Free State, &c.; a grand total of $349,384,000 handed over by our globe trotters in Europe in one year.

Of course our travelers spend more money in Canada than in all the other countries in both the North and South American continents, but just as a side line we handed over to the Cubans $12,500,000 during the year 1927 and more than that in 1929. Our travelers spent $10,000,000 in Mexico in 1927 and probably fully $15,000,000 last year. We contribute out of our tourists' pockets $7,000,000 to Japan and squander $8,500,000 in China.

Who gets that?

These American travelers also acquire a taste for foreign merchandise, mostly a fad but a right expensive one.

So important is this American tourist trade to foreign countries that most of them maintain travel bureaus with offices in New York. Among these nations are Italy, Germany, Norway, the Netherlands, Spain, Switzerland, Denmark, South Africa, Russia, France, Sweden, Canada, Japan and Chile. They flood the country with seductive literature embellished by pictures that give the person who reads and looks, the wanderlust.

American tourists have been abused without stint, but just the same they are welcomed in every country on the globe because supposed to be the easiest marks who have ever inhabited this mundane sphere. At that, for the most part, they are a good-natured, free-spending lot, who think they must tip everybody they come in contact with, no matter whether any service has been rendered or not.

The American tourist is the fat dove of peace or better still, the crowing rooster or the cackling hen of prosperity in every country he or she visits. The idea that all the other nations are hunting for an excuse to get into a war with the United States is mere nonsense. Maybe they look on us as gabbling geese, but geese that lay golden eggs. They understand perfectly well that if they make war on us it will immediately cut off one of their greatest sources of revenue.

We are pouring hundreds of millions of good American dollars into foreign countries. We are wearing ourselves out climbing their mountains, trotting around through their picture galleries and cathedrals, largely wasting our time but not theirs. Why should any one think these foreigners are such shortsighted chumps that they want to lose our patronage?

JUST A MOMENT.

By STEPHEN B. STANTON.

When we are sure of response we are expansive.

What a world of too much it is! Yet the simple remedy of less is so difficult.

Egotism defines itself through the faults of others.

To the substance of happiness, of how little importance are the supplementary trifles for which ambition contends. Its basic factors are above vicissitudes of station or fortune.

Men are thought to be devoid of what only through self-control they repress.

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE HUMAN BODY.

By scientists, both wise and old,
The human body, I've been told,
Which weighs about 145,
And is what mortals call alive,
Is made of water, nitrogen,
Carbon, sulphur, iron and then
Potassium, sodium, iodine,
Magnesium, trace of fluorine,
Chlorine, calcium, phosphorus,
Alike in monarchs as in us.

They've unanalyzed our flesh and bone,
To them precisely now is known
How much of this, how much of that Combine to make us lean and fat.
The lovely maiden, fair to see,
Is water, mostly, just like me,
Plus so much carbon, iron and all
Those chemicals I won't recall.
'Tis proved this stuff we all possess,
No one has more; no one has less.

Well, as they've measured, dump them in
A great retort of glass or tin,
And stew them well and stir them round
And see if man you can compound.
I fancy you could mix for weeks
And never get two rosy cheeks,
Or from the batter you prepare
Produce a maiden young and fair,
Or anything that eats or drinks
Or laughs or sighs or sings or thinks.

I do not doubt this curious list,
But think some properties were missed.
To me the human body seems
To be composed of fancies, dreams,
High courage, tenderness and skill,
Ambition, wisdom, strength of will,
Love, pity, mirth and all the arts
And these not given in equal parts,
And thus we differ, you from me,
Who share the self-same chemistry.

If You Observe Which Way the Sheep Are Led, You Know Where the Slaughter Pen Is.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

WHEN I was a boy of fifteen, full of faith in the sincerity of men, I got my first glimpse of the bait used to trap simpletons.

A carnival had come to town, and by reason of working in a newspaper office I made contact with a cynical young man who offered to show me the various attractions without cost.

He explained how and why he gained free admission, and thereafter I stood at his elbow while each "barker" in turn told the assembled suckers of the wonders inside his tent.

Each oration ended with an urgent appeal to step up and buy tickets for the next performance, beginning right away, and the last word was a signal to my new-found acquaintance and several of his kind.

They, and I with them, elbowed a way to the ticket stand and pretended to lay down a coin.

Once inside, they found a rear exit and thus made their way to the next tent where another "barker" harangued the simpletons yet uncaught, and again at the close of the speech they assumed the role of decoy and led the sheep to the slaughter.

It is a scheme as old as the art of fleecing the unwary, and yet it continues to garner a harvest because it is based on sound psychology.

People unskilled in the art of thinking will go the way the crowd does.

And almost invariably they go wrong, for the crowd never is right except by accident.

They do not buy stocks because the price is low but because the crowd is buying—which means they buy at the top of the market and lose their shirts.

They do not clamor for war because they are offended but because the crowd is clamoring, and thus they become witless pawns in a smarter man's game.

To follow the crowd is to be victimized, for the crowd doesn't think and the unthinking are easy prey for the predatory shrewd.

Where the decoy leads the way and the crowd follows after, there you will find a wild man from Borneo who plays chess between shows.

When in doubt, keep out of the crowd.

You will be lonely at times, if you depend on your own common sense for guidance, but you won't come out of the tent calling yourself hard names.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

THE TALE OF F. FRAMINGHAM ZILCH.

I.

F. Framingham Zilch once was happy,
His manager was carefree and gay;
He seldom was peevish or scrappy
But now he is always that way.
Complete is the change in his makeup
And gone is his pleasure in life!,
And this is the cause of the shakeup—
He has to play golf with his wife!

II.

He once was the life of the party,
The hale-fellow type, and well met;
His laugh was a laugh that was hearty,
But now he is terribly wet.
He snaps at all persons about him,
His nature now feeds on all strife
And friends get along well without him
Since he began golf with his wife!

III.

He used to smile early and often
And seemed just the soul of good cheer;
Your spirit would warf up and soften
The moment you knew he was near.
Today he will bark at companions
And chase little boys with a knife;
He likes to throw babies in canyons—
It's all due to golf with his wife!

IV.

Time was when his nature was sunny
And being his chum was a joy;
Life's problems to him were just funny—
A regular happiness boy!
But these days he'll snap at a stranger;
(Reports of such actions are rife);
To be in his presence means danger
Since Zilch took up golf with the wife!

V.

I knew him when gentle and kindly;
He was a good pal all the while.
He loved to do favors quite blandly,
We called him "The Man With the Smile;"
But now he kicks dogs and hates flowers—
A bitterness governs his life;
His nature now curdles and sours—
It's all due to golf with his wife.

L'Envoi.

My tale with this moral now closes:
Oh, golfers, if you avoid woe,
When she the first twosome proposes,
Be strong enough, boy, to say "no!"

BLUEBERRIES! BLUEBERRIES!

Blueberry time is here again
And nearly every place
The people who can not abstain
Are purple in the face.
The tablecloth, the shirt front and the chin, the nose, the ear
Bear witness through our noble land
Blueberry time is here.
The hotel menus now are blue—
And so, indeed, am I—
For this is when they overdo
Their darned blueberry pie.

THE LOW DOWN.

Dr. William Beebe, says the Los Angeles Times, recently went down in a diving suit 1,426 feet and set a record for others to dive at for some time to come. And he did it under pressure of 600 pounds to the square inch. The workers in the Tamarack mine of Michigan delve almost a mile in the earth. Coal miners in Britain and Belgium go down 3,000 and 4,000 feet. The Victoria quartz mine in Australia has gone down 4,300 feet into the bowels of the earth. The Comstock mine of Nevada has to fight temperature more than pressure in the great depths. The heat sometimes reaches 130 degrees. Pipe lines alone save the miners from destruction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Observations of Elkton Resident on Water Preserves, Drought-Hazards Insurance, Forest Fires and Feed Value of Rag Weed.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The drought, now demanding national study, has necessarily drawn attention to the water supplies of cities, communities and, indeed, of families and individuals in general. The forest fires which accompany the drought have a vital relation both to the water supply and to any project of farm relief worthy of the name. The effect of forests and woodland in preventing the rapid draining off of rainfall into rivers and streams by retaining it in the leaf-enriched soil was first brought to general notice by Gifford Pinchot, national forester under Roosevelt, and who waged a great fight for their conservation.

The destruction of our forests and woodland is still a matter of national concern. So also is the ravaging of farms by fire. Though soil with an excess of decayed vegetation is benefited by being burnt over, to ordinary farm lands this is destructive, removing needed moisture and plant food, rendering them less able to resist drought or to induce rain fall.

Not, then, as charity to the farmer who thus suffers loss to his woodland, fields, fencing and buildings through no fault of his own, but as wise public policy, there should be some system of Federal or State insurance against losses of this kind; also in the present agricultural crisis, provision should be made for this entire year.

Maryland compensates owners for property destroyed or injured by fire, and brings suit against outsiders responsible for the fire. When those guilty can not be discovered the farmer must bear his losses alone. There is obviously here a manifest social injustice. The farmer should not have to shoulder the cost of restoring his land.

A farmer who, with others, spent several days in April fighting a forest fire here has just expressed the opinion to me that the State will not pay anybody anything, that none of the men commandeered by fire wardens have yet received a penny for their work. I wonder if this is characteristic of the kind of deal the farmer gets.

As to the serious national shortage of hay and other live stock feeds, the value of ragweed, so abundant after grain crops everywhere, ought to be made generally known. As a boy I first noticed cows eating it, and tasted its bitterness in their milk. Though unsuitable for milk cows, which it in no way harms, it should now be utilized for other live stock. It is healthful. An enterprising Jerseyman made a fortune with a patent medicine containing the bitter tonic extracted from it and giving it a more pleasing name. Ragweed should be put to a better use in this time of stock feed shortage, as it contains considerable protein. A neighbor, the best farmer in my immediate locality and who has farmed in the South, tells me that in Tennessee ragweed is regularly cut and cured like hay, and that it makes good feed.

Motor-Patrol System Should Supplement and Not Supplant Foot Patrol, Thinks "Crow Hill."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I see by this morning's paper that in the motorizing of the Police Department Maj. Henry G. Pratt thinks automobiles should augment officers on foot, while in the opinion of Commissioner Crosby motor patrol should take the place of the foot patrol almost entirely. I suppose the cavalry complex may account for the latter's idea, but it is my belief that he will see reason to modify it when put to the test.

As a boy I lived in the populous old Second Precinct, where the experiment in motorization is to made. It has always been a notoriously restless, noisy and troublesome precinct. Any policeman who has ever been assigned to its beats will tell you that in order to preserve a decent condition of peace and quiet it is necessary to keep in closer personal touch with its denizens than is possible in an automobile, especially when the motley Saturday night throngs perambulate its streets and alleys.

The Police Department will not be thoroughly efficient until it is properly motorized. Motor patrol and foot patrol should supplement each other. But it will be unfortunate if, with a mistaken trust in the general efficiency of the motor patrol, we cease to place our chief reliance on the vigilance of the foot patrolman.

CROW HILL.

Suggests That B Street Boulevard Be Named After Benjamin Franklin.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that the Nation has at last begun really to make Washington the most beautiful city in the world, and doing it with a speed and magnificence that few realize, serious consideration must now be given to naming the new boulevards in the District which are a part of the general plan.

The two most important ones are the present B street northwest and the proposed thoroughfare to connect the Union Station Plaza with B street at Pennsylvania avenue.

I would suggest that the two be considered one thoroughfare and be called Benjamin Franklin boulevard. Franklin was most truly the early representative American who typified all that was great and best in business, art, science, invention, diplomacy, literature, humanitarianism and government. He was the most outstanding American for the last 40 years of his life. He signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and helped form both of those documents. He had the high respect of the entire civilized world as no one other American ever did in all those troublesome years. His handiwork is written into every fiber of every thought and act of our national life—yet he has no visible enduring memorial in the Capital City of the Nation. He is the peer, as a citizen, of Washington and Lincoln.

Mrs. Edgerly To Depart for New England

Widow of General Will Sojourn in Mountains and Maine.

WHEN Mrs. Winfield Scott Edgerly, widow of Maj. Gen. Edgerly, U. S. Cavalry, leaves within a few days for the White Mountains and points in Maine, one more interesting personality joins the large number of Washingtonians seeking a summer holiday in the cool retreats of the North. Mrs. Edgerly will pass some time in New England and later will go to Cooperstown, N. Y., her former home, and where she has been a frequent visitor for a period of years.

Like so many women whose lives and interests have been allied with the Army Mrs. Edgerly has elected to call Washington "home" after residence in various parts of the world. On the panorama of her life is stamped a memory page of years packed with adventure, a colorful chronicle reflecting the movements of Gen. Edgerly in Europe, in all parts of the United States and beyond the Pacific.

The span of activity of a United States Cavalry officer is always picturesque yet few of them have been the guest of the kaiser at Berlin or have represented their Government on more colorful missions than was the good fortune of Gen. Edgerly. And with him in farflung Army posts was Mrs. Edgerly, who found life a splendid adventure whether in the midst of the gayety of Berlin or Cairo, or in tiny barracks of remote border posts.

Since the death of the general Mrs. Edgerly has passed much of her time in Washington.

Hoovers Entertain Guests From St. Louis.

The President and Mrs. Hoover have with them at the White House Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland A. Newton and son, John Newton, of St. Louis, who arrived in Washington for a short stay.

Pan-American Delegates to Hear Concert

Invitations Sent Out by Dr. Rowe for Event September 11.

Invitations have been sent out by the Director General of the Pan American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, for a concert of Latin American music to be given on September 11, on the Esplanade of the Pan American Building in honor of the delegates to the Inter-American Conference on Agriculture, Forestry, and Animal Industry.

The sessions will be held in the Pan American Building, but the conference is given under the auspices of the United States Government. The delegates will arrive in Washington from most of the Latin American republics on September 8, and will be in the Capital until September 20. They will be received at the White House and will be entertained by their respective envoys in this country.

The concert will be attended by the Latin American diplomats, and as usual will be a picturesque affair. The Navy band will play with assisting artists.

Mrs. Conger Pratt, wife of Gen. Pratt, is the guest of her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. C. Pratt, at 2400 Sixteenth street. They have recently returned from duty in Honolulu; Gen. Pratt will fly from Dayton, Ohio, and will be here in a few days.

Your Mattress Made New Like This

He couldn't sleep late in the morning. He was tired of sleeping by sun-up—a proverbial early riser. Now all this is changed. He welcomes an added hour or two of sleep. It is all because his wife sent the mattress here to be made new.

This sleep-producing difference between your old mattress and a new one is amazing. Try it!

Let us make your old mattress into a sanitary, buoyant new one. Phone us and a representative will call promptly with sample book of attractive tickings from which to select a new covering.

Your old mattress will then be taken to our plant and put through a sterilizer. There 230 degrees of heat kills all germs. The felt, hair or kapok is taken out—run through a cleaner—every particle of dirt is removed. Then the felt, hair or kapok is put into charming, brand-new ticking you select.

The work is done in one day at a cost of only $4 to $9.

BIASED COURTS SEEN BY NORMAN THOMAS

HITS AT ADMINISTRATION

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Norman Thomas, executive director of the League of Industrial Democracy, addressing the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs here tonight said Herbert Hoover talked of virtues of rugged individualism in his campaign, but that rugged individualism had not been the keynote of his "administration by commissions."

The former Socialist presidential candidate said:

"The farmers got the dubious benefit of the Farm Relief Board, business men were spared the full shock of panic by the Federal reserve banking system, the unholy alliance of well-to-do and the rich got a 1 per cent reduction in income taxes.

Sees Unemployed Hurt.

"Only the miserable army of the unemployed, usually more or less slaves to the machine and its owners, when they work, have been rugged individuals. They had to be or die. * * *

"The chaotic, ill-organized, profit-seeking collectivism of America gives to those guilty of the crime of poverty or the misfortune of being factory hands not even the same justice it gives the rich and privileged."

Mr. Thomas mentioned the Sacco and Vanzetti case, the Centralia case, and said: "Whatever any one may say of Carolina justice in labor cases arising out of Gastonia and Marion strikes, there is no explanation in terms of justice, liberty, or respect for individuals, to account for the relentless conviction not only of the Gastonia strikers concerned in a brawl which a police chief lost his life, but also of Marion workers, for minor offenses, while those guilty of cold-blooded murder of a woman, of kidnaping and flogging and of shooting at workers at Marion's factory gates went scot free."

This, he said, was a criticism, not of Carolina justice so much as of American justice.

Why He is a Socialist.

He said he was not a prohibitionist because of the "demonstrated failure of prohibition to do more good than harm."

He is a Socialist, he said, because socialism, as he understood it, encouraged seeking a larger measure of freedom in the full understanding that the condition of that freedom is the capacity to cooperate for the common good, using and improving the forms of democracy in the effort.

His address tonight followed upon a prohibition clash before the institute today, when Ernest W. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, and Mrs. Marion Booth Kelly, a member of the New York State advisory council of the women's organization for national prohibition reform, debated the prohibition question.

Thugs Bind Mother And Set House Afire

Erie, Pa., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Two men broke into the home of Mrs. E. W. Myers, 15 miles south of here late last night, and after tying the woman with ropes, set her clothing afire, touched lighted matches to carpets and curtains and fled. The woman fought herself free of the ropes and was found writhing in the street by neighbors.

Today Mrs. Meyers was reported in a critical condition in St. Vincent's Hospital here while authorities scoured Erie County for the assailants. The Meyers home was little damaged by the fire. While their mother was being attacked, Mrs. Meyers' three small children slept in another room.

Man Dies, Helen Morgan Kin Hurt in Auto Crash

Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—One man was killed and two women, identified by hospital authorities as the mother and aunt of Helen Morgan, actress, were injured when their motor car crashed into a telephone pole at the bottom of a hill near Croton late last night.

Lewis Wilk, 48, of New York, driver of the car, was thrown through the windshield and died with a fractured skull. Mrs. Lulu Morgan and Mrs. Elizabeth Dillon, of Chicago, were treated for cuts and bruises at an Ossining hospital. Frederick Long, of Chicago, a fourth passenger, escaped injury.

Jacobie, V. M. I. Star, Killed in Auto Crash

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Lewis Jacobie, 20, baseball star of Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., a resident of this city, was killed here early today in an automobile collision.

A car in which Jacobie was riding with Richard Van Brunt, a friend, collided with another occupied by Negroes. Van Brunt was hurt slightly.

Personal Taxes Estimate Given

Capital Assessor Says Sum From Levy to Total $7,000,000.

Receipts from personal taxes are expected to mount to more than $7,000,000, William P. Richards, District assessor, estimated yesterday. This will be a new high mark in personal tax receipts. Personal property taxes last year yielded $6,776 907.33.

Transfer of tax resurns to the assessors' books has been begun by clerks and immediately this has been completed a check will be made to ascertain persons who have filed returns in the past but failed to do so last month for the current fiscal year. Investigation will be made in each case by field investigators and action taken against persons who have not complied with the law, Mr. Richards said.

Charles A. Russell, deputy assessor, said that 31,700 persons filed personal tax returns last month. Bills for personal taxes will be sent out next month. The personal tax is payable in two equal installments in September and in March. Approximately 20,000 of those who filed returns will not have to pay any personal property tax, Mr. Russell estimated.

8 plies under the Tread

Here is* EXTRA SAFETY!

FOR the high powered, high speed cars of today, with needed quick starts and stops, you should have this extra protection. Just look at the inside of this Firestone Anchor Super Heavy Duty Tire. There are eight plies of cords under the all Non-Skid, Center Traction Tread. It is a big—tough—strong tire—a construction that insures against punctures and blow-outs.

Come In and See for Yourself!

We have cut up various brands of tires, so that you can see the inside construction. Come in and make these comparisons, section for section, and you will readily see the superiority of Firestone.

We sell and service the complete line of Firestone Tires, Tubes, Batteries, Rims, Brake Lining and Accessories, and actually give you greater values.

DOUBLE GUARANTEE

Every tire Firestone manufactures bears the name "FIRESTONE", and every tire we sell carries the Firestone Unlimited Guarantee and ours. You are doubly protected — absolutely assured every dollar you spend buys real quality and satisfaction. We guarantee that you will get all the miles out of your tires that have been built in by Firestone.

The Firestone Anchor Super Heavy Duty Balloon has a double cord breaker—8 plies under the tread. Some other makes have no breaker at all and some a single breaker made with old-fashioned, square woven fabric that Firestone discarded when they developed the balloon tire.

NEW RADIO MODELS SHOWN TO DEALERS

Home Recording Feature Incorporated in Line to Be on Sale Soon.

SPEECHES ARE HEARD

A new line of Radiolas, ranging from the set which answers the apartment dweller's problem to one having home-recording apparatus along with the newest superheterodyne radio and phonograph equipment, was shown to more than 250 RCA Radiola dealers at Wardman Park Hotel yesterday evening.

The dinner and display were under the sponsorship of the Jos. M. Zamoiski Co., local Radiola distributor, for the purpose of introducing the new models to the retailers in advance of their presentation to the public and to outline the extensive newspaper advertising campaign soon to be launched.

The home-recording apparatus is a new feature in connection with radio sets. By means of a simple microphone apparatus connected to the amplifier system of the instrument it will be possible to record excerpts of favorite broadcasting programs, such as "Amos 'n' Andy," the children's recitations and songs or father's speech.

Records Cost Little.

The records are inexpensive and measure 6 inches in diameter. A new needle especially for the purpose is used to impress the sound on the record. The record may be played back immediately after it is made and may be kept indefinitely.

Of the four new Radiola models exhibited three included the superheterodyne circuit, incorporating, for the first time, the advantage of screen grid tubes. The other instrument was a tuned radio frequency type with screen grid Radiotrons, in a compact cabinet, built to sell at a very low cost.

In addition to such improvements as elimination of AC hum, push-pull amplification, real volume control and simplified tuning, two of the models include a tone color control which permits the listener to adjust the tone to his individual taste and to suit the accoustical requirements of the room in which the instrument is operated.

Other Speeches Made.

In addition to Mr. Zamoiski, who officiated as chairman, the dealers were addressed by E. H. Butler, sales manager for the Radio Corporation of America in this district. W. H. Anthony, jr., told the dealers about the distinctive features of each of the new sets.

F. P. Guthrie, manager of the Radio Corporation of America, was present at the speakers' table, as were several advertising and sales promotion officials of the company.

The dealers were told about the benefits that would rebound to the advantage of the public from the concentration of all the research, engineering and manufacturing resources of the Radiola division in Camden, N. J.

The new Radiola line will be shown to the public on September 6.

World Air Congress Delegates Appointed

(Associated Press.)

Designation of three American representatives to the fifth International Air Congress at The Hague in September was announced yesterday by the State Department.

Maj. George E. A. Reinberg, American Assistant Military Attache for Air at The Hague; Lieut. Comdr. George D. Murray, assistant naval attache at The Hague, and A. Douglas Cook, assistant trade commissioner at Berlin, were named.

RETURN AFTER DISAPPEARING

POLICE DROP ACTIVITIES

St. Louis, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—A $70,000 errand upon which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern, wealthy retired St. Louis couple, embarked Monday and from which they returned early today, remained unexplained tonight because the couple thought their mission was "of no concern to the public."

Police made it their business yesterday by launching a widespread search for the aged couple, fearing that they had been kidnaped or duped by swindlers while en route to Toledo, Ohio. The couple returned home early today expressing resentment that their trip had brought so much publicity.

Mrs. Kern visited police headquarters today and had a 20-minute conference with Detective Chief Kaiser. The chief declined to make public the conversation except to say that Mrs. Kern repeated her remarks that the trip to Toledo was not of concern to the public. Police dropped the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Kern declined to tell newspapermen whether they were still in possession of a $70,000 cashier's check which Kern, about 70 years old and a retired flour buyer, took from his bank here Monday. The couple left their train at Defiance, Ohio, Monday night in company with some other persons, with whom they drove away in a car.

They were not heard from again until they came home at 1:30 a. m. today. Mrs. Kern said they had alighted at Defiance and motored to Toledo because they were notified while on the train that their trip was causing publicity. The couple would not discuss the negotiations which carried them to Toledo.

Jobless in New York Counted as 234,854

(Associated Press.)

A total of 234,854 jobless, or 3.4 per cent of New York City's population of 6,959,195, was announced for the Nation's metropolis yesterday by the Census Bureau's unemployment count.

Report to Be Made On Seized Spirits

Disposal of Big Supply Is Problem Which Faces Virginia Official.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Aug. 13.—Thomas Whitehead, of Amherst, special representative of Attorney General Saunders in prosecution of liquor cases, will report to Mr. Saunders such facts as are in his possession relative to the disposal of an automobile load of whisky seized near Rustburg Friday night.

Mr. Whitehead said this morning that section 90 of the prohibition law prescribes that liquor seized by officers shall be under control of the attorney general and does not permit any trial justice or officer of any court to give away any part of the contraband to any person for any purpose. He said he would report to the attorney general for further instructions.

When an automobile turned over at Beaver Creek, it was found to be loaded with bottled-in-bond whisky in pint containers. It was said by Commonwealth Attorney Robert Russell that 1,200 pints had been seized. Later in the day Prohibition Officer C. A. Bailey said that only about 400 pints were in the car.

Events of the War 13 Years Ago Today

AUGUST 14, 1917.

Pope Benedict made another peace proposal which allied leaders indicated would be declined.

British forces continued to advance, crossing to the eastern bank of the Steenbeke River.

Secretary McAdoo informed congressional leaders $9,000,000,000 more would be needed during the year to meet war costs.

British losses for the first two weeks of August totaled 21,722, of which 4,647 were killed.

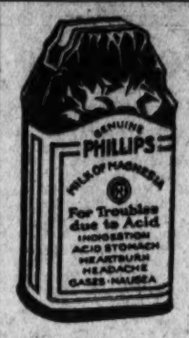
Man Held for Jury In Mystery Death

Investigators Hold Mosely, Who Tells Police He Warned Victim.

John H. Mosely, colored, 33 years old, of I street, near Fourth street northwest, was held for action of the grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Joseph Lester Goddard, of H street, near Fourth street northwest.

Goddard, who was 33 years old, died at Casualty Hospital Tuesday night. He was found unconscious on the sidewalk near Mosely's home, suffering from head injuries.

Mosely told police that Goddard, accompanied by his wife, came to the I street house. An insult to a woman caused the fight, during which Mosely struck the white man, police say. Mosely told police that he had warned Goddard to stay away from his house. A third man, Frank Otis Pearce, 34 years old, of I street, near First street, was also arrested, but was not held.



When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 80 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 80 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

Behind the Screens

—With NELSON B. BELL—

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, it is officially announced by United Artists, will not be the Robin Hood, the D'Artagnan or the Petruchio of the screen in his next all-talking picture, "Reaching for the Moon." For the first time in many years he will appear in the garb and the manner of 1930. He has also put the "hoisa" and the "how nows" behind him in favor of a modern story from the pen of William Anthony McGuire. "Reaching for the Moon," incidentally, is Irving Berlin's first film production.

Mr. McGuire, in case you have forgotten, is the author of a considerable list of feeble hits that have only managed to run two or three years apiece on Broadway, including "Kid Boots," "Whoopee," "The Three Musketeers" and "Rosalie." He also wrote "Six Cylinder Love" and "Twelve Miles Out"—or was it "Twelve Cylinder Love" and "Six Miles Out?" It would make a difference.

Now under contract to Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, this former Notre Dame boy has already completed the dialogue for the next Dolores Del Rio-Walter Huston film. In fact, Mr. McGuire is said to be so content in Hollywood that all the legends about his difficulty with the second act will have to be scuttled.

Edmund Goulding, whose suave direction of "The Trespasser" and "The Devil's Holiday" won for him general recognition as one of the better craftsmen in the sound medium, will direct the new Fairbanks film, which is scheduled to go into production in Hollywood very soon.

Mr. Goulding, borrowed from Paramount, is credited with being one of the most versatile men in the film colony; he composes music, writes novels and plays that reach the public, turns out polished scenarios and dialogue, directs expertly, and is, if all must be told, an excellent actor himself.

Fairbanks, Berlin, Goulding, McGuire, Schenck . . .

Well, I mean to tell you!

And just so that you won't continue to lie awake nights worrying about it, United Artists emphatically denies the statement, attributed to a Coast columnist, that Philip Barry will adapt "Smilin' Thru" to the audible screen for Joan Bennett's stellar uses.

Mr. Barry, it seems, will do no such thing.

On August 29, simultaneously with the Washington premiere of John McCormack's first and only talking and singing motion picture, "Song o' My Heart," Bob West will make his local bow as guest organist at the Fox Theater. Mr. West is a Brooklyn, N. Y., favorite and comes here—after a brief vacation—direct from the Fox Brooklyn house, where he is being replaced this week-end by Ron and Don.

And that reminds me, Harley L. Clarke, president of the Fox Films Corporation, is lunching with President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House today as the highlight of a brief visit to the Capital.

Before we get to this Charles Francis Coe business, you may be interested to know that next week's attractions in the downtown, first-run sector will be as follows: RKO-Keith's, Bebe Daniels, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "Dixiana;" Fox, Constance Bennett and Lew Ayres in "Common Clay;" Metropolitan, Frank Fay and Lilyan Tashman in "The Matrimonial Bed;" Palace, Charles Ruggles, Ginger Rogers and Stanley Smith in "Queen High;" Columbia, Norma Shearer, Marie Dressler and Rod La Roque in "Let Us Be Gay," second week; Earle, Richard Barthelmess, Neil Hamilton and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in "The Dawn Patrol," second week.

Now then, speaking of Charles Francis Coe, Charles Francis Coe, author and expert criminologist, has been signed at a meager wage of $10,000 a month to do talking pictures for Paramount.

Mr. Coe's new novel, "The Other Half," is creating an appreciable sensation by its astonishing revelations of the methods, operations and private lives of the gangster kings, much as his "Swag," "Hooch," "Gunman" and other similarly expository tales have done.

It is expected that Mr. Coe will bring the extraordinarily intimate knowledge of crime conditions revealed in his writings to sound pictures of the underworld.

And if he does, look out for duck bumps, or goose flesh, or whatever it is you're subject to along with the gray hair and cold shivers!

Since we are going in for novelists turned playwright, why not a word about playwrights turned novelist? Echo and a couple of other fellows answer why? So——

Milton Herbert Gropper, a former youthful protege of Belasco, whose first notable play, "Ladies of the Evening," was given its premiere in the National Theater in this city and recently was presented as a talking picture at RKO-Keith's under the title of "Ladies of Leisure," has written his first novel. It is a detective mystery story with the intriguing—whatta word!—title of, "Is No One Innocent?"

Mr. Gropper has endowed his first literary effort with what is probably an entirely original theme in yarns of this character. His book concerns itself not with uncovering who committed the crime, but in finding out who didn't.

We once wrote a piece for the paper to the general effect that there must be something wrong with a game that exacts so heavy a toll in shattered lives as the movies. The name of Lina Basquette, the former Mrs. Sam Warner, added to the list that already includes Barbara LaMarr, Mabel Normand, Wallie Reid, Alma Rubens, Jeanne Eagels and too many others, only serves to strengthen that belief.

When I am riding home late at night in somnolent dignity in my 52-passenger Brill, I shall have to ask LeRoy Sherman, Jack Pepper and a Packardful of playboys not to draw up alongside and about at me like that!

My nerves, Ella!

STAUNTON
A MILITARY preparatory school that really prepares a boy, not only to enter college, but with training that equips him to STAY there. Consult reports of Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (copies in hands of public school superintendents). Note the college success of Staunton graduates. Examine reports for several years and observe our consistent leadership among preparatory schools that are essentially military.
286 graduates now doing successful work at 88 colleges and universities.
Do not misinterpret the term "Honor Military School." IT HAS NO ACADEMIC SIGNIFICANCE. Staunton Military Academy was the first military school from the Potomac to the Rio Grande to receive this War Department rating; for several years the only Honor Military School in the South. An Honor School today, but upon that basis alone we would not solicit or desire your patronage.

"Domestic Refrigeration belongs to the gas industry"
(THIS STATEMENT WAS ATTRIBUTED TO THE LATE CHARLES STEINMETZ, ELECTRICAL WIZARD, BY HUGH FARRELL IN HIS BOOK "WHAT PRICE PROGRESS?")
SOME countries have "natural advantages" which enable them to excel in certain fields of industry.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES GIVE SOME COUNTRIES PRE-EMINENCE IN CERTAIN INDUSTRIES.
● Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator, has "natural advantages" which enable it to excel all others in the field of domestic refrigeration.
● This is a strong statement but there are facts to back it up. Electrolux has no moving parts to wear out or reduce efficiency. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water freezes as silently as nature makes ice. The freezing unit of Electrolux is simplicity itself (a cold drawn steel tube with a harmless refrigerant hermetically sealed). It will last a lifetime.

SIMPLICITY OF DESIGN GIVES ELECTROLUX NATURAL ADVANTAGES OVER OTHER REFRIGERATORS.
● The average cost of operation is so small that users are amazed—from 4 to 10 cents a day, depending on the size model.
● Electrolux is automatic but it is NON-MECHANICAL—and that's the difference. It is not merely quiet; it is NOISELESS.

COSTS 4 TO 10 CENTS A DAY TO OPERATE, DEPENDING ON SIZE OF MODEL.
● If you are thinking of buying a refrigerator you should see Electrolux before deciding. Drop in at any of our sales rooms and see one of these miraculously simple refrigerators in operation. You, too, will agree that domestic refrigeration belongs to the gas industry.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART

Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Heard Jill's Scream.

Hanna, her grave eyes on his, once more moved the bright splendor of her head as though there rested on it an intolerable weight. She said slowly: "I heard her scream very, very clearly."

"How about you, Sheridan?"

"I'll be darned if I can tell you what I heard," said Sherry, wearily lifting his head from his hands. "A whole lot of running and shouting and yelling. I was way up in the attic and I thought some one must have fallen downstairs or something, so I came piling on down, and about a second after I got to the door the lights went on and I saw——" He broke off, glared frantically about him and plunged back into he sheltering support of his hands.

"Are there stairs from the third floor to th attic?"

"No, there's some sort of ladder there, flat against the wall, that goes up to a trap door."

"All right, Chatty—you next."

"I was just coming back down the north corridor, Gavin. I didn't know who it was that screamed, but I was terribly frightened and I tried to call out to om, but before I could even move some one came running by me toward the stairs—they nearly knocked me over, and they didn't stop at all."

"They—there were more than one of them, then, Chatty?"

"No, no; there were only one of them, but I didn't know whether it was he or a she so that's why I said th'y," explained Chatty, her voice trembling in spite of her most valiant efforts. She added desperately: "Oh, Gavin, I never, never can get pronouns straight, not even where it's so horribly important, but there was only one of them—I do know that and they didn't stop even when they almost knocked me over."

"Some one in the north corridor. Was your room in the north corridor, Ray?"

"No. It's down a little jog almost at the end of the south corridor. I didn't hear anything because I was in bed and I had all the covers over my ears and I was crying," explained Ray, the dreadful and touching dignity of a child wounded to the quick making the small, stern face smaller and sterner.

"I was crying because Joel had been very, very rude to me indeed, and that is all that I am going to tell you about it, Gavin, and if that makes you think that it was I that killed Doug King, you will just have to think so, and so will the judge and the lawyers, because they can't make me talk about things I don't care to talk about, no matter how much they send me to jail."

The Course of True Love.

Gavin said, a smile lighting the fine dark eyes. "My dear, I don't believe that even a judge would send you to jail, and it's quite unnecessary to go into details about Joel's outrageous conduct. He looks to me as though he thoroughly regretted it."

Joel said in a voice that was 10 years younger than his bride's: "Ray, I think that you're the hardest, most unfeeling girl that I ever met in my whole life. I practically went on my knees to you up there, asking you to forgive me for getting you into this ghastly mess and you wouldn't even listen. All you want to do is to make me feel like the original Gadarene swine."

"Being blasphemous isn't going to help you one bit, Joel Hardy," commented Ray coldly. "N-no one in this world has any right to call any one else a cry baby and a c-coward and a whole lots of other simply disgusting things and then to——" The dignified voice broke in a small squeak of sheer misery, and Joel, reckless of his riveted audience, swept the rigid occupant of the trivet into his arms, where she promptly dissolved into an excellent imitation of Niobe.

"Don't cry, my blessed baby, don't, don't—I can't bear it when you cry, I'm the vilest brute that ever lived to make you unhappy even for a minute."

"Are we engaged in trying to find but who murdered Doug King or in chaperoning Ray and Joel through their first quarrel?" inquired Trudi grimly. "Personally, I don't quite seem able to give their troubles my undivided attention."

"Oh, Trudi," said Lindy, her eyes touching the shorn brown head buried in Joel's shoulder with a very lovely gentleness, "Ray's luckier than we are * * * she didn't see—Doug. I don't believe that it seems very real to her. I think that we ought to be awfully glad that it doesn't seem real to her."

"Well, it seems real to me," said Trudi briefly, "and I should think it might seem fairly real to Joel, too. I don't want to interrupt the course of true love, but if everything's all jake with the young Hardeys, I feel more in the mood for an inquest. Where do we go from here, Gavin?"

"We go back," said Gavin Dart. The smile had faded in his eyes. "Back to the north corridor, where some one ran past Chatty Ross. I believe that every one's accounted for but you, Larry. Was it you?"

"Certainly not. I wasn't anywhere near the place. As a matter of fact, I was going through the linen presses down at the opposite end of the house. The door had banged to behind me and I came out just in time to hear Joe shouting; I went on past him down the stairs into the hall. Chatty was downstairs by then, of course. I had to push past the lot of them to get in to Jill."

"Then according to all the rest of your accounts, no one but Chatty was in that corridor," said Gavin Dart slowly. "And according to Chatty, one of you is lying. Well, for the time being, that's that. Every one accounted for at the time of the scream, aren't they?"

"Every one but you," remarked Kit amiably. "Or are you exempt from accounting, Gavin?

Gavin, meeting the lazy irony of those pensive eyes with a somewhat deeper irony, said quietly:

"Not precisely. I thought that I'd explained when I first came in that I was out in back exploring the service quarters. I must have been down below when Jill screamed, as I didn't hear a sound until I heard my name called."

Cellar Door Locked.

"Down in the cellar, you mean?"

"No, no, the cellar door was locked. I worked over it for a minute or so, thinking that it might be stuck, and then started up for the kitchen. That's when I first heard whoever it was that called."

"All very tidy, circumstantial and circumspect," conceded Kit blandly. "And as you were saying when I so rudely interrupted, we're all accounted for at the time of the scream, with the slight reservation that at least one of us is lying. . . . What's next, Your Honor?"

"Well, next I'd like to get the entrances to this room straight, if you don't mind. Let's see, there are these doors from the main hall and this one to the right of the fireplace from the service quarters. Oh, and those French windows opening onto the terrace, of course. That's all?"

"That's all."

"Good. Now about the stairways. There's the main one that runs up to the third floor, the service stairs from the kitchen that Tom and I used—no other service flights, Lindy?"

"No. The servants' quarters are all in that wing."

"Then with the ladder to the attic all means of getting up and down stairs are accounted for, aren't they?"

"No," said Lindy. She moved a little, so that the firelight fell more brightly on her upturned face and once more the air was fresh with violets. "There's another staircase, Gavin."

"Another staircase?" The amazement in his voice was only a faint reflection of the startled faces in the circle. "Another staircase where?"

"Another staircase from the back of the closet in the priest's room to the space behind the altar in the chapel. It goes down between the walls."

"No, no—not really secret. It was just a way for the priest to go back and forth to the chapel without disturbing the rest of the household. I mean there aren't any secret panels or anything mysterious like that about it. The door at the back of the closet has a handle on it and the one behind the altar has a little thumb latch, though I don't believe that you'd notice it if you weren't looking for it."

"Every one but myself is perfectly familiar with it, then?"

"Oh, no, indeed—I've never told a soul about it." She gave him once more that lovely rueful smile, at once an apology and a defense for past folly. "You see, being the most arrantly romantic of all romantic little idiots, I did try to pretend to myself that it was a secret staircase and a staircase that you tell every one about isn't exactly a secret, is it? Aunt Seraphina showed it to me when I was 7 years old, and we piled a lot of old boxes and bags at the back of the closet to hide the door handle, and I've kept the secret ever since. I always thought it would be a simply wonderful place for Hide in the Dark, but I was so afraid that some one might see me coming out and that that would give it away that I never used it. It's such a lovely little staircase—I'm sorry that it isn't a secret any more."

Chatty cried excitedly, "Oh, but Lindy, don't you think that maybe Doug knew about it? Don't you remember how he was prowling out there trying to see if there weren't some way that Kit could have got in while you were doing the mirror trick?"

The words trailed away under the sudden penetrating attention of Gavin Dart's eyes.

Knew About Stairs.

Kit Baird, smiling a little at the pallid confusion of the guileless countenance, said imperturbably:

"I doubt very much whether Doug King knew anything about the stairway. It happens that I did, however, and it's perfectly true that I used it to get to Lindy while she was doing the mirror trick. The raincoat was simply a base subterfuge."

Chatty demanded blankly: "Well, but Kit, why in the world did you want to frighten poor Lindy so that you made her drop the mirror and spoil the game? I should think——"

Oh, you shouldn't, you shouldn't," urged Kit, mockery dancing once more in his eyes, "or you might possibly stumble on the theory that the reason that it was essential for me to join Lindy even at the risk of frightening her into dropping the mirror was that I, too, am the most arrantly romantic of all idiots."

Chatty stammered incredulously. "Oh, but Kit, you aren't romantic at all. About Lindy, I mean——"

The red-headed young man didn't cast so much as a glance on the rosy confusion of the hapless Chatty. Still smiling, hands linked behind his head, eyes on something beyond the darkness, he said softly: "Go to the foot of the class, least observant of all Eve's daughters! You're wrong again * * * I am quite romantic about Lindy."

Lindy, a handbreadth from him, did not stir. Only her eyes moved, not toward him, but toward that place beyond the darkness that his had found, as though they had a tryst.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A TWO-WAY conversation between a man deep down on the floor of the Pacific Ocean and fliers speeding high in the sky in an airplane is the latest freak broadcast to be attempted by the N. B. C. tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 5 p. m.).

Capt. A. B. Henderson, a diver, will descend to the bottom of the ocean floor miles off Venice, Calif., carrying a special microphone to describe the fish and marine flora. Cruising on the water in the immediate vicinity will be a fast yacht equipped with special short wave transmitters and receivers, to pick up and relay the diver's story to the riders in the plane. And when the airship's passengers speak their words will be relayed through the same agency to the man at the bottom of the sea.

The plane will be piloted by Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson and will have on board several women fliers.

The efforts of Whichone to wrest from Gallant Fox the American turf championship will be reported to radio listeners Saturday afternoon (WRC, 3:50 p. m.) from the Saratoga track.

THE first court litigation over the rights to material used on the radio may be the outcome of the disagreement between Yolande Langworthy, writer of "Arabesque," and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Langworthy, according to Variety, quit her $150-a-week position with C. B. S. last week when the latter turned down a commercial offer of $500 weekly for "Arabesque," a sustaining program.

"Arabesque" was broadcast on Monday evening, over Miss Langworthy's protest.

Damage caused by fire on board the yacht Electra, a floating radio laboratory, probably will be repaired in time to allow Senator Guglielmo Marconi to address the Institute of Radio Engineers meeting in Toronto, Canada, on August 20, as planned.

IT is rumored that Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks will appear together on the air on a commercial program over a national network early this fall, at a reported fee of $15,000 for the single engagement.

A new vocal group over Station WJSV is the Radio Girls Sacred Singers to be heard next, tomorrow evening, 10:30 p. m.

Ross Gorman, heard frequently through WRC, claims the distinction of being one of the most versatile artists on the air. He has played 27 musical instruments in various broadcasts.

Wilfred Glenn, bass of the Revelers Quartet, was 23 years old before he knew he could sing.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

BLOOD PRESSURE AND T. B.

M. B. writes:

1. Why do consumptives have low blood pressure?

2. What does a low temperature signify?

3. Is it better than a high temperature?

4. What are symptoms of mouth cancer?

REPLY.

1. Consumptives develop low blood pressure as they become extremely weak. The slight degree of low pressure is said to develop in the early stages and is of no importance except as a point in diagnosis.

2. Lack of pep and strength.

3. As a rule it is.

4. Physicians decide that mouth tumors and ulcers are cancers because of their appearance and histories. An ulcer of the mouth which will not heal is probably cancer, especially if the subject is a tobacco user, or has bad teeth, or has a very dirty mouth.

ITCHING AFTER JAUNDICE.

T. L. F. writes: I had yellow jaundice eight months ago and since then have been troubled with an itching throughout the entire body, after which my skin turns yellow and remains so for a few days. I have been advised that an operation for gallstone is necessary. I had one attack of gallstones eight months ago, but have never been troubled since then. Is the itching due to the gallstones, and is there any cure for it? That is the only thing ailing me. I am on a diet.

REPLY.

A jaundice is oftentimes a symptom of gallstones. It can be caused by other disorders.

The itching is caused by the effect of bile on the nerves of the skin. Hot baths, Turkish baths and sweats and plenty of water internally helps to get the bile out of the skin.

Dare Interprets the Mode

An early fall ensemble of fine black wool with tiny red and white squares in the material. The crepe de chine blouse exactly matches the wool in color and design. (Courtesy of Dupouy-Magnin.)

Paris, Aug. 13.

THE practical can be chic!

And this is a fact that every one of us must learn, must drum into our minds until it becomes an instinct.

What, then, is the difference between the practical and the plain? Just why does one woman in a tweed suit, brogues and a vagabond hat look so very chic, even aristocratic, and another in the same tweed suit and accessories look so hopelessly plain and altogether "practical?"

Well, I think it is a matter of feeling on the part of the individual. A chic woman knows she is chic and correctly dressed for the certain occasion that requires this type of ensemble, while the plain woman feels as though she is wearing "practical things." She is, but why be so hopelessly obvious about it?

Take your "well-dressed man," for example. What could be plainer and more practical than the ensemble fashion permits a man to wear? Yet is he dowdy about it? No. Some men are—and if you can study what makes some men dowdy and some not, when they both wear the same type of garment, you will understand wherein lies the difference between plainness and chic in the practical feminine ensemble.

Wouldn't you like to be Cinderella for once? Only Prince Charming—or is it Princess Charming?—are quite out of style for a modern woman, so instead of waiting for anything so old-fashioned, sit down and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for illustrated leaflet telling you how to make the most beautiful nightgown and negligee set you ever saw! Honestly, it is a dream, and not at all hard to make from our simple directions. Well, anyway, a stitch in time saves nine, you know, but in this case it is going to be a stamp in time saving you plenty of dollars!

• • • •

At the Grande Ecart, even though the smart Parisian women have long since fled Paris for the resorts, one still sees many a beautiful evening toilette being worn by the strangers who flock to Paris from all parts of the world. A stunning American woman wore a long red moire gown, cut very low in the back, with a black velvet cape lined in white and collared in white fox. A printed chiffon gown in pastel rose worn with a gold lame coat, and a white georgette gown with a hip length cherry velvet wrap I also noted, for their smartness.

• • • •

When a fall ensemble is black wool with tiny white and red squares, and when the blouse to be worn with it is black crepe de chine printed with the same tiny squares; and when the whole is a Dupouy-Magnin model, what do you think I would do about it? You've guessed it, I would sketch it for you, wouldn't I? And that is just exactly what I did, and so here it exactly is!

You'll always find interesting information in the weekly Dare fashion letter. So look for it in The Sunday Washington Post every Sunday.

The Goofus Hornet

The Goofus Hornet's a musical cuss
But only one tune can he whoop;
"The Monotonous Blues" is the name of it—
It goes, boop-boop-a-doop.
He also plays it on a croupy cornet
That has lost all tone and ring—
Which is why I prefer hornets of the usual kind,
The sort which you know only sting!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

SWEET PEAS AND OTHER GARDEN FLOWERS.

THIS is the time to do two very necessary things in your garden: First, your sweet peas will be requiring some attention. These gay blossoms, if we would have them continue to flaunt their lovely colors, must not be allowed to become dry at the roots.

The best way to overcome this tendency is to mulch heavily instead of merely watering them over the surface. You can easily do this by placing cuttings from the grass about the vines' roots. Do not be sparing with the grass, because it will be a labor and time saver in the long run.

Such a mulch will do a lot toward conserving moisture about the roots of your sweet peas. Yet even with the aid of a mulch it will be necessary at times to do some watering. When you do use water, see that the ground is well soaked. Use a stick to determine the penetration of the moisture. To do much good the water must penetrate the soil to a depth of 18 inches. This, you will find, will take much more water than is usually required.

This is also the time to start some of the perennials for next season. Many varieties of perennial seed should be sown at this time instead of waiting until next spring to do the work. Sowing seed is the commercial method of increasing the stock of these hardy herbaceous plants on which so much of the future beauty of the garden depends. Such perennials as will bloom the first year from seed are sown in spring. Others, like bellis, pansies and forget-me-nots, should be sown now.

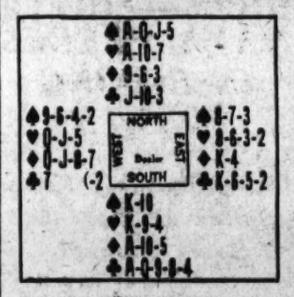
Some people fail to start these plants at this time because they haven't a cold frame and feel that without one they can not keep them over the winter. It is lamentable that every garden has not one of these miniature greenhouses, for they are so easily constructed, take up so little room and cost so little.

At a later date I mean to explain in detail an easy way to make a cold frame. For the present I only want to emphasize the fact that you can keep perennials alive and healthy without a frame. All that is necessary is to wait until the plants have died down in the fall and then blanket their roots with a light covering of corn fodder. On top of this place some leaves. Do not use leaves alone, because autumn leaves soon make a tight mat over the young plants and they invariably ferment early in the spring and awaken the tiny plants from their sleep too early. This covering must not be applied until after the first frost.

(Copyright, 1930.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

WORK ON BRIDGE



The above hand illustrates one of the most obvious squeeze situations I ever have seen. It was played in a game of Auction Bridge, South obtaining the contract with a bid of one No Trump. At Contract South would have bid two No Trumps, and North probably would have jumped to four. South's bid having been a minimum, he would not have been justified in going further; although the phenomenal breaks obtained by Declarer carried him far beyond four-odd.

When it was played West led his fourth best Diamond and South won with the Ace. There was no use in holding up because the only finesse in the hand was in Clubs and that would have to be taken so as to let the West hand obtain the lead if the finesse failed.

After winning the first trick, the Declarer cashed four rounds of Spades. South discarding two Diamonds. With five tricks in and only three more which could be run without finessing, the Declarer had to risk the Club finesse. Of course, if it lost, the adversaries probably would save game by running four Diamonds; but the risk had to be taken. When the finesse won, it was easy for the Declarer to take in four more Club tricks, which meant two discards from dummy for which the Declarer was careful to select one heart and one Diamond, keeping the Nine of Diamonds in case the West hand, which was marked with the high Diamonds, also happened to have the Queen and Jack of Hearts.

West had no difficulty in discarding until the tenth trick. Then he was obliged to part either with his winning Diamond (the Nine being exposed in dummy) or to unguard his Hearts. He chose the latter and Declarer was enabled to make a grand slam, as dummy was put in at trick 11 with the Ace of Hearts, and to trick 12 the Heart was returned and the finesse refused, the missing Heart honor being marked in the West hand.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF August 14 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m. and 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 5:30 a. m. to 7 a. m. and 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

If you do not take wealth as the only opportunity, you will find many desirable openings presented to you on this date. Favorable experiences. Be careful of promises of strangers. Not so good financially.

The child born on this August 14 will have a magnanimous and an open-handed nature. It will take journeys due to its own enterprise. It will have an eager intellect, shrewd insight, and will have ambitious strivings.

Your good fairies have showered upon you the gifts of charm, of personality, of sweetness of disposition—all those indefinable, inexplicable assets which are so rare and so much to be envied. You smile your way through the world, knowing that the next stranger you meet will be willing to be your friend. You have the magic touch which causes others to rush in and help you to make your aspirations facts. A large per cent of your good fortune is due to your ability to draw upon the resources (not merely financial) of others. You are grateful, however, for all that is done for you, and try to make adequate returns. You are very modest and never boastful.

You have a philosophical mind and a sympathetic nature. You will gladden many a sad heart and give many a "down and outer" a new lease on life. You are very fond of children and happy with them. As you grow older you will find those who are much younger than you to be more congenial than those of your own age. You will always try to keep in step with the times. You will be well served by your inferiors as they will both respect and like you. You never air your superiority to any one. You have a gift of language and express yourself well in both speech and writing. You will have fluctuating fortunes due to your entire indifference toward the value of money. You show the ability to occupy public or prominent positions.

Successful people born August 14:

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

4 egg yolks.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
½ cup butter.
¼ teaspoon salt.
Dash of cayenne.
¼ cup boiling water.

Divide the butter into three portions. Beat the egg yolks and lemon juice together, add one piece of butter, and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture begins to thicken. Remove from the stove, add a second piece of butter, and stir rapidly. Then add the remaining butter and continue to stir until the mixture is completely blended. Add the salt, cayenne and boiling water. Return to the double boiler and stir until the sauce thickens.

Put up some fruit Now... when winter comes you'll be Glad

The low price of sugar today and abundance of fine fruit make home canning profitable.

CANNED fruit belongs in the diet of young and old. And when you have a wide variety on hand you can vary your menus in a pleasing way.

The present low price of sugar and the abundance of fine fruit now in market make home canning exceedingly profitable. Even though you put up only a few jars of preserves or glasses of jelly, you will feel well repaid next winter when you "help yourself" to those home-made products.

Pickles and relishes made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelon rind are also delicious and easy to make. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Don't let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and relishes. Your family will certainly thank you and you'll save money in the bargain. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

U. S. LINKS TOURNEY SOUGHT FOR CAPITAL WITH 1932 FESTIVAL

Westbrook Pegler Says

Bicentennial Heads to Make Request to U. S. G. A.

National Amateur Is Logical Tourney If Award Is Made.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—After all these years, marked by no little civic progress, it appears that the City of Chicago must have another heavyweight prize fight of considerable commercial dignity this season or drop back into the second class of American cities. It also appears that Mique Malloy, a very fat and talkative fight promoter, hitherto devoted to the fomentation of petty fist fights in modest temples of the larcenous art, is the man to redeem his own home town in this respect.

Quite unsuspectingly, Mr. Malloy bought an option on Primo Carnera's next bout in this country some weeks ago, with no more serious purpose than to produce a show that would differ in no wise from Primo's previous displays and to earn a few shillings for Mr. Malloy. Then he stumbled upon the interesting discovery that Primo's board of imported and domestic managers, having developed their property into a big thing, had now decided to turn more or less square and take out a first-rank membership in the community of heavyweights.

Ethics Last With Primo's Managers.

They are willing to let bygones be bygones, a defensible attitude if one but refers to the careers of some of the first-rate nations of the world and the economic history of some of the most aristocratic families and industries. Ethics come last, if ever, in the evolution of a world power, and Primo's managers, in their modesty, took no liberties with precedent.

Simultaneously with this discovery of his Mr. Malloy became aware that the press and public of his home city were hanging their heads in humiliation because the Chicago Stadium, Staging of Tournament Is Expensive.

While it might be comparatively easy to hold a national tennis tournament in the District, for championship contests, including Davis Cup matches, have already been held on the Chevy Chase and Columbia Clubs, the staging of a national golf tournament is by no means as simple or as inexpensive.

Only two national golf events have been held here—the women's championship at Chevy Chase in 1912 and the national open at Columbia in Spengler Post Beaten by Uniontown Team at Hagerstown.

Make Only 4 Hits Off Colored Hurler; Play Poorly in Field.

(Special to The Washington Post.)

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 13.—Lafayette Post, of Uniontown, Pa., gained a 10-to-2 victory in the opening game of the regional American Legion Junior series here today, eliminating the Spengler Post, of Washington, D. C.

The hurling of Talley, colored youth and star of the Uniontown Team, was too much for the District of Columbia champions, and the Pennsylvania outfit should have registered a shutout game.

Washington played very poor ball afield making eight errors while the Uniontown outfit flashed a clever brand of baseball.

Bunching hits in the fourth inning off Meikeljohn, the Lafayette Post gathered four runs, enough for Talley to take things easy the remainder of the distance. Washington gathered but four hits during the game while Uniontown crashed eleven safeties off the two District hurlers.

Both Spengler Runs Tainted.

A passed ball by Ponzurick in the seventh gave Washington its first tally and in the ninth an error by Burns and a sacrifice fly by Weltzman accounted for the other run. Talley was best in the pinches, fanning eight men.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow the Uniontown Team will clash with the Wilmington Post, of Wilmington Del., and in the second game Morgantown, W. Va., will play the Baltimore & Ohio Post, of Maryland.

Browns Down Red Sox As Goslin's Bat Barks

Boston, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Goose Goslin gobbled up all the honors here today as St. Louis plastered a 7-to-2 defeat on the Red Sox in the second game of their series. Goslin drove in four runs to aid Pitcher Walter Stewart.

In the seventh Goslin drove a homer into the right-field pavilion with Stewart on base and one of his two singles scored two mates in the ninth. A leaping catch of a Goslin drive in the first by Earl Webb robbed the Goose of another sure homer.

Favorites Win Matches In Asheville Tourney

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Favorites stroked their way to more or less handy victories in the first round of match play in the Biltmore Forest Country Club golf tournament here Wednesday.

About the only headliner to pass out of the picture was Dean Smith, the chubby Savannah sharpshooter, who took the court on the twentieth hole of a thrilling engagement with Scott Hudson, jr., one of the remaining Atlanta hopes.

Three down at the turn, young Smith hit his stride on the back nine. He soon caught up with the Atlantan and stayed abreast until he met his downfall on the second extra hole.

All the three members of the Atlanta delegation in the championship division won today and advanced to the second round.

Berrien Moore, took the measure of Dr. H. S. Harris, Montgomery, Ala., 4 and 3, and Julius Hughes defeated Stanford Webb, Asheville, 5 and 3.

Alan Smith, of Asheville, the medalist, scored an easy victory, 4 and 2, over Beverly Mason, a fellow townsman and Joe Adams, also of Asheville, eliminated the Louisiana entry, Jesse Rainwater, New Orleans, one up.

Carl Dann jr., the hope of Florida, stayed in the running by beating Paul Cushman, of Greenville, last of the South Carolinians, 2 and 1.

NAVY PLEBES IN BOXING FINALS

Individual and Team Titles at Stake in Bouts Tonight.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—Individual and team boxing championships will be at stake tomorrow night when the finals of the Plebe's summer boxing tournament are held at the United States Naval Academy Gymnasium. The program will start at 8 o'clock.

The round-robin series has been conducted during the past three weeks and the Second Company boxers hold the advantage with two victories and no defeats. The Fourth Company is in second place with one victory, while the First and Third Companies have yet to chalk up a win.

The program will see the First Company ringmen striving to check the Second Company's winning streak and its drive for the team crown. In the other team match, the Third Company will swap punches with the Fourth Company.

This series of bouts, conducted by Coach Spike Webb and eight varsity boxers now at the Academy for aviation training, has been the means of unearthing a number of likely candidates for future Navy boxing teams. Midshipmen Hoff Clark, James Shilson and Bob Harbold, all heavyweight boxers, have shown exceptional ability, and the collegiate boxing world is bound to hear from them before they graduate from the Academy.

Great Britain's Team In Canada for Contests

Quebec, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Great Britain's team of 64 athletes, headed by Lord David Burghley, Olympic 400-meter hurdling champion, arrived here today to compete in the British Empire games at Hamilton, Ontario, beginning Saturday.

Lord Burghley has paid several visits to the United States, but said he considers that he is on his first trip to Canada as his previous acquaintance has been limited to a run across the international bridge at Niagara Falls.

CANNON'S RECORD SAFE.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Lillian Cannon's record of 5 hours and 25 minutes for swimming Chesapeake Bay from Tolchester to Bay Shore, more than 12 miles, is still safe, after four attempts to beat it. Danny Lawson, 20, of Baltimore, conquered an 11-mile stretch from Tolchester to Pleasure Island yesterday, but two other swimmers were forced to give up by cramps. Steve Rehak, Baltimore fireman, required 6 hours and 35 minutes to cover Miss Cannon's route two weeks ago.

CAPITAL BOY WINS IN U. S. NET PLAY

Morrison in Quarter-Finals; McLean to Play Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 13.—Donald Morrison, Washington (D. C.) southpaw, entered the quarter final round of the national junior tennis championships being played on the Culver Military Academy courts here today by defeating Harry Jens, Milwaukee, 6—3, 6—2.

Morrison will meet Karl Kamrath, Austin, Tex., seeded one in the draw, tomorrow, the Texan having defeated Bill Reese, Atlanta, in his fourth round engagement, 8—6, 6—1.

Through a change in schedule Jock McLean, Washington (D. C.) boys' champion, did not play his quarter final boys' singles match with Jack Lynch, of Taft, Calif., today, but meets the hard-hitting Golden State lad tomorrow. However, Jock and Henry Barclay, Baltimore, rested in the quarter-finals of the boys doubles tonight, having defeated Phipps and Nikolich, Denver Team, in a second-round match with consummate ease, 6—2, 6—3.

Morrison-Bacon Lose in Doubles.

Morrison did not fare so well in the doubles. He and Robert Bacon, Newport, won their second-round match from Broida and Maits, Pittsburgh, 3—6, 6—0, 6—1, but dropped their next test with Charles Hunt and Richard Blaskower, San Francisco, Western junior champions, 6—4, 6—2.

The Golden State Team had too much experience playing together, for Morrison and Bacon were competing

37,000 WATCH ROBINS ROUT CUBS, 15-5

Pound Bush Off Hill in 3d With 5 Runs; Near Lead.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The pent up fury of Flatbush bats exploded with a staggering crash today and all but jarred the Cubs from their first place National League pennant mooring.

Beaten in their last five starts, the hit-starved Brooklyn Robins hammered five Cub pitchers for 18 mighty blows and romped away with the second game of the crucial series by the lopsided margin of 15 to 5, before 37,000 spectators.

It was sweet revenge for the Flatbush clan, which had been beaten by the Cubs 12 times in the last 16 games, and it reduced the Cubs' grip on first place to a shaky pair of percentage points.

Robins Sew Up Game In Eighth.

Today's battle was a ball game for but seven innings. At that juncture the Robins led 6 to 4, but the Cubs threatened. Then came the eighth and the Robins bunched three more hits with a walk and a sacrifice to score three more runs and squelch Cub hopes. Then in the ninth they cake-walked home with six more tallies because of comical pitching and support that reminded the fans of Philadelphia and a certain world series game last fall. The last inning scoring splurge, netted by four walks and three singles that might have been stopped, sent most of he spectators home and polished off the

Tilden Criticizes Gallery; Threatens to Quit Tourney

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Big Bill Tilden today led three of his Davis Cup teammates into the quarter-final round of the men's singles in the annual Eastern grass court championships.

With the utmost ease Tilden eliminated Julius Seligson, New York youngster, 6—4, 6—4, in a match that created considerable interest among the largest gallery of the week's play in men's and women's singles and doubles.

At the conclusion of the match Tilden informed Richard Lewis, of the championship committee, that unless the crowd was quieter during his matches he would leave the tournament. To the unbiased eye the largest crowd of the week behaved well, though it was disconcerting to both players as late arrivals kept walking within their line of vision.

But a Southern youth, Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, intercollegiate champion, stole the spotlight with a spectacular triumph over Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., 6—0, 6—2. Sutter and Tilden clash in a quarter-final match tomorrow.

Although Tilden was not extended to the limits of his game by Seligson, the Southerner in his triumph over Mercur displayed a wide variety of strokes and a thoroughly sound game. Their duel tomorrow is expected to provide the highlight of the day.

John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., Gregory Mangin, of Newark, and Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., all members of the Davis Cup squad, paraded through into the final eight along with Ted Burwell Charlotte, N. C. veteran; Francis T. Hunter, ranked next to Tilden in the national list, and Richard Murphy, of Utica, N. Y.

Hunter was extended fully to down Bryan Grant, jr., diminutive Atlanta youngster, 7—5, 9—7, while Van Ryn

MYERED

Two Forced Over in Second; Myer Hits 3 Singles, Triple.

Hadley Lasts Route Despite Allowing Sox 14 Hits.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

GARLAND BRAXTON, former Washington southpaw, looked like a "cousin" to the Nationals yesterday and they pounded in enough runs from his offerings before the second inning hardly had gotten started to give them their second in a row over the White Sox. The final count was 7 to 4, the victory enabling the Johnsons to match triumphs scored by their closest rivals, the Mackmen and Yankees.

The Nats greeted Braxton like a long-lost brother, the first three up being responsible for two runs, when Myer and Rice singled and Manush doubled this pair home. Three more were rung up in the second stanza, two of these being gifts when three successive bases on balls, two off Braxton and one off Frank (Dutch) Henry, his relief, forced home two runs after Spencer and Myer had singled and Braxton had kicked in with an error.

Nats Add Two More To Total.

Two more Washington runs were scored over the balance of the route, but they were not needed, although they made the crowd of about 5,000 breathe a little easier, especially toward the latter part of the game.

As to hits, the White Sox had the edge, cracking out 14 to 11 by the Nationals, by Irving Hadley, who went the route for the home gang, managed to keep the alien blows fairly well-scattered, the Sox drawing only two hitless frames and threatening in one of these, the ninth, due to Heinie Manush's two-base error and a walk which put two on the sacks before a man was retired.

In the second, the Sox inserted three hits, yet did not score, due to the fact that Cissell, who opened the round with a one-baser, died stealing after Clancy had lofted to Manush. The decision was a close one and the Chisox third-sacker so strongly disagreed with Umpire Dick Nallin that, after continuing his protests from the bench, he was banished. Mulleavy and Tate then singled but both were left.

White Sox Solve Hadley in 7th.

Two alien hits went for naught in both the third and fourth, due to Hadley's ability to bear down in the pinches, but the Bushers almost had Hadley chasing to the showers in their seventh, when he could not extricate from the hole in which he found himself.

This round netted the visitors four runs. Kerr's real single and a scratch one by Watwood opened the inning and, after Barnes had contributed a helpful out, Jolley and Kamm, the latter having replaced Cissell at third, doubled in rapid succession. Kamm continued on to third on Myer's poor relay throw and Mulleavy's out scored him after Clancy had coaxed a walk. Tate then passed up an opportunity of jumping into the limelight by rolling to Kuhel.

Manush's two-base error starting the ninth gave Jolley life and when Kamm drew a base on balls the fans started fidgetting, but Hadley managed to pull out of this hole. Tate again failing, the former Nat catcher ending the game by pop-fouling to Cronin.

Henry Steadies After Second.

After Henry had settled down in the second, he pitched good ball, although finding himself in trouble in the fourth, when singles by Myer and

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

BLUEGE went over to the foul side behind third to take Watwood's grounder with his bare hand in the first. He had no chance to make the killing at first, but his stop prevented the batter from taking an extra base on the hit.

His former mates seemed to be glad to see Braxton yesterday. They greeted him with two singles and a double, which netted two runs before a man was out. Myer and Rice reached base on singles and Manush then cleared the bases with his two-base clout.

Watwood came in fast to make a nice catch of West's near Texas leaguer in the home first. The flychaser took the ball only a few yards behind second.

Cissell protested so strongly against being called out stealing by Umpire Nallin in the second that the arbiter chased him off the field. The decision was mighty close at that. It cost the Chisox a run, for Mulleavy and Tate singled later in the frame. Kamm replaced Cissell at the third sack.

With two on in the second, Braxton forced a run over by walking both Rice and Manush. Skipper Bush then walked Braxton, Henry relieving him. The latter immediately forced a second runner over by franking Cronin to first.

Cronin did some heads-up base-running in the second after walking. With one dead and Rice on third, Kuhel rolled to Kerr. The latter tried for a double play instead of heading off the run at the plate. Cronin blocked this by stopping and forcing Kerr to chase him back to first, Kuhel meanwhile, crossing the sack.

Bennie Tate, former Nat, who was credited with two hits in Tuesday's game, cracked out two in a row yesterday.

Red Barnes was given the glad hand when he came to bat in the visitors fifth. He also was given life on Myer's error on his roller.

Hadley's single in the fifth almost tore off Pitcher Henry's left foot, the ball bounding close to the Washington dugout.

The Sox's sixth was their first hitless inning of the game.

SUN MEADOW WINS POORLY-RUN SARATOGA STAKE

Half of Field Left at Post In Start

Crowding Also Puts Several Contenders Out of Running.

Sun Meadow Closes With Rush to Beat Ladder by Nose.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—K. E. Hitt's Sun Meadow, a five to one chance, scored an impressive victory in the Grab Bag handicap at six furlongs here today.

W. J. Salmon's Ladder was second, the Greentree Stable's Surf Board third and George D. Widener's Condescend fourth. The race was not a truly run one. Several of the good ones failed to get away at the start and the crowding all during the journey was the direct cause of several contenders being knocked out of contention.

The start was poor with half of the field being practically left, including Sir Ashley with Earl Sande up.

Ladder, with his brilliant early speed, rushed to the front and led the field a fast pace. He turned into the stretch leading by a wide margin and had the field driving hard behind to keep up. However, Sun Meadow, who was lucky to escape the crowding, and being taken wide, came with a rush in the stretch. The son of Sun Briar closed with a great burst of speed and grabbed the purse in the last stride by a nose.

Ladder beat Surf Board one and a half lengths for the place. The race was worth $3,650 and run in the good time of 1.12 1-5.

Martinique Wins in Nose Finish.

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Showing great improvement, J. N. Camden's 5-year-old Martinique captured the $2,000 added feature at Hawthorne Race Track today. Brown Wisdom, the consistent 5-year-old gelded son of Brown Prince II, which was coupled with My Dandy as the Reichert Bros.' entry, finished second, with J. Howard's Islam third.

The race was a handicap for 3-year-olds and upward over the mile and a sixteenth journey and was worth $1,600 to the winning stable. Martinique covered the distance in 1:44 2-5. He paid the amazing price of $48.58 to $2 to win, $10.46 to $2 for a place and $4.68 to $2 to show.

In a heart-breaking finish, Martinique, after being outrun to the stretch, came with a great burst of speed through the home stretch and was up in the last strides to win by a nose. Brown Wisdom set the pace, though by a very narrow margin throughout, and only weakened in the last few yards, to take the place by a neck. Islam, away poorly and taken wide at the stretch turn, finished gamely, raced into second position through the stretch run, but could not keep it, and finished third, one and a half lengths in front of Cog-Air. Display and My Dandy finished in the order named.

SAKS PLAY ST. MARTINS.

The Saks and St. Martins nines will clash at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon on Diamond No. 3. The Saks Team will play at Galesville on Sunday. All players are to meet at the East Ellipse at 12:30 o'clock.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Saratoga Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE twenty-eighth renewal of the Champlain Handicap holds the spotlight on an excellent card of six races tomorrow at the Union Avenue course. The Claiborne Purse, the third race, brings out a smart field of 2-year-olds. In this number COMIC, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, is entered to face the starter. In his recent victory, which was his only start of his career, the Greentree colt turned in an impressive performance. Many smart horsemen rate him among the best juveniles shown so far this season.

BATTLESHIP GREY, a winner at this meeting over a better field than he faces in the Champlain, appears by far the best of the small field entered to start. The son of Man o' War is in the best possible shape. William Midgely, who has recently taken over the Glen Riddle horses, deserves a lot of credit in bringing this colt back to the races in such fine condition. The one to fear is FRISIUS. An uncertain horse, who rarely runs two good races in a row, the Fitzsimmons color bearer holds plenty of quality. Off his top form he figures to prove a keen factor. CARUSO has COMSTOCKERY to down for the third prize. The latter will favor the small field, as he is a very bad actor at the post and will have plenty of racing room.

THIRD RACE—COMIC stands out over his company in the Claiborne, the secondary attraction. A galloping victory last Tuesday, the son of John P. Grier needs only to run back to that performance to make it two straight. SERGEANT DONALDSON and BLACK TYRONE shape up the chief contenders.

FIRST RACE — Fourteen cheap claiming platers are carded in the opening number, which will be run over the mile course. ST. TUSCAN, which has recent good form to recommend him, is fancied most. BIRD OF PREY, a winner at Empire over a good field, may be the principal contender. HEADS UP, heavily backed at James Butler's track to beat better ones than she faces here, should hardly be out of the money.

SECOND RACE—FRIAR McGEE appeared the winner of the jumpers he raced with Monday before falling at the last fence. If he jumps in better fashion in the Grandpa Steeplechase, second on the program, the Friar Rock gelding may win a purse for his owner. STALKER and THE WORKER appear the likely contenders.

FIFTH RACE—MILD ran so well in her last start that she must be the choice over the good field of 3-year-old fillies in the seven furlongs of the fifth. Lightly weighed with 107 pounds, the daughter of King Gorin should take a long lead on her opposition and never be headed. Mrs. Payne Whitney holds a strong chance to win the purse with GOOSE EGG. The last named miss has a world of class and will like this distance. She promises to go very well here. CURTSEY arrived from Chicago last week in good trim and may account for the third ticket.

SIXTH RACE—In the final event of the afternoon TRAUFEY, which has been working well, is chosen to graduate. "Kansas" Price, the well known clocker, timed him in 1:00 2-5 going five furlongs the other morning. He has only to run to training trials to be the victor. HARLEM and MARSHMALLOW are liked for the place and show awards.

WINNING HEART broke slow, worked her way up, came around field in stretch and drew away to win easily. PARADISE LOST was very sore going to the post. She broke slow, was taken very wide and closed gamely. NELL W. was kept well up all the way and ran a good race. ALLEGE ran way below her top form. ROSE OMAR and NORMA JEAN were both used up setting pace.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $1,208. The Bull's-eye Steeplechase Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won eased up; place, driving. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:31½. Winner, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's b. m. (8), by Fayette—Teetotal. Trained by James Healy. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 4:19.

BROWN STOUT, jumping well, was reserved off the pace, took lead with little effort in last half mile and had little contention thereafter. THE ACE II, held under strong restraint for a turn of the field, was no match for the winner when let down. HUMPTY lacked early speed, but finished well. HOLYMAN fenced well and showed good speed for a turn of the field. INDEX was always outrun and finally was pulled up.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $4,000. The Grabbes Handicap. For 2-year-olds. Start poor. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:03½. Off at 4:07½. Winner, K. E. Hitt's b. c. †Trainer J. Fitzsimmons entry.

SUN MEADOW broke slow, worked his way up on the outside, came around the field in stretch and, closing with a rush, was up to win in the last stride. LADDER ran into a long, early lead and saved ground, but weakened in the last twenty yards. CONDESCEND was in close quarters in final furlong. BLENHEIM broke fast, but was crowded back in first furlong, was rushed up on the inside and was again blocked in stretch. He was taken to outside and finished fast. He might have won with better handling. SEA FOX suffered interference. SIR ASHLEY was away poorly and just galloped back of the field. BLIND BOWBOY tired.

FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,200 added. The Wilton Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:35½. Off at 4:36. Winner, Gifford A. Cochran's br. or gr. c. (2), by Stefan the Great—Polyantha. Trained by H. McDaniel. Value to winner, $980; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:46 2-5, 1:11 2-5, 1:24 2-5.

POLYGAMOUS broke very slow, made up ground gradually and, finishing with a rush, was up to win in last stride. SUN MISSION was kept close to pace, made a determined bid in stretch and held on gamely. BLACK MAJESTY showed good speed and ran a good race. SARAZEN II rushed to the front, set a fast pace and held on well. BOBASHELA finished with a rush. SANDY was outrun.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; conditions. The Corinth. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:02½. Off at 5:02½. Winner, Middleburg Stable's ch. f. (4), by Negofol—Hustle. Trained by W. J. Speirs. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:52 3-5.

that edifice which outmeasures the New York Garden architecturally, stood closed and silent, mocking the civic aspirations of the city because the Garden Corporation had closed a monopoly on all the interesting prize-fight matches. And then, by accident, he learned that, in their complacency, the directors of the Garden firm had neglected to place Jack Sharkey under a retainer, leaving him, thus, a free agent.

Would Match Italian With Sharkey Next Month.

Sharkey had fought Max Schmeling in New York in June, losing on a foul, and so much had been the Garden firm's disgust at this faux pas that they quite forgot that Sharkey gave Schmeling a bad beating up to the time of fouling him and had shown himself to be the better prize fighter. Aside from the foul, the best that could be argued in Schmeling's favor was that he would have discouraged Sharkey if the fight had gone along, which was saying that he would have worn him down with his chin.

Mique Malloy therefore has come to New York, a little unsteady under the responsibility of it all, to engage Sharkey to fight Carnera in Chicago in the last week of September at one of the major league ball parks or in the arena at Soldier Field, where Gene Tunney beat Jack Dempsey in 1927 by maintaining a spirited advance to the rear. He has much to offer. The Garden firm has been hoping to present a return bout in one of the Manhattan ball yards between Sharkey

NAVY YARD WINS 2ND GOVERNMENT LEAGUE SERIES

Harover Star As Sailors Bow, 9-2

Winners Will Tackle Naval Hospital in Play-Off Set.

Yardsmen Pound Out 15 Hits to Take Crucial Game.

THE Navy Yark Team assured itself a 50-50 chance to represent the Government League in the championship series of the Week-Day League when it trounced the Naval Hospital Nine yesterday, 9 to 2, to win the second series. Navy Yard will now meet Naval Hospital, winner of the first series, in a three-game play-off for the league honors.

Navy Yard, with a heart full of gratitude to the gratitude to the Union Printers for Tuesday's victory over the Naval Hospital Team, lost little time in getting ahead of the Sailors yesterday. The Yardsmen made it hot for Crews, finding him for five runs before the fourth inning and hopping on him with a vengance in the seventh before he gave way to Ingram. Four runs trickled across the plate in this inning and the game was in Navy Yard's bat bag.

Harover Shows Form.

In the meantime, Ray Harover had been pitching one of his nice games. He allowed a tally in the fourth and another in the seventh but otherwise was not damaged. In addition to his hurling activities, Harover further distinguished himself by slamming out a home run.

In fact, every player in the Navy Yard got at least one bingle and Lattin accounted for three. Crews was the only Sailor to get more than one hit.

Three Athletes Battle For Community Trophy

As the Community Center athletic program at Central High School draws to an end, three lads are waging a stiff fight for the miniature loving cup to be presented to the athlete winning the largest number of points in the weekly track meets.

Vincent Scafide, with 19, is at present leading the race, but Wilbur Cross, Central's 1930 basket ball captain and track star, and Charley Cassasa, Blue and White gridironer, are close behind. Cross and Cassasa are tied for second place with 18 points and hope to overhaul Scafide in the remaining meets.

Fort Humphreys Wins On Pair of Home Runs

Two home runs in the eighth inning allowed the Fort Humphreys Baseball Team to extend its winning streak to five games in the Third Corps Area League and retain its lead. These blows defeated the Army Medico Nine by a margin of 3-2, after a brilliant pitching duel between Rahn and Lewis, each of whom allowed only three hits.

Fort Humphreys was first to score, shoving over a run in the fourth inning. The Medicos gained the lead in their half by scoring twice, but Phelps and Summey slammed out circuit clouts in the last half of the inning to give Fort Humphreys the victory. Both pitchers were in rare form. Rahn fanned 14 and walked 2, while Lewis fanned 11 without yielding a pass.

D. C. NETTERS FARE WELL AT W. MD.

Considine to Semi-final Round; Miss Wakeford Scores.

Special to The Washington Post.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 13.—Play in the western Maryland's men's singles championship narrowed down to the semifinals today when Bob Considine, A. J. Alcorn, John O'Loughlin and Bill Ramsay outstroked, respectively, B. F. Arkle, E. T. Hammer, W. J. Clardy and R. Weber. All matches were decided in straight sets.

The feature match of the day was the one in which Bob Considine, District champion, eliminated B. F. Arkle, defending champion. The match was intensely close from start to finish.

Considine and Lieut. S. K. Robinson, the only District team entered in the doubles, advanced to the third round by virtue of a default. The Washingtonians, seeded No. 1, will swing into action today.

Miss Wakeford Defeats Miss Whitfield.

Marywill Wakeford, defending champion, scored a victory in the second round over Betty Whitfield, of Washington, D. C., 7—5, 6—2.

M. G. Martinez, Julien Whiting and Gene O'Brien, of Washington, led the way to the third round of the consolations.

Today's matches in the men's singles are in the guise of an intercollegiate match. Considine, captain of George Washington University's netmen, plays A. J. Alcorn, of the University of Pittsburgh. O'Loughlin is a former Pitt man, while Bill Ramsay attends Lafayette.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS PLAYS.

The Columbia Heights Baseball Team will meet the D. C. Repair Shop Nine, champions of the Departmental League, at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the North Ellipse. All Heights players are to report promptly at 5 o'clock.

EAGLES WIN ANOTHER.

Skinker Bros. Eagles took their second victory in as many days and their tenth straight win of the season by downing the D. C. Repair Shop, 6 to 1, on the Skinker Field. Ray Knight's pitching was the feature of the game, the losers getting but two hits. The Eagles will play the D. C. Firemen at 5:30 p. m. today on their field.

2 NEW CLUBS JOIN CIVIC PINMEN

American Business, Civitan Clubs in 1930 League.

TWO new clubs have joined the Civic Club Bowling League, which has organized for the coming fall and winter season. The American Business and Civitan Clubs are the newcomers to the league and make a total of ten teams which will seek honors won last spring by the Kiwanis Club.

In addition to these three clubs the Cosmopolitan, Lions, Monarch, Newcomers, Optomists, Rotary and Round Table Clubs will enter the competition.

John Shreve, of the Rotary Club, and Ray Catlin, of the Optomist Club, have been elected president and secretary-treasurer of the league, respectively. President Shreve will appoint committees to prepare a schedule of games and a list of prizes.

All league games will start at 8 o'clock with fifteen minutes' grace allowed for the appearance of a team. If a team is not ready to roll by 8:15 p. m., it automatically forfeits to the team present. Not more than two dummies may be rolled, and the score of the dummy will count 85. Any member of a club is eligible to bowl. Each club will donate $10 toward the prizes, which will be awarded at the end of the season.

D. C. SEEKING NATIONAL GOLF

Bicentennial Group Asks U. S. G. A. for 1932 Tourney.

1921. In preparation for the latter tournament the Columbia Club spent approximately $10,000, which was subscribed by the members, and at least six months was spent in arranging the preliminary details. The labor and expense connected with a national golf tournament is by no means small.

Without making any invidious comparisons, it can be stated that there are not more than four golf courses in this section which would be likely to receive consideration by the United States Golf Association, viz., Congressional, Chevy Chase, Columbia and Burning Tree.

Armour Impressed By Indian Spring.

Herbert A. Mihills, president of the Indian Spring Club, said yesterday that when Tommy Armour played the Indian Spring course he was so impressed with it that he offered to recommend it to the national organization provided the thirteenth hole was lengthened, "but," added President Mihills, "we appreciate that we lack facilities for holding a national tournament, so that our club can not be considered."

President Herbert T. Shannon, of the Columbia Club, said yesterday that so far as he was personally concerned he would go the limit toward making the 1932 celebration a success, "but," he added, "the question of whether we would again hold national championship is a matter that must be decided by our board of governors or by a special meeting of the members." It is doubtful whether the members would agree to again tax themselves for a national tournament and this is apparently also the case with the Chevy Chase and Burning Tree clubs.

Congressional Club Ready to Sponsor.

The situation at the Congressional Country Club is entirely different. "We have already offered our course for the women's national championship in 1932," said Guy Mason, chairman of the golf committee. "By that time our course will have been greatly improved by reconstruction, for we have appropriated $10,000 to be expended in the next two years in addition to the regular cost of maintenance.

We could not take care of two national tournaments in one year, but if it should be decided to shift the women's event elsewhere, we could manage either the national open or the national amateur and would be glad to do so. I am sure we could easily raise the few thousand dollars necessary to meet the expense of entertainment, providing enlarged parking space, printing, &c."

If Washington should obtain a national golf competition in 1932 it would probably be the amateur championship. Under the system now followed by the United States Golf Association the national events alternate between the East and the West. This year the open was held in Minneapolis and next year it will be held in the East, so that in 1932 it would automatically go West again.

Amateur Due in East in 1932.

The same situation applies to the women's championship, which is to be held this year in Los Angeles and next year in Buffalo, so that a Western location would be naturally selected for 1932. On the other hand, the national amateur is played this year at Merion, near Philadelphia, so that, after being staged in the West next year, it will come East in 1932. The national amateur is always held in the early fall, a period which would find satisfactory weather and ground conditions in this section.

The Congressional Club is admirably adapted for a national tournament. It has a handsome and commodious clubhouse, with over 50 bedrooms, and plenty of space for the meetings of the committees of the national organization. While it is accessible only by automobiles or buses, there is no lack of good roads, and the course provides a fine test of golf. After a lapse of nearly ten years, a national golf tournament in this section would insure a tremendous impetus to the game, and it must be remembered that there are thousands now playing golf where there were only hundreds in 1921.

TILDEN NOT EXTENDED AS SELIGSON BOWS

played sensational tennis to defeat Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, 6—2, 6—2. Hunter and Van Ryn are paired in another outstanding match tomorrow.

Mangin, ranked No. 10 nationally, conquered Wilbur F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City, with a No. 7 rating in a hard-hitting duel, 6—2, 7—5. Burwell dropped a set in eliminating Arthur Fowler, of New York, 6—0, 2—6, 6—3, and faces Mangin tomorrow. Berkeley Bell, who had a rather easy time with Edward F. Feibleman, of New York, in a 6—4, 6—3 victory, will oppose Murphy, Harvard freshman star, in the quarter-finals. Murphy bested Melvin Partridge, of New Rochelle, N. Y., 8—4, 6—2.

WEIGHTMAN PLAYGROUND WINS.

Allowed only two hits by Pitcher Curtin, while fourteen of its batters struck out, the Happy Hollow Playground Nine was defeated by the Weightman Playground, 5 to 2, yesterday. The Weightman Playground is receiving challenges through Director Bill Demit.

Heavyweight Pot Stirring; Sharkey-Primo Near Match

Malloy Ready to Close Bout for Chicago in September; Stribling, Hand Hurt, to Idle Six Months.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Managers of some of the leading heavyweights mingled with promoters today in a round robin of conferences that may lead to important doings among the big fellows in September—either here or in Chicago.

Mique Malloy, Chicago promoter, led the field in discussions with Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, and the representatives of Primo Carnera, Italian giant. This match is all but closed for Chicago in September, the big hitch being Malloy's generosity with guarantees, but not with percentages. Sharkey has been offered a flat guarantee of $125,000, but wants $100,000 and a privilege of 20 per cent of the gate receipts. Malloy wishes to give him only 25 per cent. Carnera already has given Malloy an option on his services.

Meanwhile Madison Square Garden promoters attempted to interest Sharkey's manager in a September match with Victorio Campolo and negotiated with "Pa" Stribling, manager of young Stribling, for a match this winter. "Pa" said the Macon youngster would be out of action six months with a bruised left hand.

Bud Zimmerman Chosen Captain of Cardinal Nine

President Breen Offers Prizes for Biggest Run-Scorer and Leading Hitter; Armstrong to Enter Wash.-Jefferson.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 13.—Buddy Zimmerman was elected as captain of the Cardinal Athletic Club Baseball Team at a meeting of the entire membership last night. Zimmerman will assume complete control on Sunday.

President Sylvester Breen announced at this meeting that he would present two gold lapel buttons, one to go to the player making the most runs and the other to the player with the highest batting average this season.

The Cardinals will play the Columbia Firemen on Sunday. Capt. Zimmerman has called an important practice for the team Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

Charlie Armstrong, local athlete, who starred at Hargrave Military Academy in football last season, will enter Washington and Jefferson University this fall. Armstrong is considered a bright prospect at the gridiron game.

The Southern Shopmen will meet Engine Company No. 5 on Friday afternoon at Baggett's Stadium at 5 o'clock, it was announced today by Manager Theodore Beach. On Tuesday they will play the R. F. & P. All-Stars.

Word from Gastonia, N. C., today stated that the American Legion Juniors would play tomorrow afternoon. Their opponent has not been announced. The Alexandria boys held a stiff workout in the park today. Over 85 Alexandrians are in Gastonia, N. C., to see the championship series.

Second Class Middies Beaten by Semipros

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13.—Badly beaten a few weeks ago, the Annapolis Athletic Club local semipro team, turned the tables on the nine picked from second-class midshipmen, now undergoing aviation instruction at the Naval Academy today. The final count was 14 to 9.

Both teams staged several assaults, but the locals slugged the ball harder and more timely. Newby Catlin was on the hill for Annapolis, and held the upper hand over Coombs. Both are left-hand hurlers. Williams and Hurley did the receiving for Annapolis and the Middies, respectively.

Sir Lipton's Contender Arrives at New London

New London, Conn., Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The Shamrock V, contender for the America's Cup, arrived off Black Rock at entrance of this harbor at 3:35 (E.S.T.) this afternoon.

The Erin, which has been consort for the challenger, was also close at hand.

As soon as word spread in the city that Sir Thomas Lipton's craft were in the harbor, many persons hied to the waterfront to get a glimpse at them.

Yanks Save Early Lead To Beat Tigers, 10-8

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The Yankees got off to a fast start today, picking up ten runs in the first five innings, and made it two straight over the Detroit Tigers by a 10-8 score. They needed every bit of their early lead to win, as George Pipgras, after pitching shut-out ball for five innings, blew up in the sixth and his successors did little better.

The Tigers piled up six runs off Pipgras in the sixth and assaulted Ruffing and Holloway for two more in the seventh before Lou McEvoy finally checked them. The Tigers made only seven hits, but made good use of walks and errors.

Earl Combs did the heavy stick work for the Yankees against four Tiger moundsmen. He drove in four runs with three hits, one of which was a homer.

BUCK ROGERS, 2430 A. D. — Become Human Satelites — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

WILMA AND I WERE LOST IN SPACE, RUSHING ON TOWARD EARTH. IF WE REACHED IT WE'D BE CONSUMED BY AIR FRICTION WHEN WE ENTERED EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE ENVELOPE. IF WE MISSED IT WE'D JUST SPEED ON AND ON FOREVER!
I FILLED THE MAGAZINE OF MY ROCKET PISTOL.
WHAT GOOD WILL THAT DO?
IT WILL ACT LIKE A LITTLE ROCKET MOTOR! IT WON'T CHECK OUR TERRIBLE MOMENTUM—BUT IT MIGHT HELP—AND WE COULD MOVE A BIT FROM SIDE TO SIDE WITH IT.
MY LITTLE "ROCKET MOTOR" REALLY WORKED.
WHERE ARE WE GOING, BUCK? WE HAVEN'T ANY PLACE TO GO, HAVE WE?
IF WE COULD JUST BALANCE OUR SPEED AGAINST THE GRAVITY OF THE EARTH AND WHIRL AROUND IT OUTSIDE ITS ATMOSPHERE—
IT TOOK HOURS OF DELICATE JUGGLING WITH THE ROCKET PISTOL, BUT—THERE! NOW WE'RE BEGINNING TO SPIRAL DOWN BUT I CAN'T CHECK OUR TERRIBLE SPEED.
OH DEAR! WILL WE HAVE TO KEEP CIRCLING AROUND THE EARTH LIKE A COUPLE OF TINY MOONS FOREVER?

THIS IDEA OF LIVING LIKE CATS AND DOGS JUST BECAUSE YOU ARE MARRIED IS ALL BOSH—IT'S ALL IN BEING ABLE TO ACCUSTOM YOURSELF TO THINGS—AND EVEN CATS AND DOGS HAVE BEEN KNOWN TO GET ALONG WITH EACH OTHER—
JUST WAIT—
WHY—ONCE I SAW A CAT AND DOG ALL ROLLED UP IN A LITTLE BALL SLEEPING TOGETHER IN FRONT OF A FIRE PLACE—THE CAT PURRING AWAY IN THE DOG'S FACE—A PERFECT PICTURE OF HARMONY AND CONTENTMENT—
THAT'S ALL RIGHT—BUT JUST TRY TO TIE THEM TOGETHER—

STOCKS GO UPWARD IN AFTERNOON RALLY

U. S. and Bethlehem Steel Drop to New Lows in Morning Slump.

COMMODITIES ARE WEAK

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Short covering reversed the downward movement of stock prices today and the market closed higher, although the principal commodities were weak.

Figuratively speaking, elbow room was at a premium on the short side. Speculative sentiment has been so gloomy over the past few days that the ranks of the professional bears have been augmented by less experienced traders, all anxious to sell stocks in the hope of making a profit. So congested did the field become that some of the cooler heads apparently decided withdrawal was the part of wisdom, and proceeded to cover their commitments.

The resultant advance was both orderly and unspectacular, but it was none the less steady during the afternoon hours and net gains ranged between 1 and 4 points. Larger advances appeared here and there.

Stocks again declined in the forenoon while wheat, corn and cotton were gyrating erratically. Several issues, including Bethlehem Steel, J. I. Case, Canadian Pacific, Kennecott, Corn Products and Montgomery Ward, went to new lows on losses of 1 to 5 points, while others broke through their post-June lows. Among the latter was U. S. Steel, which sold down to 155½. Trading became more active on the break and the ticker ran several minutes behind.

U. S. Steel at 159.

Confident that the short element was getting cumbersome, venturous bulls began to test out prices around midday and found the market ready for a technical rally, which extended through the afternoon. Final quotations were at or close to the top. U. S. Steel advancing to 159 for a net gain of 2¾.

The commodities finally settled into a slump. October cotton sold well below 12 cents for the first time in four years after publication of the weekly weather report, and the market closed only moderately above the bottom at net declines of 65 to 95 cents a bale. Wheat weakened in sympathy with Winnipeg and bearish weather news, closing 2¾ to 2¾ cents lower. Rains over part of the corn belt, curtailing somewhat the area of the drought, brought in considerable selling and quotations were off about 2 to 3 cents net.

The news from industry was hardly stimulating. Further price cuts by automobile manufacturers, the failure of the steel business to show signs of seasonal recovery, a drop in freight car loadings and an increase in refined copper stocks all served to emphasize the depression.

Iron Age said the uncertainty over the crop damage had retarded inquiry for steel and that "a renewed spirit of caution" had appeared. Production was placed at about 52 per cent of theoretical capacity against 54 per cent a week ago.

Money Quotations Ease.

A slightly easier undertone ruled the money markets. Call loans were available "outside" at 2 per cent, although the official rate held at 2½.

The Federal Reserve Bank continues to add to its holdings of bills and Government securities as a means of keeping the credit reservoirs filled.

Shipments of the metal to France were resumed tonight with the exportation of $8,800,000 to France. Some doubt was expressed as to whether these would be profitable in view of the current easiness of the franc, which declined slightly again today. Foreign exchanges were generally irregular.

The gains in stocks were widespread and were especially evident in issues harboring the large short interests. Case, after touching the new low of 150, closed above 164, a net advance of 11¾. Vanadium was up 5, Southern Railway 2, Columbian Carbon nearly 5 and Auburn Auto more than 3. Several utilities rallied 2 to 3, and there were similar gains in American Can, Johns Manville, Coca Cola, Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone, Gillette, Corn Products, United Aircraft and Eastman Kodak. General Electric, General Motors, Warner Brothers, Sears-Roebuck, Radio, Nash Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey rose 1 to 2.

RAIL BONDS ACTIVE IN LAGGING MARKET

Utilities Are Fairly Steady and Oil Issues Hold Firm Course.

FOREIGN SECTION MIXED

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The bond market went through another dull trading session today. In an irregular price movement, railroad obligations were favored and this group provided the leadership for the activity which, while comparatively small, was the best of the week.

Utilities held fairly steady. Firmness of oil company bonds and further declines in sugar company issues featured the industrials.

Turnover of foreign dollar bonds expanded. Many European governments and municipals profited moderately from the day's buying and Belgian 7s sold at a new high for the year.

Warner Brothers Rallies.

News of prospective new financing for Warner Brothers Pictures, brought a rally in the convertible 6s which closed one point higher. Share privilege rails made small gains with the exception of Atchison 4½s, which sagged 2½ points. General Theaters 6s reached a new low and International Telephone 4½s were likewise soft.

Inquiry for carrier obligations continues unabated despite the slump in trading this month. Pennsylvania debenture 4½s and Canadian National 4½s were active and closed at new 1930 highs. Best prices of the year were also established by Union Pacific 4½s, Boston & Maine 5s and Big Four 4½s. Chicago & Alton 3s gained 1¾ and the 3½s reached a new high price.

Nickel Plate 5½s, Missouri Pacific 5s "G", St. Paul 4¾s, Atchison 4s, and New York Central 3s were well bought. International Great Northern 6s and New York Central 4½s were soft.

International Telephone Drops.

The advance of Hudson County Gas 5s to a new 1930 peak was outstanding among the utility group. American Telephone issues, consolidated 5½s and Western Union 5s were little changed. International Telephone 4½s and Utah Light & Traction 5s lost about ½ point.

Foreign issues moved irregularly higher. Austrian 7s, duplicated the gain of Belgian 7s, advancing ½. Several Scandinavian issues were in demand, Copenhagen Telephone 5s gaining a point to reach a new peak. Among South Americans, the gain of Brazil 6½s and Buenos Aires 6s were outstanding. Latin American governments were irregular, with Colombian, and Uruguayan issues easing.

Buying of Governments was nominal and about the only changes were small gains by Liberty 3½s and Treasury 3½s of '40-'43.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—Wheat values collapsed as a result of heavy selling here late today and dragged the corn market down along to a big extent. The increased selling pressure on wheat came from Eastern sources, and was attributed to reports that the Canadian government would not guarantee banks loans to the Canadian growers' pool. These reports had but little apparent effect earlier in the day, but toward the last were made much of in connection with acute weakness shown by wheat prices at Winnipeg.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 2¾ to 2¾ cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼ to 3 cents down, oats 1⅝ to 2¾ cents off and provisions showing 15 to 37 cents drop.

Sharp downturns in Winnipeg wheat prices more than offset all constructive factors in the Chicago market as the day drew to an end. Emphasizing the influence of advices that the Canadian government has refused to back the wheat pool financially were statements circulated that Canadian shippers seemed eager to cut prices to a competitive basis with United States wheat. Late downturns of Chicago wheat prices were in the face of estimates that export buying of North American wheat today totaled 2,000,000 bushels, most of it from the United States. On the other hand, rapid progress of the spring wheat harvest Northwest was reported, and the main movement of wheat from rural sources on the Canadian prairies was expected to acquire full headway soon.

A statement credited to Secretary Hyde of the United States Department of Agriculture that there was no shortage of foodstuffs and that the damage done to crops in corn, hay and pasturage was construed in some quarters as bearish. Earlier, however, the wheat market here had scored a brisk transient advance of 3 cents or less to complaints of 40 per cent or greater impairment of French wheat crops and because of estimates that 36,000,000 bushels of the 1930 total wheat yield in France was unfit for milling. Tending likewise to bring about temporary upturns in the Chicago wheat market was talk about likelihood of big import needs by Russia and of probable serious delays to winter wheat plowing in this country owing to drought.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat, despite general failure of predicted rains except in northern Missouri and eastern Kansas. Commission houses were persistent sellers on price bulges in corn, and the general run of traders were aggressive than of late on the buying side of the market. A feature was notice taken that corn losses, outside of the heaviest drought areas were only 8 to 10 per cent of a 5-year average crop. Oats demand today was indifferent.

Provisions went lower with grain, notwithstanding an upward slant in the hog market.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

International Salt.

E. D. T.—I am contemplating the purchase of some International Salt stock, but before doing so, would like to know something about present and prospective earnings, and also as to what dividend is likely to be paid on the new issue.

Answer—Earnings of the company for the six months ended June 30 last, it is indicated, should approximate $320,000, after fixed charges and provision for sinking fund, but before Federal taxes, as compared with $231,299 in the corresponding period of 1929, an estimated increase of about 40 per cent. In the like 1928 period earnings of $3,108 were small, due to price cutting that started late in 1927, but this was offset somewhat in the final six months of 1928, with $344,477 earned, compared with $448,398 in last six months of 1929. Company's earning power has been materially increased by an extensive advertising and marketing campaign which it has been conducting for the last five or six years. Based on sales in 1929 and thus far in 1930, company expects to market 50,000,000 packages of salt this year. International Salt is the largest producer of rock and evaporated salt combined in the world. It produces about one-quarter of the 5,000,000 tons of rock and evaporated salt consumed annually in United States. On the old stock, prior to recent three-for-one split-up, dividends of $2 quarterly, or $8 yearly, were paid. It is officially stated that dividends of $3 per year will be disbursed on the new issue. On account of the foregoing facts, the stock looks very attractive at prevailing prices from a speculative investment viewpoint.

American Water Works.

S. L. Y. Is American Water Works regarded as an investment issue?

Answer—The stock is regarded as a good speculative investment commitment for long pull holding. Earnings of $4.55 per share are reported for the 12 months ended May 31, against $4.73 on a smaller capitalization in 1929. Two-thirds of net income is derived from sales of electric power. Earnings have improved the past six years. Common dividends are $1 in cash and 5 per cent in stock. Last June a 10 per cent stock extra was paid. American Water Works is a holding company and controls one of the largest privately owned water works plants in the country.

Wrigley Earnings.

O. L. H. I am thinking of investing in Wrigley.

Answer—Wrigley recently sold at a new 1930 high and is close to its 1929 peak. Earnings record is good and present yield of 5 per cent make the stock attractive. Excluding foreign subsidiaries, earnings for the June quarter were $1.55, against $2.42 last year. In the first six months profits equaled $2.82 as compared with $2.79. Earnings have shown a progressive increase the past ten years, net income last year being $5.80 per share. Included in $38,516,100 current liabilities is $11,654,000 cash and $9,947,000 securities, or about nine times current liabilities. Wrigley has no funded debt, the sole capitalization being 1,999,974 no par common shares. Dividends have been paid regularly since 1913 and were increased from $3 to $4 in December. Last July a 5 per cent stock dividend was paid.

S. S. Kresge Co.

H. O. J. Please give me some facts regarding S. S. Kresge Co.

Answer—Earnings for the first six months were $1.19 a share as contrasted with $1.26. Since January 31 more stores have been added to its chain, making 612 in the United States and 24 in Canada. Approximately $68,000,000 of earnings have been plowed back into the property. The yield is about 6 per cent.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale.

B. A. C.—How is Canada Dry Ginger Ale stock regarded, and what are the latest earnings?

Answer.—For the three months ended June, earnings were $2.29 a share, representing a new high three months record, and an increase of 5½ per cent over the same term of 1929. For the first nine months of the fiscal year, earnings were $5.84 per share, against $4.71. The $5 annual dividend requirements are expected to be covered for the year ended September 30, as the September quarter, as a rule, is generally on a par with the June period. As of March 31, the ratio of current assets to current liabilities was 4 to 1. Cash, marketable securities and call loans were 2½ times current liabilities. The yield at current quotations is about 7½ per cent, making the stock a speculative investment medium.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The Chicago & Alton, one of the first railroads to report results for July, reported net operating income for the month of $144,263, compared with $610,666 for July 1929. Net operating income for the seven months ended July 31 totaled $247,455, compared with $2,014,721. The figures for 1929 included $339,553 back mail pay.

Crown Cork & Seal Co., operating two plants at Baltimore, Md., today announced plans to consolidate all manufacturing operations in the larger factories, located at Highlandtown, on the outskirts of the city. F. E. Fusting, president, said the change would effect further economies in operating costs.

Michigan Steel Corporation will offer to common stockholders of record August 22, the right to subscribe at $42 a share for new common in the ratio of one new share for each ten shares held. The offering will require 22,500 shares.

Combustion Engineering Corporation, a subsidiary of International Combustion Engineering Corporation, has received a $2,200,000 order from the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Edison Co. for the construction of steam boilers. The order is said to be the largest of its kind ever placed.

Negotiations for purchase of the Tri State Telephone & Telegraph Co. of St. Paul and its business in adjacent towns and St. Paul suburbs, have been completed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., with headquarters in Minneapolis, officials of the latter firm announced today.

Sales of print cloths for the week are believed to have equaled production. More business was done on fine combed goods today. The wool goods markets showed little change, most of the buying being light. Spot goods were doing a little better. Silk goods were selling in moderate volume. Burlaps were unchanged at the opening.

Raw silk futures closed steady; sales, 340 bales. September, 271; December, 272; March, 272. Open Shanghai steam, extra B, 320; Canton double extra A, 14-16s, 205; Japanese crack double extra, 315.

Air Reduction Co. announced incorporation in Texas of Magnolia Airco Gas Products Co., a wholly owned subsidiary, which has acquired all the assets and business of the Magnolia Gas Products Co., with oxygen plants at Houston, Beaumont and San Antonio, and an acetylene plant at Houston.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Paramount-Publix Corporation.

B. O. G.—Kindly let me know the first quarter earnings of Paramount-Publix Corporation.

Answer. — First quarter profits amounted to $1.79 per share, as against $1.16 on a smaller number of shares in 1929. Net income for the first half year is estimated at about $3. Earnings for the full year should be close to $6, as contrasted with $5.79 in 1929. Paramount-Publix may be regarded as fairly priced with regard to earnings, and yields approximately 6½ per cent on the $4 dividend. Receipts from film rentals in this country in the June quarter were 7 per cent larger than for the same time last year, while the improvement on foreign rentals was 21 per cent. The balance sheet, as of December 31 last, disclosed a sound condition. The outlook for Paramount-Publix is considered good.

MAJ. PRATT PICKS TEAM OF 15 POLICE FOR PISTOL MATCH

Citizens Contribute to Fund to Defray Expenses of Camp Perry Trip.

$400 GIVEN FOR MEN; LARGER SUM NEEDED

Jiu Jitsu and Safety Grips to Be Taught to Group While in Ohio.

With their trip to be financed by contributions from prominent men and women interested in the District Police Department, a team of fifteen men was named yesterday by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, to represent the District department in the national shooting matches which are to take place at Camp Perry, Ohio, beginning August 24, under the auspices of the National Rifle Association.

Their participation in the pistol shooting matches, however, will be only a part of the activities of the District's representatives from the Police Department. The major part of their time will be devoted to study and training at the national police school conducted for a week at the annual shooting matches. In the school the men are taught jiu jitsu, how to disarm persons, various safety holds and grips and other things for their protection in dealing with desperate criminals.

$400 Received So Far.

Members of the team, the first to be sent from the District department, will be assigned to the teaching of their fellow policemen on their return to the National Capital, Maj. Pratt said.

Lack of an appropriation to meet the expenses of the trip to the school brought a proposal from a wealthy retired business man that the expense be defrayed out of contributions. A minimum of $750 is needed, Maj. Pratt estimates, but $1,000 would provide the team with ample funds. The heaviest item of expense will be the ammunition which will be required. So far $400 has been contributed. Maj. Pratt has contributed $100, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, retired chief of police has contributed another $100 and Donald Woodward, widely known member of Woodward & Lothrop department store, contributed $100. A fourth donor asked Maj. Pratt that his name be not disclosed.

In order to cut down expenses the men have pooled their resources and will drive to Camp Perry in their own automobiles. At the school they will live in tents. Approval of the trip has been given by Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby and Maj. Pratt is confident that enough additional contributions will be received to carry out the program.

Lieut. Kelly Commands.

Lieut. L. C. Kelly was named as commander and financial officer of the party and Private E. C. Moore was named team captain, to be assisted by Private S. R. McKee. Several of the men named to the team are considered fine pistol shots and the team is expected to make a good showing in competition with marksmen from all sections of the country.

Other members of the team are Privates J. R. Birch, G. R. Wallrodt, J. G. Austin, H. D. Larey A. C. Poulson, D. O. Fletcher, E. J. LaForce, W. R. Ostrom, V. V. Vaughn, J. F. Phelps and E. L. Warden.

Maj. Pratt said he believed the training the men would receive at Camp Perry and other benefits to be derived from representation of the District department there would justify an annual appropriation to pay the team's expenses and that he would seek such an appropriation next year.

Shelby Is Speaker Before Optimists

Inspector Says Larger Sum Will Make District Force Model One.

Thanks to Congress for the increased appropriation for the Police Department were expressed by Inspector William S. Shelby, of the Detective Bureau, yesterday in addressing a meeting of the Optimists Club. Inspector Shelby said that the development program inaugurated in the last session will, within a few years, give Washington a police force which will set a standard for other cities to follow.

The police-fie pay increase bill has vastly benefitted his department, he said, allowing for a much-neded increase in the personnel of the bureau. He also lauded the provisions of more uniformed ocers to provide for three eight-hour shifts.

Today the Optimists Club of Baltimore is entertaining David Wolf, representative of the Washington Optimist Club, who won the Junior Optimist international oratorical contest last month; Herbert B. Nevius and Wash. B. Williams, at luncheon. Mr. Nevius is governor of the Sixteenth Optimist District. He will entertain a group of Optimists at Bay Ridge on September 10. Mr. Williams is president of the local unit.

$15,000 Damage Suit Is Faced by Clubman

Arthur D. Hayden, of the Metropolitan Club, was named defendant in a suit for $15,000 damages filed in District Supreme Court by Charlotte C. Warfield, of 2311 Connecticut avenue northwest.

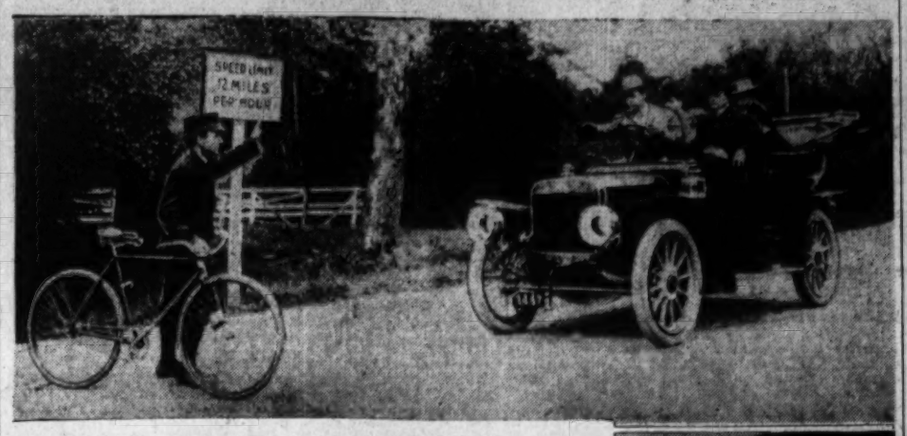
The plaintiff tells the court that Mr. Hayden owns premises at 1734 Connecticut avenue and that on April 19 last while she was passing the property a cellar door was opened, causing her to fall to the sidewalk. She alleges negligence on the part of the agents of the defendant. Attorneys Sanders, Childs, Bobb and Wescott appear for the woman.

Move to Widen Street Instituted by District

Proceedings for the condemnation of land needed for the extension and widening of Thirty-ninth street northwest between Cathedral avenue and Macomb street were instituted yesterday in District Supreme Court by the District Commissioners.

Justice William Hitz shortly afterward signed an order directing all persons affected by the proceedings to appear in District Supreme Court on October 6 to show cause why the land should not be condemned. Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Fowler appears for the Commissioners.

VETERAN DRIVER AND OLD SPEED TRAP



Otto G. Jacobi (lower), who claims veteran driving honors with a record of 33 years without an accident. Upper view shows an early "speed trap" on the Conduit road.

Motorist Boasts 33 Years At Wheel to Claim Crown

Otto Jacobi Began "Stepping on It" in Gay Nineties; Last Three Decades in District With No Accidents, But One Parking Ticket.

The "oldest automobile driver in the District" crown appears to be changing hands about as often as the airplane flight endurance record. Tuesday Detective Lieut. Charles J. Weber claimed the title with a 30-year record, but now comes Otto G. Jacobi, of 1350 Randolph street northwest.

Mr. Jacobi has been operating electric and gasoline cars for 33 years and has never had an accident. He was arrested on a parking charge some years ago, but the judge took his personal bond when he flashed his first permit.

Mr. Jacobi came to Washington from New York in 1900. He drove a car for three years before coming here, and to date has been operating a car in the District for 30 years and 8 months.

An account of one of his early automobile adventures, which appeared in The Post 25 years ago, follows:

A ride through the rain, unprotected, is by no means a pleasant undertaking, but when the trip is taken in an uncovered automobile the inconveniences are accentuated, and especially when the "auto" is driven over country roads, through mud and sand and over rough fillings of broken stone, jarring the occupants until they feel as if every bone had become loosened in its socket. This was the experience of two persons who started from this city Wednesday morning and traveled over the Washington and Baltimore pike, arriving in the latter city late the same evening.

It was originally intended to make an "auto run" from this city, to be participated in by many local enthusiasts who were to attend the races scheduled to be held yesterday at Eletric Park, Baltimore. The start was to have been made at Fifteenth street and Ohio avenue, thence out through the city to Bladensburg road and continuing on this line to the City of Monuments. However, this plan was entirely upset by the weather, only one machine starting, none of the other parties who expected to participate being willing to brave the country roads in their present condition.

The machine which made the trip was an electric vehicle owned by Mr. George Howard, treasurer of the National Safe Deposit Savings & Trust Co., and driven by Otto Jacobi and Charles Baxter, who left this city at 11:30 a. m. and arrived in Baltimore at 7:30 p. m., making a stop of two hours at Laurel. They state that the road from the boundary to Langdon is an excellent one, but from that place, with but few exceptions, the road was of mud and sand and hills, in some places the mud being so deep that the motor dragged, and the time made under these difficulties was very slow.

Arriving in Baltimore, wet to the skin, and with appetites sharpened, they housed their machine, had it recharged and made arrangements for its shipment to this city. The cyclometer indicated 44 miles when entering the city, and with the run around the city the distance covered netted nearly 50 miles.

Three Are Injured In Triple Collision

Auto Backing From Alley Hits Car, Knocking It Into Truck.

Three persons were injured in a three-car collision late yesterday at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest. They are Claude G. Saunders, 42 years old, who sustained a broken rib; his wife, Mrs. Camille Saunders, 40 years old, who suffered shock and bruises, and his mother, Mrs. A. W. Saunders, 60 years old, who suffered a severe head laceration. They live at 810 Otis place northwest.

The car in which the Saunders were riding was struck by an auto operated by Carl Nehtstedt, 41 years old, of 456 C street northwest, who was backing out of an alley. The former vehicle was then knocked into a truck driven by George Besley, 19 years old, of Glencarlyn, Va.

The two Mrs. Saunders were treated at Emergency Hospital, while Saunders was attended by a physician at his home. Both the Saunders car and the truck were damaged, but the Nehrstedt auto escaped.

Alleged Auto Robber Captured by Police

Dewey Reuben Rowls, Negro, went to the well once too often. Therefore he was arrested and is now safely in a cell while detectives delve into his recent activities.

Rowls, whose home address is on N street near Sixth street northwest, is said to have disposed of five suitcases and their contents in a second-hand store. The police say that all were stolen from parked automobiles. They "planted" the store for Rowls, and when he entered yesterday with another suit case he was arrested. Six charges against him are being investigated.

Police Force Member Files Suit for Divorce

Joseph F. Bowers, a member of the Washington police force attached to the Fifth Precinct, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Ruth N. Bowers, a Washington woman.

Papers in the action were filed in the Circuit Court in Martinsburg, W. Va. Bowers is a native of Martinsburg and maintains his right as a voter there.

Court Reporters Move for Painters

Newspapermen Are Ousted From Room for First Time in 33 Years.

For the first time since the District of Columbia Supreme Court has been established the press room was put out of commission yesterday.

Painters, under direction of Stephen F. Callahan, chief deputy United States marshal, invaded the place and routed the newspaper men. Thomas Harvey, veteran courthouse reporter, declared that in the 33 years he had covered the courthouse no such outrage ever had been perpetrated.

Coincident with the advent of the painters, Mr. Callahan made the pronouncement that in future nothing could be pasted on the walls.

Man and Wife Seized On Possession Charge

Eugene Talbert, 56 years old, and his wife, Emma Talbert, 48 years old, were arraigned in Police Court on charges of possessing liquor and nuisance and were ordered held for jury trial under bonds of $500 each.

The Talberts were arrested Tuesday night by police in a raid on premises on Eleventh street southeast, near B street. Investigation by Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart revealed that the man was arrested June 24 on a liquor possession charge, which still is pending. That resulted in the booking of the nuisance charge.

Man Arrested on Rum And Traffic Charges

While patroling in front of the home of Frank Couzzins, colored, ninth street near B northwest, sought in connection with the murder of his wife, Policeman E. T. Hallman, of the Eighth Precinct, arrested Isaac Coplin, 27 years old, colored, of Gerard street near Twelfth street northwest, on charges of possessing and transporting liquor and driving without a permit early yesterday.

Coplin is said to have had 60 half-gallon jars of liquor in his car. In Police Court yesterday Coplin was sentenced to 30 days on the no-permit charge and bound to the grand jury on the liquor counts.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA, back from vacation, looked like a rainbow—all colors.

A delegation of friends met her at the station.

"Welcome to our city," said one of the wits, official greeter for the party.

"Where've you been all my lifetime?" asked another.

Luella, all beams, smiled upon the group as if they were long lost sisters and brothers.

"Gee, but it's great to be home again," she sighed, and threw her arms about one of the gals.

• • • •

'TWAS signal for a song. One of the boys, a tenor started the old refrain:

"Gee, but it's great to be home again,
Gosh, but we hope you never roam again;
Back from the country and the new-mown hay,
Back to the city and the lights so gay. Gee——"

• • • •

HE got no further. A big burly policeman wandered over to the spot, cast a wicked glance on the soloist now joined by the entire chorus.

"Yizzel have to cut out the noise," commanded the cop.

There was no argument. Followed by a red cap, carrying the luggage, we wandered to the taxi stand.

"Where to?" asked the starter.

"Home," said Luella, with a wave of her hand.

• • • •

AFTER we had given instructions, and the gang had piled into other cabs, the reception over, we sped homeward—out to the Old Manse, where moths had eaten the curtains and the rugs, newspapers cluttered the front porch, dust darkened the windows, and everything in a terrible state of disruption.

"It looks good to me," said Luella, as I opened the door, showing her all the work to be done.

"Glad to be home, eh?"

"Glad is right," she smiled, flinging her hat through the open portal.

And so another vacation bit the dust.

TRANSFER OF BAKER SUSPECT TO CAPITAL REVIEWED BY ROVER

Collins and U. S. Attorney in Richmond Attend Conference.

HEARING IN ALEXANDRIA IS SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Contention of Government on Removal Will Be Maintained, Is Claim.

The fight for the removal of Herbert M. Campbell to the District to face trial for the murder of Mary E. Baker was the subject of a conference yesterday between United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, his assitant, William H. Collins, and Assistant United States Attorney Callon B. Jones, of Richmond, Va.

Rover would not go into detail as to plans of procedure discussed, but asserted that the previous contentions of the Governnment relative to the removal of the suspect will be maintained.

Jones to Represent Government.

Jones, who will represent the Government at the removal hearing before United States Commissioner J. Barton Phillips in Alexandria, will communicate with the commissioner today in an effort to have a definite date set.

The commissioner yesterday said that he was unable to set a definite date, but gave the assurance that the hearing would be held next week. Tomorrow had been tentatively decided upon as the day for the hearing. Commissioner Phillips said that the proceedings will likely be held in the Alexandria Corporation Court.

Contention of Government.

To date the Government has contended that the warrant upon which Campbell is held on the murder charge, together with his admissions that he was in the District on the day of the murder and that he is the man named in the warrant, constitute a prima facie case.

Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner has upheld these arguments, but qualified them to the extent that he believes that likelihood of the prisoner's guilt should be shown before he is removed. The jurist also ruled that Defense Attorney Charles H. Smith should be permitted to offer rebuttal testimony as to the likelihood of guilt.

Smith is vacationing in Atlantic City. He is not expected at his home until late this week.

POLICE ASKED TO AID HUNT FOR PAINTING

London Authorities Seek $150,000 Portrait by Joshua Reynolds.

$10,000 SET AS REWARD

Washington police have been asked to help in a world-wide search for a Reynolds painting valued at $150,000. The picture, a portrait of the first Lady Minto, was stolen from the town house of the Earl of Minto in London on July 26.

The request came to local authorities from London police. A reward of $10,000 has been offered to any persons who can help in the recovery of the painting. A copy of the picture was a part of the lookout received by the police here.

The picture, one of the best known works of the famous Sir Joshua Reynolds, has been in the possession of the Minto family for centuries. It derived an added value from being the representation of one of the founders of the family.

Liquor May Bring Term of 5 Years

J. C. Callahan Held on Rum Count Was on Drug Charge Probation.

Convicted yesterday by a Police Court jury on a liquor possession charge, John C. ("Jack") Callahan faces a five-year stretch in jail.

While the penalty for possession of liquor does not carry with it a five-year sentence, Callahan is unfortunate in that he is under a suspended sentence for that period on a narcotic charge. He pleaded guilty to the narcotic charge several months ago and was placed on probation. As yet no steps have been taken toward revoking his parole, but it is understood that they will be instituted immediately.

Callahan was charged with liquor possession several weeks ago at the time he was arrested in a narcotic raid which was the forerunner of a Nation-wide round-up. At the time he was said to have had two half gallons of liquor in his possession. He has been in jail since his arrest, having failed to make the $10,000 bond assessed by United States Commissioner Turnage on the narcotic count.

Man and Son-in-Law Jailed for Vagrancy

Convicted on vagrancy charges, a father-in-law and son-in-law were sent to jail yesterday for 90 days.

Noah Howard, the father-in-law, and Henry Dunbar, the son-in-law, explained that they had been seeking work when arrested Tuesday night. Judge Robert E. Mattingly, however, did not consider the excuse valid and imposed the jail term.

Salesman Files in Bankruptcy.

Robert E. Greer, who describes himself as a salesman, living at 1405 Emerson street northwest, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt. He lists liabilities of $21,046.19 and assets of $335.

Extra Policemen Guard Chinatown

Precautions Are Taken in Case Tong Outbreaks Spread Here.

With the first rumor of tong wars in other cities, Washington police have put extra police on the Chinatown beat, and two headquarters detectives have been assigned to prevent any local outburst.

Yesterday there were two extra patrolmen on one block of Pennsylvania avenue, following a phone call Tuesday night from a nervous Celestial which sent squads scurrying to that section. Policemen covering roads, bridges and railroad stations have been instructed to be on the lookout for strange Eastern faces.

So far there has been nothing to show that there is any danger of a war here. Leaders of the tongs, of course, scout the possibility of a local outbreak, but others think there may be a battle or so. At any rate, it is thought better that there should be a few extra men on the beat.

Wife Seeks Divorce, Explaining Grievances

Alleging that her husband, Joseph Carl Wood, of 513 Eighteenth street northeast, had tried to burn her with a cigaret and had flipped ashes in her face, Mrs. Anna Wood, of 322 H street northeast, yesterday filed suit in District Supreme Court for a limited divorce.

The wife also charges that the husband stabbed her and a man acquaintance when he suspected them of flirting. She also asserts he demonstrated jealousy when she visited her mother or sought to telephone a girl friend. The Woods were married February 28, 1927, and have one child. Attorneys Robert W. McCullough and Theodore J. Luckett appear for the wife.

Park Policeman Prevents Theft of $250 From Auto

Because he felt that his bankroll would be safer in his automobile than in the Smithsonian Institution, John Minuse, of Port Chester, N. Y., nearly lost $250 yesterday. Shortly after Mr. Minuse had parked his machine, Park Policeman W. J. Hammond saw a Negro enter it. The officer arrested the man just as he removed a pile of luggage from the roll of bills, which was lying on the back seat.

The man gave his name as George Murphy, 22, of Van street southwest. Charges of attempted larceny and carrying a concealed weapon, a razor, were filed against him at the First Precinct Station.

Mr. Minuse told Policeman Hammond that he feared he would be held up if he went into the Smithsonian with the $250 on his person.

Capt. R. C. Montgomery, chief of park police, said that an epidemic of thefts from cars about the Mall and Monument Grounds had led to more than twelve arrests within the last week. He urged motorists to lock the doors of their machines or remove packages from them before parking. A number of park police have been operating in plain clothes in an effort to check the series of robberies, he said.

COLOR BEARERS HEAD PARADE

16 NAVAL OFFICERS TO GET CITATIONS

Three Honored for Services on U. S. S. Mexico Make Homes in Capital.

TWO MORE POSTED HERE

Sixteen officers, including three residents of this city and two now stationed here, will be given special recognition for their services in bringing both the battle efficiency pennant and the gunnery trophy to the U. S. S. New Mexico. The New Mexico, in the competitive year 1930, established a world's record by winning for the third year in succession the Navy's battle efficiency pennant for battleships.

Capt. A. E. Watson, the commanding officer, whose residence is 1226 Sixteenth street northwest, has been designated to receive a letter of commendation from President Hoover and also a letter of commendation from the Secretary of the Navy.

Lieut. W. L. Freseman, of 2018 G street northwest, and Lieut. W. E. Smith, 360 Bellaire avenue, Clarendon, Va., will receive letters of commendation from Secretary of the Navy Adams, while special commendation for meritorious work in winning the gunnery trophy will be given to Lieut. Comdr. F. S. Low, of the Mendota Apartments, Washington.

Lieut. H. R. Thurber, of Flushing, N. Y., now on duty in the press room, Navy Department, and Lieut. M. M. Dupre, of Lubbock, Tex., now on duty here at the Naval Observatory, will receive special commendation for their work in winning the gunnery trophy.

LECTURES AT CAMP FOR SCOUT LEADERS

DE BOE SPEAKS SUNDAY

Scout leaders' week at Camp Roosevelt begins next Sunday, with a program including camping activities, church, boating and swimming. A talk by D. G. Van de Boe, deputy regional scout executive, on "When a Boy's Dreams Come True," also will be a part of the schedule. Several dozen leaders from the Washington area are expected to attend the camp during the following week.

It will be attempted, during the continuation of the camp, to give courses in the elements of scoutmastership and the principles of scoutmastership. The first will be concerned with the mechanics of scout training and the second with the underlying significance of the program. The former course will be given by Mr. Van de Boe.

The latter course aims to give a clearer understanding of experience values, exploration possibilities, ceremonies, methods of education, guidance possibilities, and other fields of understanding of boy life. It is thought that this course also will give a wider outlook to the manner of influencing the character through the wise use of the scouting program. Both of these courses are regular features of the camp, which is an annual affair.

Two Women Arrested In Leach Liquor Raid

Amy Dennis and Helen Tonker were arraigned in Police Court yesterday on charges of nuisance and possession of liquor in violation of the National Prohibition Act and demanded trial by jury.

Both women were arrested Tuesday by Policeman J. R. Leach and his raiding squad in a foray on their residence on A street northeast near Third street. Pat O'Connor, professional bondsman, went their bonds of $500 each while Michael J. Lane, attorney, represented them.

Police Asked to Hunt Clothes.

Robert L. Green, of 616 Eleventh street southwest, told police yesterday that on August 7 he left a suit of clothes, worth $25, and a suit of underwear, valued at $6, in a taxicab. He asked police to help him locate the clothes.

LEGION POSTS HERE OPEN 1930 MEETING IN SCHOOL BUILDING

Crosby Reviews Parade of Units Through Streets of Georgetown.

HOSPITAL VETERANS IN BUSES PRECEDE MARCH

Bicentennial Official Urges Men to Aid in Plans of 1932 Memorial.

Preceded by a parade through Georgetown, the twelfth annual convention of American Legion units in the District opened in the Western High School auditorium last night, with more than 250 delegates and alternates present.

Thirty-six marching units, including the drum and bugle corps of eight or ten posts, formed behind the mounted cavalry band from Fort Myer on Twenty-fifth street, between M and N, marching on M street to Wisconsin avenue, then on R street to the reviewing stand in front of the Western High School. A feature of the parade was a float representing the Old Woman who Lived in a Shoe, the shoe being covered with the pulp remains of several million dollars in discarded currency. The float was entered by the Bureau and Engraving Post No. 23. Another float, constructed by the Jane A. Delano Post No. 6, showed first aid being given to a wounded soldier on the battlefield.

Six buses filled with veterans from Walter Reed and Mount Alto Hospitals preceded the marching units. After being reviewed by Gen. Herbert C. Crosby, District commissioner, and Department officials, the parade disbanded and delegates repaired to the auditorium for the opening session, which was called to order about 8:30 o'clock by Department Commander Charles H. Knight.

John Small Welcomes Delegates.

Representatives of the various units were welcomed by John H. Small, on behalf of the Georgetown Citizens Association. William N. Morell, general chairman of the convention, responded with a brief expression of appreciation for the courtesy shown by the citizens association, which is cooperating with convention officials.

Gen. Crosby spoke briefly on the work of the Legion and the pride that the District government entertained for the local units.

Frederick Vining Fisher, executive of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, outlined plans for the 1932 celebration of Washington's 200th anniversary and urged the Legion to actively cooperate in planning a gigantic Armistice Day celebration for that year.

After various prizes and trophies had been announced, delegates were seated and the roll was called preparatory to the first business session, scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight. The convention will close Friday night, following the election of officers and the receipt of several committee reports.
